

Must Have 100 to Get Special Train Sunday

Providing one hundred fans will sign up for tickets, a special train will carry them and the Ashland baseball team to Weed next Sunday for a game with the Northern California all-star bunch. Baseball is beginning to get a real hold on Ashland. The fare will be $5.30 for the round trip. The train will leave Ashland some time Sunday morning and return directly after the game. Fans are urged to sign up immediately as the Southern Pacific company must be notified this evening as to whether or not a sufficient number will go to assure the train. One hundred must sign. Put down your name at: White House Grocery, Enders, Alnut's Billiard Parlor, or the Commercial Club. It is going to be the hardest fought game yet, a merry crowd is going and if you like a good time you can't afford to miss it.

HUNTERS INVADE LAKE OF WOODS

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Carter are in this week from Lake of the Woods where they have been spending the summer, and will probably remain here on account of banking interest which necessitated Mr. Carter's presence, due to the absence of Cashier J. W. McCoy of the First National bank. Mr. Carter states that the population at the lake has materially changed within the past week or so. Families with children have returned to their homes to be ready for the opening school, while the opening of the deer season has seen a fresh bunch of sportsmen located at the lake. Interest in taking up locations at that resort still continues as active as ever. Surveyors are kept busy laying out lots for cottages and within the past week were on the ground where they laid out twenty new lots, which they hoped would be sufficient to meet the demand for a long time, but Mr. Carter stated that it was reported before he left the lake that every one of these had been taken. A large number of Klamath Falls people have taken lots on the lake shore this summer.

"I consider the Lake of the Wood-road to Crater Lake is by all odds the best from this section," Mr. Carter remarked on commenting on road conditions in that vicinity. "While it is rough in some sections, especially this side of the lake, it is better all around than any other road to the lake."

Deer Stories Are Coming to Front

Rev. C. F. Koehler and two sons, Fred and Paul, returned yesterday from a hunting trip in the Wagner Butte country. They brought back with them a deer which the three claim to have secured in partnership. The fortunate neighbors in the vicinity of the manse are feasting on venison today.

Bob Wagner and Claude Saunders came in from the woods the fore part of the week with a fine spike buck.

C. R. Jellison and his New York state friends left today for the Dead Indian country to try their luck in deer hunting.

NEW GARAGE OPENS MONDAY

Starting Monday one of the finest and best equipped garages in Southern Oregon will open in the new concrete building just finished on East Main street. This will be conducted by the firm of Kay & Morrison, who have leased the building and are getting it in shape to conduct a first-class garage. The firm will start out with repair work, and then eventually handle all automobile equipment and will probably take the agency for cars. Members of the firm are Daniel F. Kay, who has been associated with the vulcanizing works where he conducted automobile repairing, and Elmer Morrison, his former partner, who during the war has been employed as substitute letter carrier for the city. Both these young men are well known and capable and the new business starts out under most auspicious conditions.

"East, West, Home Is Best" Says Mr. Reed

M. C. Reed returned home Monday from his Chautauqua tours of five months traveling through twelve states and parts of Canada. In discussing the matter today, he said: "Ashland never looked so good to me as it does today. I have just returned from my third Chautauqua tour and according to the record of mileage kept by the Ellison-White system, I have traveled altogether 60,000 miles and have covered every section of the country, and I want to say that Ashland is the most wonderful place I ever saw. As a place to live it has no equal. I have been driven by enthusiastic citizens in autos for a distance of fifty miles to see the beauties of their country, but compared to Ashland there was nothing to see.

"After seeing other localities of boasted fame I have always gone away asking myself this question: 'Why is it that we are not attracting more people to our home town, which in the purity and variety of its waters, its unsurpassed natural scenery and all around healthful conditions stands absolutely in a class by itself?' But upon coming home I see everywhere the evidence of the coming of better days. In fact they have already arrived. Prosperity is with us and it seems to be only the beginning of what is to be, for all over the country in hotels and on the trains people are talking about Ashland.

"In Mesa, Ariz., I was talking with one of the professors of the high school. When I told him I was from Ashland he sprang to his feet and shook hands with me the second time and said, 'I spent one week there a few years ago and it has ever since been the dream of my life to own a home of five acres on the hillside there overlooking the city and that beautiful park.' I told him that he had my sympathy until the time arrived when he would be able to locate with us."

