NOT FALSE.

Noticing an article in our last issue, "Is it a tax ?" The Oregonian calls our reasoning "fallacious" because, "First, no account is taken of the improved methods which have completely revolutionized the manufacture" of nails.

Had the Oregonian read more carefully it would have found this paragraph which we reproduce :

"When our tariff is sharply on the lines of protection it excludes the foreign manufacturers from our markets and gives them to our own manufacturers who eagerly enter into competion to supply them. The American workmen is employed, his scale of wages is maintained and competition forces economy of production and the lowest scale of prices. This it has invariably done or tended to do."

In 1882 we did not manufacture steel nails. Our market was supplied by importation. The rate of duty was 1 cent a pound, and we paid 81-3 cents per pound for them. In 1884 the duty was made 4 cents a pound and within five years we produced 4,000,000 kegs annually and sold them for less than 2 cents per pound.

These are facts. Do they prove that duty is a tax?

WHOSE THE BLAME?

Men who would scorn any suggestion to neglect their domestic and social duties habitually neglect their civic duties. They hold to certain political principles and policies and adhere to that party which represents these. They may even go to the polls on election day and vote for the nominees of their party. They do not usually attend the primary candidates. They believe in political action through the agency of parties and party organization, but they desire it to be distinctly understood they are not partisan. tics is too dirty a thing ; I will for U. Naturally and rightfully he will look to his own party for those men. He has no right to expect to find them in an adverse party,-a party pursuing policies which he does not approve. Just here the good citizen finds he must be a partisan. He should do all he morally, legally and rationally may do to advance his party's principles. To this end he must stand up within his party and demand that none but good, upright, intelligent and patriotic men be selected to represent him

Tonight at Opera House.

Lake with a merry company in the exquisite musical play, "The $10,000 Beauty," will be the attraction at the opera house tonight. It will be a gathering of graceful girls, gorgeously gowned, and a hilarious sufficiency of prose, music and songs. comedians will cure the blues, the girls will captivate you and the new songs will make you whistle. The Seattle Times of January 27th has the following to say of this company:

No one, indeed, doubts its wide prevalence at the present time. But and constituing 300 seres and 20-100 compared to the practice of the past it has been steadily, even if slowly, diminishing for centuries. This does not prove that men are better morally or intellectually than they were.

AS OTHERS THINK

Everybody in Corvallis Has Right to His Own Opinion.

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by their exserience.

Nothing makes lite so miserable, or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average American, as indigestion, and it is well for us to give fair consideration to what others think about this remarkable affliction.

Graham & Wells are positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets they have an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptom s that follow this disease, such as distress after eating, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, flatulence, nervousness and debility.

Their action in selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows plainly their belief in the value of this remedy. They take all the risk, and there will be no charge whatever for Mi-o na unless you are satisfied that it has relieved ycu of indigestion.
