Legal Information

Conducting the business of pool-selling and book-making in the State of Kansas, except within the inclosure of a race track for not exceeding two weeks in any year, was prohibited by fine and imprisonment. Subsequent to the passage of this law Kansas City, Kan., enacted an ordinance entitling any person to carry on such business in that city for an annual license fee of $5,000. Two days after plaintiff had purchased a license he was compelled by force and threats and repeated arrests to cease business. In Levy vs. Kansas City, 168 Federal Reporter, 524, plaintiff sued the city for the $5,000 paid to it for the license. The Circuit Court of Appeals held that, as plaintiff was guilty of a violation of a general law enacted to effectuate the public policy of the State of Kansas, his action arising from his own moral turpitude was not maintainable.

In Biermann vs. Guaranty Mut. Life Ins. Co., 120 Northwestern Reporter, 963, payment of insurance was denied for the alleged reason that deceased, a drunkard, had represented that he took a drink occasionally, but not to excess. The Iowa Supreme Court, allowing a recovery by the widow of the insured, remarked that sufficient disclosure was shown to suggest to a discreet person the advisability of further inquiry if the subject was of vital importance. What constitutes "excess" in this respect is largely a matter of opinion, and varies all the way between a "drink" and a "drunk"; while an occasional glass of beer may mean anything from a glass once a month to one every 15 minutes, according to the capacity of the individual, or, perhaps, according to the liberality of his views. Although testimony was elicited showing deceased to have been a drunkard when he applied for insurance, it is apparent that the company had means of knowledge of this fact when it made the contract.

While a buggy in which were a man and a boy was being driven on a highway, a heavy automobile tried to pass it, but struck its rear wheel. The boy was thrown beneath the feet of the frightened horse, and literally kicked to death. The owner and driver of the machine were convicted of manslaughter in the second degree. In People vs. Scanlon, 117 New York Supplement, 57, the defendants appealed from an order denying a new trial. The New York Supreme Court, affirming the conviction of the chauffeur, said that it was the reckless driving which is the cause of many accidents, and which should disqualify any one who practices it. With a heavy machine, weighing 3,000 to 4,000 pounds, going at the rate of 25 miles an hour, it is indefensible negligence to attempt to pass a buggy within a few inches. The owner of the machine, who was sitting next to the driver, had given orders to give full way to passing vehicles. He was powerless to deflect its course in time to avoid the catastrophe. The whole thing was, as it were, instantaneous, in the control of the chauffeur, but in no way in the owner's control. The conviction of the owner was reversed, and a new trial granted.

Supply and Demand.
 "We could all live on 10 cents a day if we would cut out high-priced meat and eat beans and rice."
 "Aw, come off. If 90,000,000 people each ordered a bushel of beans tomorrow, beans would go to 20 cents a piece."—Kansas City Times.

MAKING A JOURNALIST.

Dr. Warren Admits It's Difficult to Mold Raw Material.

Up at the New York university a department of journalism was initiated this year, with Dr. Frank J. Warren in charge, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. Seventy-five pupils have been enrolled and it is Dr. Warren's hope to make regular newspaper men out of them in a short time. "Just the same," he admits, "it isn't any fun to make a reporter out of a raw youngster, who has not the slightest knowledge of the manner in which newspapers get or handle their news. It makes me think of the experience of a conferee of mine in the Missouri College of Journalism. He put his students through a course of theoretical sprouts," said Dr. Warren, "and after they had achieved a moderate degree of knowledge of the business it was his custom to send them out to report events for the daily newspaper of the college. The paper handled the news of the vicinity just as a real daily would. On one occasion he sent out a student reporter to report a big railroad wreck near the city, in which a number of cars were in flames and several people were reported killed. Time went on and nothing was heard from the student reporter. Finally, in desperation, the dean telegraphed him 'What is the matter?' he demanded briefly. 'No story yet; edition soon go to press. Rush, rush, rush!' By and by he got a jaunty little message from the student reporter. 'I have not written story yet,' said he. 'Too much excitement here. I am all of a tremble. Soon as things quiet down I will ask some questions.'

The Chags.
 Mrs. Chugwater—Josiah, this paper talks about "peanut politics." What is peanut politics?
 Mr. Chugwater—It's the kind they use in a gubernatorial campaign. Think you understand it now?—Chicago Tribune.

Recipe for Catarrh.
 The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription, which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following. It is easily mixed:
 "One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first-class whiskey." These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be gotten from any well stocked druggist, or he will get them from his wholesale house.

Changing the Label.
 "Marie, who is the young squirt that comes here about six nights in the week to see Beesie?"
 "You'd better speak a little more respectfully, John, of the young man who is likely to be your son-in-law."
 "All right, Maria; what's the advertiser's name?"

Seems Probable.
 They were looking at that celebrated statue, the Venus of Milo.
 "But where are the hands?" asked Mrs. Neuritich.
 "They were laid off, madam," explained the polite attendant, "in consequence of a disastrous break in marble stock."

Mortuary.
 The dead past was burying its dead. "It's a perfectly absurd performance," grumbled the d. p. "I'm only doing this because Mr. Longfellow tells me to do it."
 Back of this seeming reluctance, however, there may have been a conviction that mankind would not begin to act in the living present until the funeral was over.
