MECHANICS FAIR.—The Mechanics Fair will open in the Grand Pavilion in Portland Oct. 8, and continue until the 24th. The fair promises to be a grand success, and how could it be otherwise when Hon. J. B. Congle and many other business men have it in

DRAIN ACADEMY. - We can not too highly recommend this institution of learning; it is credit to Douglas county and to the enterpris ing citizens of Drain. For a thorough business or scientific education send your children to Drain. The Normal Department is in thorough working order and is worthy of special mention.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.-The Agricultural College at Corvallis will begin its school year September 10th. Faculty is the same as last year, except Prof. Emery resigned. This College gives as fine training and mental discipline as can be found in the State. Apply to your senators or the President of the College for a free scholarship.

MAIL SERVICE. - Hon. Binger Hermann has by persistent effort at last secured a daily mail from Dora to Myrtle Point in Coes county which connects with the daily mail from Roseburg to Empire City. The Hon. gentleman is doing more for his constituency than perhaps anyone sent to Congress lately. He is busying himself with finding out and working for out material interests more than going over the country for political effect.

WAR .- Read General Grant to General in the REVIEW. Buckner on the outside this week. A great many patriots have developed in the last ten years. They fight at long range, with a chasm of 20 years intervening. A country is not safe in the hands of such pseudo-patriots. Loud pretension is one thing but facing a 24 pounder charged with a solid shot with powder on fire behind it, is quite another. This logomachy is bloodless, and will not necessitate a new memorial day.

HOME MANUFACTURE.-We think that the State Agricultural Society did not do the right thing to send to Cincinatti to get its printing clone. We have read their explanation too, but the reasons are not good. Also we have been informed that the directors and managers of the high schools in Portland sent east to get the furniture for their school-houses. Let the Oregonian look to these things as well, for the criticisms made by the Oregonian in regard to patronising home industries, are exceedingly well taken.

PUBLIC SCHOOL .- Remember that the public school of Receburg will open September the 7th. Those desiring to send to the school will find it greatly to their advantage to send at the first of the term and to purchase no books until that time when the pupils may confer with the teachers on this important subject. Many needed improvements are now being made on the school buildings, and others will be made as scon as circumstances will permit. The school will be free and will in all probability be well attended.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS .- We are reliably informed that the Board of Engineers will commence work on the Umpqua river between Scottsburg and Gardner and expend the appropriation recently secured, the amount being nearly $5,000. The work will consist of a construction of jetties in the river, building of place. cribs to be filled with rock, rifraffing, the removal of several large rocks near Scottsburg, which now obstruct navigation. By the jetty work it is proposed to remove Brandy bar. Echo island and Dean's creek bar, and will give employment to a number of men and will require much material. The Hon. Binger Hermann also secured this work from the Secretary of War.

THE PREACHERS.—There are about sixty members of the Oregon M. E. Conference now in session in Roseburg. Most of them are present. The Personel of the Conterence is good. The preachers are all well dressed, with them that makes us know that they are don't you forget it." earnest workers for the cause in which they Advocate and Rev. Dr. Crary of the California Advocate are here to the edification of all who his cheery face again. listen to their speeches. Bishop Walden and his little son from Cincinnatti are the guests of Hon. Binger Hermann. The Bishop to our mind is one of the most expeditious, searchingly analytical and satisfactory presiding officers we ever saw in the chair.

MARRIED .- Prof. M. C. Hawley, of Wilbur Academy, and Miss Anna Geisendorfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Geisendorfer, were married at Trinity chapel, near Albany, on the evening of the 19th, Revs. Van Scoy and Iones officiating. The chapel was most beautifully and tastefully decorated with ferns, flowers and evergreens, and the wedding last Tuesday and created quite a stir among boring organs. At times, symptoms of insuperb. Among the invited guests were Mrs. | a conflagration. But little damage done. Hawley, Albert and Miss Marie Hawley, of Albany, relatives of the groom, Mrs. J. C. Young, of Corvallis, and Miss Ola Stryker, of Portland. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents. They left for Wilbur Thursday morning, and we, in common with their many friends wish that each succeeding day may bring brighter their lives.

By the thoughtfulness of Rev. T. L. Jones, the clergymen coming to Conference last Tuesday and Wednesday evenings received a splendid supper at the house of Mr. Teal at Oakland. We are surprised that the conductor did not accept the invitation to this pleasant ovation. Come, brother conductor, you must do better next time.

We were shown this week some very fine samples of dried French prunes and Egg plums raised and dried by Mr. L. C. Hill, one of Douglas county's leading fruit raisers. Mr. Hill uses the "Granger Fruit Drier," patented by Messrs. Burnett & Hill, which certainly, if the samples of its work are near an average, is one of the best in use.

Mr. Lee who lives near Grants Pass has been along the railroad visiting the various towns below selling watermelons and vegetables by the car load. He now owns the old Vanoy farm on Rogue river, and has recently bought another, which makes him owner of the two K. Hines, D. D. best farms in Josephine county. Mr. Lee is a rustler and his word is as good as his bond.

The farmers of Douglas county are fortunate in the fact that T. Ford as agent for the celebrated Oregon Nursery-the Northwestern, has built up a good and reliable trade. This season he will be better prepared than ever to furnish the very best fruit and shade trees of all varieties at the very lowest rates. Do not patronize traveling humbugs but place your orders with Mr. Ford.

A Pleasant Event.

