Light in the House.

Dr. Richardson, whose articles on health have been cited so much, in a recent English publication produces an article called "Health at Home," which is replete with wisdom. A most important fact, and one on which he dwells, is the fact that so many people are afraid of the light. "In a dark and gloomy honse you never can see the dirt that pollutes it. Dirt accumulates on dirt, and the mind soon learns to apologize for this condition because the gloom conceals it." Accord-ingly, when a house is dark and dingy, the air becomes impure, not only on account of the absence of light, but from the impurities which are accumulated Now, as Dr. Richardson cleverly puts it

The Public Lands.

New York, February, 24.—The forthcoming report of the public lands commission will recommend swamp lands and pasturage lands hereafter to be surveyed and patented by townships; that better provisions be made for making boundaries of survey tracts; that a system of letting public surveys, and boundaries between states and territories be hereafter made under the direction of the coast and geodetic survey; also probably coast and geodetic survey; also probably recommend that the office of receiver at each local land office be abolished. There are about 95 of these officers. They will recommend the appeal of the pre-emp-tion law on the ground that its chief use now is to increase large individual hold-ings. The commission will probably sapings. The commission will probably sep-plement it by another report making arable public lands disposable under the homestead laws. The commission will probably recommend that no limits be placed upon the amounts of arable lands which any one person may buy; that the lands be sold at 25 cents per acre, one-fifth to be paid down and the balance at the end of three years, and that no pat-ent to such lands be issued until it is shown that a specified sum per acre, say $2, has that a specified sum per acre, say $2, has been expended on its reclamation. The lands classed as pasturage will comprise untimbered and new mineral lands not arable or capable of irrigation. The commission will probably recommend that the quantity one person may buy be not limited, and the price graduated as follows; All lands sold prior to January, 1886, to be at the rate of $1 25 per acre; all lands sold from the latter date to January, 1890, to be at the rate of $1 an acre. Afte that date all lands will be sold at 75 cents an acre, with a reduction of 12½ cents per are every three years, till the minimum price of 123 cents is reached. Pasturage lands shall be open to homestead settle-ment; no one entry to comprise more than 160 acres. They will probably re-commend that colonies of twenty or more families may enter homesteads, either on arable, irrigable or pasturage lands, and lay out a village near the center of the which a prospector or discoverer shall be able to hold his claim by possessory title shall be fixed and limited by law; and all local organizations and regulations re-specting mineral titles shall be abolished and the sole jurisdiction of all questions relating thereto be reserved by the United States; that the "lode location," which permits a discoverer to follow a lode any distance in any direction, whether within the boundaries of his surface location or not, be repealed; that hereafter every mining claim shall com-prise a certain number of feet breadth and length on the surface, and that sub-terranea property rights shall not ex-tend beyond the surface boundaries thus fixed. It is quite probable that the com-mission may refrain for the present from making any recommendation as to the area which each location may comprise; that a system of official survey and mis eral inspection be adopted to prevent blackmail and ropbery and to obviate the necessity of legal contests before claims The Vermont Republican Convention. MONTPELIER, February, 25 .- The Repub lican convention was called to order by George W. Granby, chairman of the state committee, at Trinity Hall, at 10 A. M. The roll call showed a very full attendance. A Severe Article on Kearney. NEW YORK, February, 25,-The Herald has a vigorous article on the threatened trouble in San Francisco, wherein Kalloch and vigor? Light, and plenty of it, is not only a purifier of things inanimate, but it absolutely stimulates our brains. It is in regard to sick rooms that this excellent authority is particularly impressive. It used to be the habit of physicians in olden times to sedulously and the sand lot constitution are handled without gloves. The writer takes the ground that the president has the right to laterfere immediately even without the consent of California to enforce national treaty odligations. The article closes thus: "Violation of treaty by California to enforce the closes thus the consent of the consent of california to enforce national treaty odligations. fornia is an act of rebellion against federal authority, and should be vigorously put down like any other rebellion. If local powers refuse or neglect to afford protection, it is the duty of the president tinues to some extent even to-day. In certain very acute cases of nervous diseases where light—the least ray of it—disturbs in over-exciting the visual organs, this darkening of the room may be permitted, but ordinarily, to keep light out of the room is to deprive the patient of one of the vital forces. Children or old people cendemned to live in darkness are pale and wan, exactly like those plants which, deprived of light, grow white. Darkness in the daytime undoubtedly makes the blood flow less strongly and checks the beating of the heart, and these conditions are precisely to supply it, and all reasonable citizens will rejoice to see the sand lot dema-gogues taught a needed lesson."

During the present week a number of representative railroad men have been in the city, and the fact has given rise to various rumors and many conjectures as to the object of their visit. To-day W. A. H. Loveland, of the Colorade Central; Mr. Gollup, of the Boston and Albany railroad; Judge T. Sears of the Kansas Pacific and General Howard of the Bos-ton and Providence railroads, arrived here late in the evening. It was reported that a meeting of the railroad magnates had taken place the night before, and Colonel Thomas Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who was called upon in regard to the matter this evening, said it was true they held a meeting at Windsor Hotel last night; that its object was to have considered. ject was to harmonize as far as possible all the conflicting interests of the trunk lines. Messrs Garrett, Jewett, Vander-bilt, Roberts, and himself were present He said there was a meeting to-day of representatives of western lines in Chiago and that the meeting here last evening was to determine upon the best advice to send to them on the subject of east bound freights. A committee consisting of representatives of eastern trunk lines and their western connections, was appointed to examine charges of cutting, and report to-morrow. Various charges of minor importance were made.

