SCROFULA

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a cure for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength to the body, and produces a more permanent result than any medicine I ever used.

—E. Haines, North Lindale, Ohio.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.

—W. F. Fowler, M.D., Greenville, Tenn.

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried various remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.

—M. C. Amersbury, Rockport, Me.

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system.

After trying other remedies, without relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.

—Susan L. Cook, 190 Albany St., Boston, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt Rheum, and received much benefit from it.

It is good, also, for a weak stomach.

—Miss Jane Peirce, S. Bradford, Mass.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

The "they say" of social life is the great bugbear that causes a great deal of wear upon the nervous system, sleepless nights and planning days.

We have seldom seen a better rendition of this matter than is found in the following from the Farmer's Friend: "What a silly practice it is to fret, fume and worry over what the world thinks of you, and live in a state of chronic discomfort because some choose to underrate you, or view you through the green goggles of envy and suspicion. We do not advocate entire indifference to the world's estimate, for all should strive to do right, and then earn its confidence and respect. But no matter how near the line one may walk, there are some natures who delight in talking. To chase these slanders would be as foolish as stopping an important mission to fight a mosquito, or to catch every little dog that barks from the wayside as we pass. If a person would devote the time to catching these little lies and unworthy suspicions set in motion by small natures there would be but little time left for life work. We do not counsel indifference to misstatements or great slanders—such should be traced to their source and their cowardly originators exposed and promptly punished.

We simply hold that it is worse than useless to try to bridle every wagging tongue, and most of the little doubts and insinuations belong to the insect tribe and are not worth tracing up. Let them alone and they will soon bite at some one else, and the richer the character the better they will like it. Great natures, strong in their sense of justice and right, should scorn to notice them, or to spend time in hunting gnats when nobler game awaits them. They are not great annoyances, and all people must expect to be stung by them occasionally. Consequently, the wiser way is to take their little pinlike punctures in a philosophic spirit and pursue the way that wisdom marks out regardless of their puny importance. Life is too short and its real duties too many to be neglected for the sake of catching and killing these fussy and foolish little verbal flies. The man who permits these insects to ruffle his temper or divert his attention from some fixed purpose is indeed weak, and scarcely deserving of pity. We all know that there are people who have not brains enough to do anything better than lie about those whom nature has more richly endowed. It is their mission in life, just as it is the mission of the buzzard to turn away from fresh meat to dine on carrion.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

In a paper read by a Baltimore physician it was truly said that persons accept medical charity who would not accept it in any other form, and who are able to pay the doctor. The reason for this condition of thing lies, in a great measure, in the willingness of physicians, especially young physicians, who want practice, to give their services. No other profession is so charitable as the medical.

It is beyond question that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral heads the list of remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs.

Mrs. L. L. Sherman of Great Falls, M. T., secured a divorce from her husband recently, and immediately married her lawyer.

At the reception which followed the wedding her ex-husband was said to be one of the blithest dancers.

A New York oculist asserts that the greatest enemy to the eyes of young men is the cigarette. It causes a disease known to the profession as the "cigarette eye," which can be cured only by long treatment.

Two "learned judges" of a New York court have dismissed a suit for damages on account of a dog bite because the plaintiff could not show that the dog had bitten some one else before, and, therefore, there was no evidence that it was a vicious dog." The plaintiff may console himself, says the Standard-Union, with the thought that he will be a valuable witness for the next person bitten by the same animal.

The Iowa farmer objects to giving his note and having it discounted for cash. The latest sharper says: "Oh, we'll keep the note," and he writes across the face of it "not transferable." In a short time it is found in the hands of a third party with an "e" added to the "not," which makes it read "note transferable."

The taint of scrofula in your blood can be wholly eradicated by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

In a recent trial at Albany a witness said he considered the defendant insane, and when asked why he replied: "Because he gets into a perfect fret about it if he owes anybody any money."

Melancholy or Despondency.

Commonly called the "blues," generally proceeds from a sluggish Liver, or either causes Dyspepsia, or it follows it—being both cause and effect. To cure it take Simmons Liver Regulator.

"I was so sick and low spirited I would have given anything to get well; and if any one had ensured me the good health produced by using Simmons Liver Regulator, and charged me a thousand dollars, I would willingly have paid it—in fact, $10,000 would be worth less to me than what it has done for me."—Geo. F. BARTON, Mason G.

The Boston Herald is a profit-sharing institution. Recently the employees received their share of the net profits of 1887. The shares amounted to $15,000, and each employee was paid an amount equal to 4 per cent of his wages—or two week's pay.

Weariness and Worn.

When the tired factory operative, the weary out-door laborer, the overtasked book keeper or clerk seeks a medical recompense for expenditure of bodily forces, where shall he find it? Could the recorded experience of thousands of workers be voiced, the verdict would be that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters renews failing strength, stimulates the faded mental powers to fresh activity, and relaxes undue nervous tension as nothing else does. Digestion regular, habit of body, appetite and sleep are promoted by it and it is an admirable auxiliary in the recovery of health by convalescents. A fastidious stomach is not offended by it, and to persons of both sexes in delicate health who occasionally feel the need of an efficient tonic, the whole range of the pharmacopeia and the catalogue of proprietary medicines does not present a more useful, safer or more decisive one. It is also incomparable for fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

Some arithmetician computes that if a man receives $3 a day and saved every cent of it, 1000 years would elapse before he could be master of $1,000,000. This is discouraging.

A FAMILY NECESSITY.

Hot weather with its debilitating effects needs some bracing substance to put the system in a healthy state and thereby prevent disease. It has been ascertained by the experience of many of our best people that Moxie Nerve Food will do more to sustain the tired and weak than any other article on the market at the present time.

The proprietor of the Cloverdale Revue is so hard up that he offers to take counterfeit silver dollars alleged to be circulating throughout the county in pay for subscription.