As the train was nearing Oakland on A Pleasure Trip. Tuesday evening Ang. 25th, Rev. T. L. Jones Pastor of the M. E. Church at that place notified the members of Patton's where myself and family sojourned the Oregon Annual Conference who were on the train to the number of 30 that they would be entertained at Oakland by the ladies and friends of the M. E. Church of that place, and on the arrival of the train at Oakland they were conducted to rooms where a most sumptuous feast had been provided and were received with most cordial greeting. By the kindness of con ductor Conser, sufficient time was allowed; and at the conclusion of the repast, hearty thanks was tendered the ladies by a rising vote and at the suggestion of Dr. Harrington they returned to the train without resuming their places at the table.

On the following evening sixteen preachers and three of their wives enjoved a like hospitality, and this time Sister Jones not to be behind her husband, got upon the train at Drain and gave the invitation to the ministers.

At the suggestion of Rev. T. L. Sails the Rev. F. Bonn thanked the ladies in German, the Rev. C. N. Hange in Scandinavian, the Rev. A. J. Hanson in Chinese, and the Rev. Dr. Roberts thanked them in English. Such hospitality on the part of the ladies of Oakland was greatly appreciated by these men, and will not be soon forgotten by them. THE PREACHERS.

Dandruff is dirty and disagreeable in every way. It soils the clothing continually, and is accomplished by a hardly less annoying sensation of itching. The scalp is diseased. There is nothing in the world so thoroughly adapted to this trouble as Parker's Hair Balsam. CORRESPONDENCE. Left Evan's creek on south-bound freight train on August 5th and went as far as Wm. until the 10th then went to Ashland, attended Robinson's circus and saw the elephant. On the 11th started on a trip over the Siskiyou mountains, arriving at S. Shattuck's in the evening, having visited the railroad tunnel at the summit. We stopped at Shattuck's upper place over night, which is the most extreme southern boundary line of Oregon. We found him to be a genial landlord and one of the early pioneers of California. We also met Rufus and Byron Cole of upper Cottonwood, and last but not least, was old Uncle Joe of African descent, age unknown, but one of the family of Noah. On the 12th, we started for the old mining camps of Hungry, Beaver and Grouse creeks and on the trail over the moun tains we ascend to the height of 13,000 feet, but it was so smoky that we could not see nany of the points of interest but we passed over an old channel about a mile in width, which runs north and south through the country, and which in years to come will be mined as the blue leads of California. On arriving at Hungry creek, the first ones that greeted us were three old California miners, Lacon Veighel, Jeff. Romaine and James Sterling, the first prospector and owner of the Sterling mines, seven miles south of Jacksonville. He was one of the party that surveyed the boundary line of Oregon and Californi ff have been told that he has discovered and worked some of the richest mines on the coast. The mines of Hungry, Beaver and Grouse creek have been worked since about sixty and there are a few good mines left yet. On Beaver creek, Patterson & Co.'s hydraulic is now shut down for the want of water, next comes Graham's drift claim and several Chinese companies all working paying claims. After leaving Beaver, we come to Grouse creek, where n former years several companies worked, but it present there is but one man, and old Caliornia miner called "Long Alex." He is one whom time has dealt gently with. He has mined since '50 on Humbug, Dutch, and Empire gulches, Cottonwood, Hungry and Beaver creeks. He is 70 years old and was a school mate of Hon. Tim. Davenport of Marion county. Perhaps his friends might recognize most inventions. He owned a rich mine an broke, making him so mad that he jumped in and with the aid of his pick stripped more land in one hour than he could have shoveled into his boxes in a week. From that time or ground sluicing became general. I also met Dr. J. T.Ireland, a miner and hunter on Cottonwood, who has discovered in his claim a horn and several bones of the fossil ore ox. Also met Jas. McGraw, now known as Yankee Sullivan and J. Thomas, who are on South Hungry. This takes us from the 12th to the 21st, when after visiting all the springs of any note in this section, I start for home in good health, after seeing, tasting, feeling and smel-

MR. EDITOR. I learn that an effort is being direction and indicates an awakening sense of it is located as healthy, moral and cultivated a desire for moral and intellectual culture. The mind of man is ever active. There is no stand still, it is either advancing or retrograding. Without effort on the part of the conservators of society, the masses will naturally drift into light and frivolous ways. Thought preceeds action, to have right action right thinking must be induced. The minds need a stimulant and an inclination and taste for that which we know to be good. Moral and intelectual development was the distinguished feature of ancient Greece and Rome. We are greatly indebted to those people for the degree of advancement in enlightened refinement that we enjoy to-day. The studied and labored essays, poems, and orations of the philosophers, poets, and oraters of ancient Greece and Rome | teacher. have descended to us in a halo light and splendor that shall endure to the remotest times. It was an age of intellectual vigor that challenges the admiration of all the friends of human progress and is to-day the model for all. Not decrying the religious efforts let us so fa imitate those people as to profit by their exam ple. Let us offer the young an opportunity to be something better than they are. This vigorous institution with a thoroughly competent and efficient corps of instructors and ample facilities is pressing forward in generous emulation for the very front rank in all that is most excellent and enduring in education. This academy has been a success from its very inception. It has done a great work for Douglas county. Under the management of Prof. Russell it has moved down with a good cup of strong coffee. We grandly forward. Competent himself he has spared neither trouble nor money to secure able and efficient assistants. This is not a cramming institution nor is it a fashionable boarding school. Solid work is done within its walls and to have passed through its several departments of literature, philosophy, science and art means something. Be it known that I Louis C. Hill of Myrtle Creek County of Douglas and State of Oregon have invented an improved aparatus or device upon well known principles of the pressure of the atmosphere and of liquids for watering poultry and domestic stock. The device consists of a construction which will be published after letters patent are obtained as I intend to make immediate application for letters patent for the same. Notice is further given that Sheridan Bros. are authorized to manufacture and sell the same device on royalty.
