September 5th the great Portland Fair & Livestock Exposition will open in this city, and continue until the 10th, inclusive. An elaborate program of races, livestock exhibits, music, vaudeville amusements and industrial events has been prepared by the management. This will be the greatest fair of its kind yet held in the city, as a large number of blooded animals recently imported, and the best known of the old stock, will be found. A great poultry show will be conducted on the grounds. Trained animals will perform daily and the races will bring out some of the best Northwest stock.

Acute or Chronic—Which?

No matter if your kidney trouble is acute or chronic Foley's Kidney Remedy will reach your case. Mr. Claude Brown, Reynoldsville, Ill., writes us that he suffered many months with kidney complaint which baffled all treatment. At last he tried Foley's Kidney Remedy and a few large bottles effected a complete cure. He says: "It has been of inestimable value to me."

Won't Need A Crutch.

Foley's Kidney Pills contain concentrated form ingredients of established therapeutic value for the relief and cure of all kidney and bladder ailments.

Express Rates Reduced.

Express rates in Oregon, published by Wells, Fargo & Co., are to be reduced at once, without litigation or further contention, as the result of an understanding reached in Portland last Friday with the Railroad Commission. The new schedule will be put into effect as fast as the rate clerk of the Commission and the clerks of the company can prepare them.

The schedule as finally agreed to by both sides yesterday represents an average of 84 per cent of the present rates, but a sliding scale of reductions from present rates is made so that in dollars and cents the reductions range from nothing to $1.

For example, where the present rate is 40, 50 or 60 cents per 100 pounds, between any two points in Oregon, there will be no reduction. Where the rate is now 70 cents it will be reduced to 65 cents. Between points where the present rates are higher than those mentioned, the reduction is correspondingly greater.

The present rate from Portland to Ashland, for instance, of $3.50 per 100 pounds is to be reduced to $2.10. The highest rate between any two points in Oregon is $3.75, and this will be reduced to $2.75.

It is apparent from the schedule adopted that the change in rates will not mean a reduction of 16 per cent in the revenues of the express company. It is said that the larger part of the business of the company is done on the shorter shipments, which call for a low rate and which rates are not reduced at all or are not materially changed. The principal advantage will accrue to towns in Southern Oregon on express shipments from Portland, and to dealers in Portland who ship poultry and perishable goods from distant points.

The Railroad Commission of Oregon began an investigation of express rates in the state about a year ago and after a hearing issued an order about two months ago reducing the rates an average of 16 per cent. The promulgation of the order was suspended, however, under the usual custom of giving the carriers an opportunity to determine the effect of such order and take the question into court if so disposed. If the new order had been promulgated at once it would have become effective within 20 days.

Walter S. Martin and P. D. Martin, of San Francisco, owners of the Eastern Oregon Land company, are making Vale their headquarters this week while on an inspection trip of their large holdings in Malheur county. The Eastern Oregon Land company also owns The Dalles Military Road tract which comprises in all about 430,000 acres of land in Oregon, while 100,000 acres of this land is located within Malheur county. Their grants extend from Riverside Ferry through Vale and up the Willow Creek valley as far as Cow valley.

It is understood that these lands will not be placed on the market right away as the owners wish to make many improvements throughout their tract before it is put up for sale. Two demonstration farms have already been established by the company in the Cow valley, and Mr. Martin states he thinks that dry farming will be successful in that valley. The crops on those farms at the present time look fine and he estimates that the grain will yield from 35 to 40 bushels to the acre. He states that he has corn on one of these farms which measures over six feet high.

The Eastern Oregon Land company has just sold a tract of land comprising 14,000 acres, west of Ironside mountain on the Little Malheur, to the Malheur Live Stock company. This vast tract will be developed into a high class summer range for the sheep of the Malheur Live Stock company.

At the regular meeting of the Good Roads Association held at Portland last Tuesday, a number of prominent speakers urged with all their power adoption of the amendment next November which will permit counties to bond themselves for heavy wagon road construction. Until such provision is enacted, the Good Roads people feel that progress is handicapped, but if such a measure is enacted by the people, they are confident many Oregon counties will at once begin heavy work.

Crushed in Mine.

Long Creek, Ore.—About 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the Ohir mine, one-half mile west of Susanville, caved in and crushed Charles Graham to death and badly injured Randall Ingraham, breaking his leg. They were the only men in the mine at the time and were some 70 feet underground when the accident occurred. Mr. Ingraham, while pinned to the ground in the deep tunnel, was able to give an alarm signal and a force of men at once began to dig him out. The ground was treacherous but the old miners took the risk and soon had the crippled man in safety, but just after he had been removed from the pit many tons of rock fell and covered the body of the dead man. The miners, realizing there was no use in risking their lives when the other man was dead, they worked with more care and less speed. The mine was timbered as the men worked, and it was 8 o'clock before the body of the lifeless man was removed.

Deceased leaves a wife and three small children. Funeral services were conducted by D. Hilton and the remains were laid to rest in the Susanville-Galena cemetery Monday afternoon. Mr. Ingraham is reported to be recovering slowly from his injuries.

Will You Review the New Styles With Us?

Perhaps this is a little early to talk clothes when we haven't even the promise of continued cool weather in sight, but the fore-handed men, the men who lead in business or social life, don't wait until the eleventh hour to supply themselves. There are a lot of people who make it a point to see the new things as soon as they come in, and to our customers who want to know what the season's latest work is in men's fashions, we extend a cordial invitation to view our late arrivals in

Sincerity Clothes

We can't say enough about the tasteful styles that are being shown this Fall, but you may always be sure that SINCERITY CLOTHES lead in this respect.