The Washburne-Donnelly Contest. Washington, February, 26.—The committee on elections to-day again discussed, but did not dispose of the Washburne-Donnelly case.

Discussion in the house over the star route deficiency was chiefly notable for the vigorous speech by General Hawley. Great interest is manifested in the discussion, and although there is no doubt that the deficiency bill reported will be passed there is an evident discontinuous. passed, there is an evident disposition to have a settlement with Brady afterward, have a settlement with Brady even if it is necessary to go to the ex-treme of impeachment, hints of which are thrown out. There was a great deal more feeling developed in this matter than was expected, and Brady was censured in very severe language. The idea of the majority of the members of both parties seems to be that the appropriation of nearly $6,000,000, which was all the department asked for, was sufficient for the fiscal year, and that Brady's management of this branch has been very reckless and extravagant, to say the least of it.

The Income of the U.S. Government

It is thought at the treasury depart-ment that the total receipts from customs this month will be nearly $15,000,000, and from internal revenue about $9,000,000. Taking this as a basis, it is estimated that the total custom receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30th next, will be about $353,000,000, and from internal revenue $117,000,000, thus making a total income to the government, including receipts from miscellaneous sources, of about $300,000,000. It is calculated at the department that the total expenditures, including the sinking fund act and interest on the public debt, will were presented.

The preamble recited the action of the board of health in declaring Chinatown a nuisance. The resolutions pledged every exertion to preserve quiet and good order and to render any assistance in their power to the board of health in carrying out the work; advised a cessation of street processions in view of the encouragement afforded by the action of the board; referred to the report said to have been received to the effect that the police and certain other parties were holding secret ametings to concert violent measures to resist the enforcement of the law against the Chinese, and expressed the fear that the same rash counsels might prevail which before resulted in the attempted and she was apparently studying nature. There is also a strong feeling of impatience, super and disgust at the protracted and threatening character of this agitation, which has almost paralyzed business interests, resting upon its supporters, and the sentiment is frequently expressed that rather than suffer a continuance of the evil it would be preferable to have it out one for all, and the sooner the better. The workingmen's leaders evidently have no desire to precipitate a conflict, and their action to-day indicates that their policy is rather to keep the agitation at just such a point as falls short of violence, yet is sufficiently threatening to induce acquiesence in their desires.

This practice of cutting off the hair on marriage is also in vogue among the Pol-ish Jews, who wear in its stead wigs as undeceptive as any pinned on a wax doll's head.

The friend who escorted us over the store-house in question pointed out the white, undyed fag-end of thin blue muslin before named of about an inch in depth on every piece. This unfinished termination, he observed, was an essential chartion this fact with all due reverence for the name—and sympathy for the condi-tion. He was well-to-do in the world, if owning a fine farm and being plaintiff i a law suit is any criterion. Aside from Mr. Popkins misfortune in being a bachelor, he had one fault—a general aversien to female society, a particular aversion to Miss Sallie Hopkins, the defendant in the above named law suit.

but the answer, although whispered, was heard above the noise of the wheels and the crack of the driver's whip.

The suit of Popkins vs. Hopkins was dismissed that day. The Baptist minister got a fee, and the people are firmly convinced that Mr. and Mrs. Popkins are the best hands in the world to keep a secret.

a downright good disposition."

Miss Sallie gave up in despair, and looked fixedly out of the window, while Mr. Popkins' lips moved occasionally, as though he were asking for water. But the unconstitution of the window, while the unconstitution of the week asking for water. though he were asking to the unconscious cause of the turmoil sat serene and happy, indulging in an occasional chuckle and knowing glance at Mr. Popkins; but at this mement he saw he had arrived at his destination, and, wishing his victims much happiness, he left them to their thoughts.

month, possessed a vast metropolitan estate; yet Harcourt House, the vast, gloomy mansion in which he lived and died, belonged to Mr. Harcourt, M. P. for Oxfordshire, whose grandfather inherited it from his maternal uncle, Earl Harcourt. Even the far-famed Stafford House, the palace of the Duke of Sutherland, stands on land paying ground rent to the crown, as does Montague House, on every piece. This unfinished termination, he observed, was an essential characteristic of the material, on which its purchase by the over-suspicious natives was entirely dependent. Were the muslin dyed to the extreme edge of the piece, the negro trader would conclude that some portion had been cut off, and that he had been defrauded of the full quantity originally manufactured. So each piece is opened, and the white end looked for before any bartering is made.

The Limited Ownership of London.

It is curiously significant of the limited ownership of London that there are not more than four, if indeed so many, of the British dukes inhabiting houses in the metropolia. The Dake of Portland, the eccentric millionaire who died last month, possessed a vast metropolitan estate.
