ASTORIA, OREGON:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1888.

OUR COUNTRY'S BIRTHDAY.

WHATEVER political or party feeling any one may have, all unite in doing honor to our country's natal day, and looking up to that starry emblem of the free as it sinks and swells upon the breeze, feel pride in the thought "that is the flag of my country."

The Fourth of July is the one day that every boy from six years old to sixty-six has a perfect right to make all the noise he can; to be as patriotic as possible, and to turn loose for all he is worth. A quiet Fourth of July is no good; the noisier it is the better, and on this of all days in the year a little effervescence, a little exuberance of feeling is to be allowed.

This is really the children's day, and the children should be given the most prominent part. We older children of larger growth know more of history and have read about our heroes and great men, but all that the little folks know about is "the Fourth of July," and the observance of to-day is a part of the necessary training for the future "Grand Army of the Republic," that will soon take our places and be the men and women of the next generation. Their souls should early be filled with the love of country, and it is a good object lesson in patriotism to give the youngsters a rousing time on the Fourth of July.

The largest, or more appropriately, perhaps, the smallest, real estate swindle yet has recently developed itself in Chicago. A lady of that city recently exchanged $1,300 worth of furniture for three notes of $200 each and a lot described as 25x125, she, of course, understanding the dimensions to be in feet, until she received her deed for a piece of land 25x125 inches. By that time she had permitted the dealer to take the furniture, and it was too late to save herself.

COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS.

TUESDAY, July 3rd, '88. Jos. Sinnott appeared with his sureties, D. Morgan, C. Heilborn and R. N. Carnahan; bond as county assessor approved.

Isaac Bergman, treasurer, having appeared and filed his receipt for $6,790.25, amount of cash on hand, and the same found to be correct; thereupon his bondsmen were released.

Report of V. H. Coffey received and filed, found correct and bondsmen released.

Petition of G. W. Raymond and others for county road and allowed. Wm. Cook, A. H. Gale and J. Ellis appointed viewers; N. D. Raymond, surveyor, at $4 a day.

In the matter of fees, no fees shall be allowed public officers in justice court when acting as constable.

All justices of peace shall present the bills of his own, the constable and district attorney separate, for each person acting in such capacity, and in sums total.

The clerk was instructed to serve notices on justices peace, that hereafter in all cases he shall require a bond for costs, unless it be apparent that a crime has been committed. The bill of A. A. Cleveland for $217.70, H. A. Smith, $102.20; C. B. Watson, $145, and other sundry bills were allowed. The probate and law court adjourned to Thursday, the 5th inst., and the commissioner's court adjourned to Saturday, July 14, '88, at which date all outstanding bills should be handed in.

Lovely Woman on Horseback.

Did you ever observe a woman just before she is lifted into the saddle and a few moments after the horse has struck a canter? She becomes a charmed being. The roses spring to her cheeks, the light seems to leap from her eyes, her form is the inspiration of graceful action and she becomes a beautiful picture of moving health. And this, after all, is the best view to take of horseback riding. Aside from all of its charms, its special or general beauty, it is the most healthful exercise within the province of woman. It is better than dancing, lawn tennis, croquet, rowing, archery. There are many reasons why it is better, and one of the strongest seems to be that it brings continuous change of scene, which tends to rest the body, as well as the mind. The fascinating effect which it has on the fair rider can not be estimated, providing she has a well trained horse and indulges in moderation.

Heaven And Earth.

"Behold that golden and gorgeous sunset, Angelina!" rapturously exclaimed her own Augustus. "Is it not transcendently beautiful?" "Perfectly heavenly." "How the rich crimson melts into the delicate pink! How sweetly both colors blend with the amber tinge of the broken clouds about them! What emotion does that magnificent scene raise in your soul! What does it remind you of?" "Strawberry ice-cream with a dash of vanilla," she meekly replied, and she did not leave him a nickel to pay his homeward car-fare.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—Richard Nevins Jr., ex-president government architect of the United States court house and post office now being built here, has been arrested upon a charge procured by United States special agent Brooks of making fraudulent claims upon the government.
