The General Miles is off for Tillamook this morning.

The freight steamer Willamette arrived in from San Francisco yesterday morning.

A strong west wind and a full moon made the one o'clock tide yesterday afternoon one of unusual height.

The last rail of the O. R. & N. Co.'s line, between East Portland and Bonview, will be laid next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The fire on the hillside above town presents at present the spectacle of a cloud of smoke by day and a pillar of fire by night.

Capt. Ferchen brought the Banfish down yesterday. She will take on 330 tons of salmon. The Mandalay took on two hundred tons of wheat yesterday.

We have standing in our office a stalk of yellow field corn which is 12 feet in length. It was raised on the farm of Andrew Anderson, on Lewis and Clarke's.

Police Officer Steabb, who was shot in the breast by Horne, on the 29th of last month, was on the streets yesterday, and looked as though there was little danger of permanent disability.

Preparations have been made for an impressive ceremonial this afternoon, and should the weather not prove stormy the laying of the corner stone of the new Odd Fellows Temple will be witnessed by a large number of spectators.

A small detachment of United States troops are in the vicinity of Williamsport, driving stakes and surveying for the line of telegraph that will run from here to Cape Hancock via Fort Stevens.

The State's time from Astoria to Portland yesterday, six hours and ten minutes, is the quickest trip on record up the Columbia for an ocean steamer. She lost ten minutes of above time at Swan Island.—Oregonian 27th.

The thirteenth ballot for senator yesterday afternoon was as satisfactory as the first, as far as results are concerned. It looks now as though it were in the limits of probability that the entire session would be consummated in an ineffectual effort to elect a senator.

The ship Young America, which sailed from New York for the Columbia river, on the 3d inst., has on board 6,050 cases oil, 500 packages starch, 10 barrels whisky, 1,525 kegs nails, 411 tons coal and a lot of agricultural goods, hardware, etc.

Yesterday's Oregonian says, the Oregon Railway and Navigation company have a force of 900 graders in the Burnt River pass, fifty miles southeast of Baker City. The advance force is within two miles of Snake river. From the other direction, the Oregon Short line have commenced operations, just across the Idaho line, and have let a contract for timber for the Snake River bridge, to be delivered within ninety days.

Good logs now bring $7 per thousand feet easily enough, while common or inferior logs bring $6.50. These prices are very different from those of fifteen years ago. Then $3.50 was the ruling price for the best, and they were of slow sale at that, with delayed pay and pay mostly made up in camp supplies. It is no wonder logging is now regarded a good business, and that those engaged in it are making more money than any other men on the coast.—S. P. J.

The Senatorial Deadlock

(SPECIAL TO THE ASTORIAN.)
SALEM, Sept. 27th, 1882.
The great problem is as much a matter of speculation this afternoon as at any time since the convening of the Twelfth Oregon legislature. It was confidently asserted last Saturday by Mitchell men that Monday would develop unlooked for strength, and when Monday came, bringing with it forty-one votes for Mitchell, it was then thought by many that the next, or at least, Wednesday, would show his triumph. But so far it is yet a subject for guessing. When the two houses met in joint convention to-day it was with the evident intention of making some positive showing: the first ballot gave Mitchell his forty-one; Prim, twenty-nine; Prof. Thos. M. Gatch received the compliment of a vote from each of the sixteen who have been acting like so many weather-cocks all through the fight; and four other precious votes were given to some candidates "outside." On the second ballot which was immediately called for, Smith of Tillamook created a decided sensation by refusing to vote for Mitchell, who thus got but forty votes, but on the third ballot the Hon. Jasper came back and cast his ballot for Mitchell. The fourth ballot was called and resulted in Mitchell getting his forty-one; Prim, twenty-nine; Gatch's adherents fell in number to ten; and Henry Falling was given five; J. N. Dolph, three; while Bonham, Binger and Hermann got one each. The convention then adjourned.

What to-morrow's vote will be the Lord only knows. Anything like prophecy would be out of the question. Both sides profess to be sanguine.

To-Day's Exercises

Following is the programme to be observed in the ceremonial of laying the corner stone of the Odd Fellows Temple at two o'clock this afternoon: After introductory remarks by the P. G. M. there will be prayer by the chaplain, and fitting response by the members, after which an ode by the choir and reading record and list of deposits. The ceremony of laying the corner stone will be then gone through with in accordance with the ritual of the order, after which the whole will close by a proclamation from the G. M.

We are requested to announce that the members of the order will meet at their room at 1:30, and that the ceremony begins at 2:30 P. M.

Despite the threatening aspect of the weather last evening Sherman's circus tent was well filled. The tricks of the horses were the principal features of the performance, and the general impression seemed to be one of satisfaction. The troupe started at an early hour this morning for Olympia, where they show to night. From there they go to Seattle and Port Townsend, and then to California for the winter. The performance they gave last night here was the best of its kind that we have seen for some time; every feature was good, and we can recommend the show as being all that it represents itself to be.

