

The Daily Astorian

VOL. XX, NO. 130.

ASTORIA, OREGON, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1884.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

A DOUBLE "DECKER."

The table upon which they played was one of the German double-decker style, the lower part intended to support glasses. Early in the game the happy thought occurred to Bellchambers of utilizing that lower deck for a different purpose. Gradually he accumulated three aces there, but not without De Spotte's eagle eye noticing the process. Bellchambers got a pair of kings and three worthless cards. He took three cards on the draw, but neatly stowed them away on the lower deck, and replaced them in his hand with his accumulated "sure thing." De Spotte received a pair of queens in the deal, and in the draw took three cards. Bellchambers before the draw had made it "root a little more money to come in," and when betting began he was almost ferocious in his demonstration of confidence in his hand. The previously sufficient half-dollar limit disgusted him by its inadequacy. Douglass and Siccardi said that as far as they were concerned he might make it anything he liked, as they proposed taking a rest. De Spotte did not want to rest just then, but had no objection to dropping the limit. Bellchambers was happy. At length all the chips were up in the center of the table, and De Spotte resisting sternly Bellchambers' tearful appeals to be allowed to bet his store and coming invoice of goods and other valuables in a succession of raises, called. From the time of the draw Bellchambers had not once looked at his hand. Why should he, when he knew so well what was in it? On the call he turned them over. The expression on his countenance was frightful to look at. He had only a pair of kings and seven, nine and ten! De Spotte placidly turned his hand—three aces and a pair of queens!

"Where did you get those aces?" Bellchambers shouted, agitated and purple.

"Under the table where you put them," De Spotte answered, with an exasperating smile.

Douglass and Siccardi yelled in unalloyed glee, while Bellchambers, rising in indignation, proclaimed: "I won't play where such unfair advantages are taken," and went forth into the storm that was calm compared with the raging in his anguished breast.—Boston Herald.

The Blaine Boom.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The rapid development of public sentiment during the past week in favor of the nomination of Blaine is the principal subject of comment among the Republican politicians. For some time past opponents of Arthur's re-nomination have complained because no candidate was put forward upon whom they could unite. Blaine has constantly declared himself not a candidate, and he has carefully abstained from a discussion of the subject. The growing feeling in favor of his nomination is spontaneous, and is viewed with considerable alarm by many Democrats, as the best informed politicians here think that Blaine and Logan will have the greatest strength in the convention, with Edmunds and Sherman as second choice candidates. All sorts of wild stories and absurd rumors are afloat, the principal ones being that the most prominent backers of Logan are secretly for Blaine, and that Edmunds is simply a stand for Arthur.

Fraudulent Butter.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Evidence given before the New York senate committee the past week concerning imitation butter shows that the annual shipment of the spurious article from the west to this city is about 1,500,000 pounds. Of thirty samples of alleged butter collected at random from city grocers twenty were imitations. Butterine sells from 20 to 45 cents per pound, and oleomargarine from 20 to 30 cents. Often the same article is sold at varying prices to suit the character of the customer, but always as pure creamery butter.

What a vast country is India, and for the most part a sealed volume to all the outside world. Its magnitude is a mystery to most persons, and its population almost incomprehensible. It contains some 50,000,000 more people than all Europe west of the Vistula. It has sixty-two cities with a population of more than 50,000 people each, and twenty-two cities with more than 100,000 inhabitants. The limit of 50,000 the towns become much more numerous, and there are hundreds with populations below 20,000. The majority of the latter are quite unknown to Europeans, an active magistrate or two excepted; and there is no book in English which gives the slightest account of their organization, or of the people in them. Yet many of them have flourishing families which think themselves noble, and have long pedigrees and stirring tales to relate.

Geo. Francis Train's lunacy has assumed a violent form. He has vaulted into journalism, and in the wildest rhetoric lances at the New York editors, calling them "venal scoundrels," "miscreants," "feeble carions," "goose-fleshed, fevered lepers and paralyzed imbeciles," "emasculated, horned idiots, packed terriers, gliding ghoulis," "cap and knee slaves, vapors, minute jacks, naked gulls, dishcloth harbingers of presidential visits," "carbuncle-boaked toads, dove-feathered hags and canvas backed bellions," and calls on them to "pale before" him. We didn't know the New York editors were as bad as that, but Train probably knows them better than we do.

