The GAZETTE this week printed posters announcing a big removal sale by the Hardman Mercantile Co., at Hardman. The company will move into the new I. O. O. F. building at that place, and in making preparations for the move will have a big cost sale.

Mr. Cass Matlock was in from his ranch in McDonald Canyon near Butter Creek, Monday. Mr. Matlock was accompanied by his father-in-law, Uncle Charles Henry Bennet, of Lane county, who is here on a visit. Mr. Bennet is 83 years of age and is still spry and active.

New wheat is beginning to come into the Heppner warehouses. Wheat is turning out better than was expected. Last year, farmers came back with empty sacks, but this year they are in a great many cases going to the warehouse men for more sacks to hold their wheat. The quality is very good. Threshing is well along and hauling to market will be general in a short time.

The La Grande sugar factory now has 1500 bags of fine commercial sugar on hand, the best that was ever turned out at this concern, which will be put on the market. If conditions continue favorable the work of harvesting beets will begin about September 10. The company is already advertising for men and teams to be used in the pulling, tapping and hauling.

The street fair and carnival to be held at the Dalles, six days, September 30 to October 5, will be one of the leading attractions of the Inland Empire this season. $1500 in premiums will be given for stock, agricultural and art exhibits, which is certainly enough inducement to insure a fine show in this department. A fine new race track has just been completed and there will be five days of good racing. Some good horses will be there and the speed events will be special attractions. Liberal purses will be offered in the speed trials. There will be special rates on all transportation lines. There will be a large attendance from all over Eastern Oregon to the big fair.

The Waldo Hills grain pooling farmers completed the sale of their holdings Saturday evening at Rock Point, Marion county. There were three bidders and the struggle between them was so hot that it looked like the Chicago Board of Trade, Simpson & Beas, of Albany, was paid a reward of $25 by the stock men around Enterprise for the destruction of the bear.

Frank Goff, of Heppner, a cousin of Sylvester Hinton's was in the city last Friday, on his way home from a short visit at the Warm Springs. Uncle Tom Ayers, of Heppner, Sunday in Ritter en route to the Greenhorn mountains, where Mr. Ayers has extensive mining interests.—Long Creek Ranger.

The O. R. & N. Co. will give a rate of 1 1/2 fare for the round trip to those attending the Woolgrowers Association at Heppner, September 17 and 18. This will be on the certificate plan, subject to 50 or more who have paid full railroad fare of 50 cents or more. Tickets good to return on the 19th.

Grant County but Little Known.

Lying beyond the southern line of Umatilla and Morrow counties, and stretching almost a hundred miles toward the plains of Harney, is a tract of land, mountains, valleys and plateaus, that is to become in the near future the scene of great industrial activity and the home of many people. Grant County is but little known because of its isolation, but it has begun to attract attention from the outside world. Its mines have been found to be rich wherever developed to any extent, its timber is extensive, its stock ranges large and its possibilities for agriculture and horticulture far in excess of what have been supposed. Grant County is as large as the two counties of Morrow and Umatilla, but it has less than 10,000 inhabitants, no railroads, and none of its resources are developed. Prairie City, its largest mining camp, is new, and the ledges about Granite and Sossanville are yet unexplored to any great extent. Facilities for transportation are so poor that mining machinery and fuel cannot be taken in, and the ores, while of high values, are not rich enough to bear the expense of long wagon hauls in addition to railroad rates. As soon as these difficulties are overcome, Grant County will experience a mining boom equal to any ever known in Eastern Oregon. The possibilities for irrigation in Grant County are also important. The John Day Valley and other numerous smaller valleys can be supplied with water when a market for agricultural products beyond home needs is opened by the advent of a railroad or the development of the mines. The stock business has thrived for years in Grant County and will always be one of the greatest industries. Its climate is good and its people industrious and intelligent, and the Tribune predicts that ere another decade is past this will be one of the richest and best sections of the State of Oregon.—Pendleton Tribune.

Mr. Ed. Kiddle, of Island City, state lecturer for the Masonic grand lodge, passed through Heppner Friday on his way to Long Creek.

The reason why South Dakota has not suffered as much from drought as its neighbors is the fact that there are about 1000 artesian and flowing wells from the Jim River valley to the Missouri river. The estimated amount of water flowing from each is 100 gallons per minute, or a total of more than 41,000,000,000 gallons per year. Not only do these wells supply water for live stock, but they make thousands of ponds, lakes and small streams, they fill sloughs, low places and old lake beds.

Good progress is being made on the Fish Lake irrigation ditch, which starts at a point on Little Butte Creek, about 30 miles from Medford. Work is progressing as well as can be expected. The ditch itself is practically completed and the remaining work to be done consists mainly of the construction of flumes. About 40 laborers are employed on the ditch. The machinery consists of two eight-horse plows, two four-horse plows, one Austin road grader and about 20 two-horse scrapers. The company has attracted about 4000 acres of land along the ditch, which will be for stock raising and the growth of alfalfa. The company states that by next May about 8000 miners' inches of water will be put through the ditch for the irrigation of the Rogue River Valley.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not dry—does not produce sneezing. Large size, 50 cents at Drug-gists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.
