

HINTS FOR BRIDEGROOMS.

There Is Plenty of Advice for Brides, But Not a Word for the Poor Men.

A thoughtful young man of Washington was heard to decry the other day the fact that while there is a deluge of "don'ts" and "dos" for the bride to follow, the bridegroom must shift for himself, says the Post.

"There is absolutely nothing to guide a man but his own awkward self. It isn't fair," he said. "From the time a girl is old enough to detect sound she understands the importance of having things done properly at a wedding, while the prospective groom is only something necessary to complete the picture. Nothing short of inspiration can get a man through a marriage ceremony gracefully."

"In order to impress the bride and spectators that he is enthusiastic about it, he appears with a sort of frozen grin on his face that you expect to melt at any moment and run down his collar. If he is too frightened to respond in a loud voice some of the bride's girl friends will whisper that 'it was plainly evident he was unwilling from the start.' Again, if he replies in a loud, stern voice, another bunch in another direction of the church will huddle together and express how glad they are that they are not marrying him, while the attitude of many is that they are signing away their life and all worth living for. So I, for one, think it high time that somebody wrote a few hints on how to behave, that we men may appear enthusiastic about being married, without being ridiculous and proving a target for the world in general to knock at."

EXECUTION OF AN INDIAN.

Condemned to Death for Murder of Brother-in-Law—Faced His Fate with Composure.

Daniel Davis was the name of the culprit, and he was condemned to death for the murder of his brother-in-law, says the Coweta (I. T.) Courier. On the day of the execution his coffin had been placed on two chairs under a big oak tree, which still stands in the old courthouse yard at Coweta. He requested them to let him see the coffin, and he stood by its side, gazed sadly into it, and said it was all right. A chair was set at the head of the coffin; he took his seat, pulled off his boots, and said he was ready. Capt. Childers, the sheriff—now dead—pinned a small blue ribbon on the lapel of Davis' vest over the heart. The prisoner viewed all this with composure and unconcern. Two men, one with a double-barreled shotgun and the other a Spencer rifle, took their places about 20 feet away. The command was given, ready, aim, fire! Both shots were simultaneous; the blue ribbon was hit; a convulsive tremor, and poor Daniel Davis was no more. Old men wept and many were the tears that were shed for this poor full-blood Indian who had taken the life of his erring brother-in-law.

WOMAN BURIED ALIVE.

Young Lady Seized with Catalepsy, Interred, and Suffocates in Her Casket.

A letter received in Paris from Buenos Ayres records the death of Mlle. Cambaceres, a descendant of the famous French general and a member of one of the leading families in the Argentine capital, under most distressing circumstances, says a Paris correspondent of the New York Herald.

The unfortunate young lady had just turned 18 years of age, and her birthday was celebrated by a grand reception. All her friends came to offer their congratulations and brought presents.

In the evening Mlle. Cambaceres went up to her room to dress for the opera. She was in the act of putting on her hat, when she fell to the ground, apparently dead.

The funeral took place within 24 hours, as under municipal law a corpse must not be kept longer, on account of the heat and the danger of decomposition.

A few days afterward someone started the theory that Mlle. Cambaceres had been poisoned, and the authorities ordered the body to be disinterred and a post-mortem examination made. When the coffin was opened it was found, to the horror of every one, that the veil which covered the face of the unfortunate girl was torn and her face scratched all over. From these facts it appeared clear that Mlle. Cambaceres had been buried alive and had torn the veil and scratched her face in her struggle to get out of the coffin.

The case, though not reported in the press, has produced a most painful impression in Buenos Ayres, the more so as Mlle. Cambaceres was very pretty and beloved by all who knew her.

TO KIDNAP ROCKEFELLER.

Pat Crowe Expected to Get Two Millions Ransom of the Oil King.

Captain of Detectives Henry Dunn and Officer Henry Haisend, of Omaha, accompanied by several Omaha newspapermen reached Butte yesterday afternoon and positively identified Pat Crowe.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 5.—"If my partner had not got cold feet at the critical moment, we would have sewed old John D. Rockefeller up in a bag and grabbed off $2,000,000 in cold cash before we let him out," said Pat Crowe, in the jail today, in giving the details of a scheme hatched in Chicago to kidnap the Standard Oil magnate and hold him for heavy ransom.

"I guess if we had pulled the thing off on time and according to plans, it would have made the newspapers sit up and take notice," continued Crowe, who thinks it would have been a rare joke to make the son of Rockefeller pay back some of the tribute his father has exacted of oil consumers.

It was immediately after the Cudaby affair that my partner and I, never mind his name, were lying low in Chicago, laughing at the excitement over the Cudaby affair. It was so easy that I suggested we go after bigger game, and the result was that within a week we took the train to Cleveland to kidnap old Rockefeller and get the big bunch from the boy.

"Well, we got down there, went out to his place at Forest Hill, six miles east of Cleveland, and sized up the place. It was dead easy. The old man was there. It is a quiet country place; it was a snap, I tell you.

"Well, to get down to business, we planned to hold up the watchman, get into the house at night—we had a plan of the place. We fixed it up to bustle the old man into a rig and make the young fellow dig. You bet he would have come through so fast it would make your head swim.

"We fixed the thing for Wednesday night. About 6 o'clock my partner said he was not feeling well, and he asked me to put it off until the next night. Well, I put it off, and at noon the next day, Thursday, he broke down and got cold feet and said he thought we were being watched tight then. That settled it. I began to fear he was going to give the whole nap away about the Cudaby affair, so I lit out for New York, from there to South Africa, and that was it there was to it.

"Rockefeller is holding up the world and getting his ransom, too," he added.

"Why should not I make him come across, if I have the chance?"

"I am not the originator of the ransom business. Did you ever read any Roman history? Caesar was the boss kidnaper of the world. When he was running the world he used to send old Brutus and some of his generals over to Carthage, grab one of the big kings in that country, and make them put up several millions before they gave him back. History is full of the same. They call it kidnaping now-a-days; in those days it was statecraft.

"Rockefeller is the oldest kid I ever had designs on, and if I only had a fellow with me that would go the route I would have made John D. Jr. give up two or even three millions, if I wanted it. If I once had the money, don't you worry that I would ever be pinched for it. The Rockefellers wouldn't miss it, and I wouldn't be jumping sidewalks for a meal today.

CURE FOR RATE EVIL.

Give Power to Proper Commission for Alteration.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Railroad rate legislation was the topic of a long conference today between the president and Representative Townsend of Michigan, one of the authors of the Esch-Townsend bill which was passed last winter by the house of representatives. At the conclusion of the conference, Mr. Townsend said it was his purpose to have his bill in readiness for introduction in the house as soon as congress is convened.

"My effort now," said he, "is to make it certain that it shall cover what is expected of it. It will embody my ideas, and at the same time I am quite sure it will represent accurately those of the president.

"After making it perfectly clear that the provisions of the measure apply to private cars, refrigerator cars and terminal charges, it will be my purpose, through the measure, to confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to make its findings in any particular case effective within a reasonable time after they are commenced. Efforts have been made to create the impression that it is the purpose of the advocates of this legislation to give the interstate commerce commission power to fix all the rates of a railroad. This is not a fact. It is intended only that the commission, if complaint shall be made to it that any particular rate is unjust, shall have power, after due investigation, to substitute a reasonable rate in case the complaint shall have been shown to be well founded."

"Do you expect that rate legislation will be enacted during the approaching session of congress?" "I have no doubt of it," replied Mr. Townsend.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc. If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