Mr. F. W. Sullivan, 15 W. 33d St.

New York City, says that for years he has suffered with rheumatism, and for weeks was unable to get about or feed himself. Finally he tried the wonderful remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. "It cured me," he says, "and I have not been troubled with rheumatism since."

—For lame Back, Side or Chest use Child's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents. For sale by W. E. Dement.

The Militia Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Many army officers in the city are of the opinion that the bill passed last week by the senate, increasing the annual appropriation for the national guard for the several states of the Union from $200,000 to $600,000 a year will go through the house beyond doubt, since it met with so little opposition in the senate. This sum is to be distributed among states in proportion to the actual number of active militia men, and will, it is thought, have the effect of creating a militia many times better than the one in existence. The distribution of arms to state militia, made under the act of 1808, is three-quarters of a century old, there having been no legislation on the subject of organization since the states have effected and maintained their militia by dint of untired labor. It seemed to those at the head of them that their military existence was a matter of little or no consequence to the government, and Adjutant-General Drum, U. S. A., who has made an effort to open communication with state military organizations, and have them recognized by the war department, reports very poor success. The increase of the appropriation will, it is believed, encourage the several organizations, assuring them that they are recognized by congress, and will aid them very materially in keeping their existence. Some think it will have the effect of increasing membership so that it will be found necessary to make it a million a year.

Idaho's New Governor.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Judge Bunn, Idaho's new governor, was yesterday seen by a Press reporter, clad in faultlessly fitting attire, a "Teder" hat on his light locks. With his boyish face and slim though well knit frame, he did not appear as though he was intended to tread the rugged hills of Idaho.

"Why," they'll call you the dude governor," said one of his friends.

"Well, you bet your life that before thirty days they'll find I'm governor. A governor should govern. That is what they want me for, I suppose, and that's what I'll do. I don't know more than four men in the entire territory, but I am willing to know every one if they'll let me. I'm going there to stay, if it suits my family. I have large mining interests there that may render my stay more profitable than the salary the position commands."

Judge Bunn served during the war in the Seventy-second Pennsylvania, and was wounded.

After Many Days.

Among the earliest pioneers of this state was one W. W. Raymond, a missionary who afterward was appointed sub Indian agent. His official bond in the sum of $2000 was signed by Joseph Holman and H. W. Wilson, and was approved by George H. Williams, chief justice Oregon territory, on the 23d of July, 1853. Just how Mr. Raymond administered the affairs of his agency is not known, but it is certain that the greater part of his Indians are gone, and that Mr. Raymond has long since passed over to the other side and has been followed by Mr. Holman. And now at this late date some energetic member of the Indian department, or some other department, has discovered that Mr. Raymond is indebted to the United States in the sum of $50,310, and U. S. District Attorney Watson has been instructed to commence suit against the principal and his bondsmen to recover that amount. It is certain that no one hurried in figuring up the indebtedness of Raymond, and as the bondsmen are liable only to the amount of their bond, it is likely to be some time before the account is squared.—Oregonian.

Bad Blood.

Of all foreign nations to-day the German Confederation, of which Bismarck is virtually emperor, is the only one which appears to entertain any unkind feelings towards the United States. And this is doubtless due to the fact, as the London Times suggests, that this country robs Germany annually of thousands of conscripts. Her young men are all infected with a disease infinitely more fatal to Bismarck's peace of mind than the trichinosis, concerning which in the exclusion of American pork from his dominions, he has made himself the monumental ass of the nineteenth century—it is the contagion of liberty—a longing for a larger field of usefulness—a home in free America, where the fruits of a laudable ambition—the possibilities of civil, political and social advancement—are vastly beyond those of their own country. And so the lusty German boy will dig and save until he has scraped together the price of a steerage passage to the New World, and then farrow to Fatherland, to old Bismarck and Kaiser William. Germany loses a soldier and America gains a good citizen.