The New Comet

Anyone who will rise at five o'clock in the morning can get a good view of the new comet, provided the sky is clear. This erratic visitor to the solar system is then above the eastern horizon, a little to the south of the point where the light of dawn is strongest, flashing upward toward the zenith, like a brilliant brand. It may even be seen after the sun has risen. It may be that the tail is visible above the eastern horizon before the break of day, for at times when the atmosphere is steady it may be traced, after the sun is up, for probably a distance of ten degrees. The nucleus is very bright, quite as brilliant as the planet Venus, which is at present the glory and beauty of the western heavens in the evening. A pair of sharp eyes can, no doubt, pick out the comet's head at mid-day, provided they only know where to look for it. The sun rises to-morrow at 5:55 A. M. The five o'clock rizer, by ascending one of the hills, so as to get above the haze which almost always floats at that hour over the river, will have ample time to gaze upon the comet before it grows too dim for comfort in the approaching sunlight, and will have an opportunity, also, to see a glorious sunrise.

Marriage Insurance

A picturesque view of the "marriage insurance" system is given by a writer in a southern paper. He was asked whether he thought the wedding of a certain young lady would take place at the time said to have been set. He gave his opinion and asked the reason for the inquiry. "Oh," was the response, "I have bought four matrimonial policies of $3000 each on her and I am anxious to know if I'll get my money." "Does she know of this?" "Oh, no. That isn't necessary. Anybody can take out a policy on anybody else. If you know of a lady that is engaged and will not marry within five months from the time you take a policy on her, you can get any amount on her wedding day that you want. I suppose there is $25,000, or perhaps double that, on the young lady I asked you about." "How does the company make its money?" "I suppose it bets on the fickleness of the young folks. No policy will be paid except five months after it is taken out. There are very few couples, they think, that love each other well enough to marry, that will wait five months to marry. If they do, five months of engaged life are full of dangers."

Annual Report of the Northern Pacific

At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Pacific railroad, the report of President Villard was read. It shows that the gross earnings of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, were $5,450,305; operating expenses, including rents and taxes, $3,573,840; net earnings, $1,876,465; increase of net earnings over previous year, $888,335; average number of miles operated, 797; increase in net earnings per mile, $884; number of passengers arriving and leaving eastern termini—St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior City—106,886; increase 74,614. The passenger earnings of the eastern division shows a gain of 92 per cent., the freight movement shows an equal percentage of increase. During the year the ends of the track advanced from the east 183 miles, from the west 102 miles; total 285 miles; leaving June 30, 1882, 572 miles to be built. This will be lessened by the close of 1882 probably 300 miles, leaving 272 miles of track to be laid January 1st, 1883. The final connection of the track is expected to be made during 1883. In addition to the work done on the main line 222 miles have been laid on the branches in Minnesota, Dakota and Washington Territory. The great bridge across the Missouri river at Bismarck will be completed early in October. The financial statement shows cash on hand at the beginning of the fiscal year to be $11,567,944; receipts from bonds and preferred stock, $4,682,086; expenditures for construction, $21,977,995. The expenditures for construction are largely in excess of the resources of the company from the net earnings and proceeds of bonds received from the syndicate, but thanks to the assistance of the syndicate and the Oregon and Transcontinental railways, the company is prepared to meet all demands, without even borrowing in the open market. The management points to the fact that it has finished 275 miles of road, has graded 150 miles additional, bought and paid for sufficient rails for the entire gap between the two ends of the main line, and made beside current expenses, disbursements for motive power, rolling stock, the Bismarck bridge, the great Boyerman and Helena tunnel and other heavier portions of the work, without delivering a single bond to a syndicate since last December. An additional finished mileage of 285 miles has just been inspected and approved by the United States government commissioners, which insures the immediate reimbursement to the treasury of a large amount on construction account. The land department sold 465,298 acres during the year for $1,709,338, the average price being $3.60 per acre.

Peruvian Bitters

Cinchoina Bala

The Count Cinchoa was the Spanish Viceroy in Peru in 1620. The Countess, his wife, was prostrated by an intermittent fever, from which she was freed by the use of the native remedy, the Peruvian bark, which in its native state is called in the language of the country, "Quinquina." Grateful for her recovery, on her return to Europe in 1622, she introduced the remedy in Spain, where it was known under various names, until Linnaeus called it Cinchoina, in honor of the lady who had brought them that which was more precious than the gold of the Inca. To this day, after a lapse of two hundred and fifty years, science has given us nothing to take its place. It effectually cures a morbid appetite for stimulants, by restoring the natural tone of the stomach. It attacks excessive love of liquor as it does a fever, and destroys both alike. The powerful tonic virtue of the Cinchoina is preserved in the Peruvian Bitters, which are as effective against malarial fever today as they were in the days of the old Spanish Viceroy. We guarantee the ingredients of these bitters to be absolutely pure, and of the best known quality. A trial will satisfy you that this is the best bitter in the world. The proof of the matter is in the "cutting" we are willing to abide this test. For sale by all druggists, grocers and liquor dealers. Order of L. Loeb & Co., agents for Astoria.