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Waste of Water
It seems too bad that those citizens who take pride enough in the city to tend beautiful lawns are compelled to let their flowers and lawns suffer for water while a great waste is going on among other citizens. I ride over every part of Ashland nearly every day and know whereof I speak. There is much needless waste of water every day. For instance in one place I found the children damming up the street with sand and filling the place with water, making a great lake. At another I saw the hose turned on full blast on the sidewalk and the water running down the walk for a block. Besides the town is full of leaky plumbing that wastes thousands of gallons of water. I am law abiding, but it takes a lot of nerve to see a lawn going down for want of irrigation while others are so careless in the waste of our precious water. Ashland needs to conserve more water for the city's needs, but until the city authorities take a too long delayed action along that line the police should show vigilance and every water waster brought to the police court and given a stiff fine. Better arrest the wasters instead of those who irrigate a few minutes overtime in an effort to save their crops, flowers or lawns.

MANUFACTURERS WILL VISIT HERE

The week of September 29 is being arranged as Home Products Week in Ashland. All of the merchants will make window displays of all goods they handle that are manufactured in Oregon. Oregon manufacturers and jobbers will visit Ashland that week and it is hoped that they may be welcomed by fine window displays in all the stores of Oregon products. Mrs. Lamkin is president of the Oregon Home Products Club and some of her committees will call upon the merchants and arrange for the proper displays. Lets make Oregon Home Products Week a big one in Ashland. Hundreds of Oregon manufacturers and jobbers will visit Ashland that week and we should show them that Ashland merchants are alive to the interest of Oregon institutions.

Military Service Record Wanted

The State Council of Defense for Oregon, through Cornelia Marvin, the state historian, has requested the assistance of the American Legion to complete the State Historical Record, which is desired before September 18, as it is contemplated to deliver state medals to all soldiers on the 11th of November.

It is necessary, therefore, that the records be completed so that every service man will secure his medal, and it is very important that every man's military record be filed with the State Historian. Lynn D. Wowat, secretary of Ashland Post of the American Legion, has been communicated with, and will secure personal military service blanks for all Ashland men who saw service in the world war. As soon as they arrive they can be secured, filled out and returned for the State record.

Advertising Has Quick Results

"It pays to advertise," remarked Mrs. J. F. Rocho recently. "Mr. Rocho put an ad. in the Tidings last week offering pigs for sale, and before it had gone more than once we had so many calls for pigs that we could have sold as many again as we had. It was the same way with our house which we advertised for rent. After one notice in the paper the house was rented. If people say that advertisements do not bring results, tell them I can tell another story."

J. Conley of Seattle, with his wife and daughters, are in Ashland and are stopping at the Vendome apartment house for the present. Mr. Conley has joined the throng of furnished house seekers and if he can locate a home will stay here until spring. They came here on account of the daughter's health, as she is a sufferer from asthma. "I like this section very well," remarked Mr. Conley yesterday, "and if I find just what I want I shall probably locate here permanently. Fruit packing is being carried on at the Ashland Fruit and Produce association on Oak street, and that place of business presents a very lively appearance at this season. In the past eighteen days the association has shipped out fifteen cars of peaches and two cars of pears.

FOUNDRY MAKING ROAD EQUIPMENT

Unusual activities are reported at the Ashland Iron Works resulting from the road making in this section of the county. Orders for building and repairing machinery, and constructing asphalt kettles keep the large force of men employed in the foundry busy all the time. This week a large order was received from S. S. Shell, who has charge of the road construction at Grants Pass to build equipment for his use.

On their way home from Seattle which was the farthest point north reached on their automobile tour of the Pacific coast states, A. T. Borst and wife and Joseph Borst of Coalings, Calif., were camped in the Lithia auto-park for a couple of days during the past week. They were loud in the praises of the free auto-camp, which they declare to be the prettiest and best equipped auto-camp on the coast.

Public Nurse Resigns Position

Miss Rosetta McGrail, county public health nurse for the past fifteen months, has resigned her position and left Jackson county yesterday for her home in Philadelphia, Pa., where she will visit with relatives and friends. Miss McGrail's successor has not been yet announced.

C. A. Lee and family of Morris, Minn., who are on an automobile tour of the west, were inmates of the auto-camp for several days recently, while on their way through to Southern California. They report road conditions on the coast far from ideal this year owing to the immense amount of grading and paving going on, but state that by next year automobiling through the coast states will be a delightful pastime, when the Pacific highway will be paved throughout the greater portion of its thousand mile extent. They enjoyed their stay in the Ashland camp which, they stated, is the best they have found on their trip.

O. P. Cordill and family of Chamberlain, S. D., who left their home May 6 on an automobile trip to the Pacific coast, camped several days at the auto-park last week. They reported a fine trip so far and stated that they had found all kinds of places to camp, but none so ideally situated or well equipped as the Lithia Park camp.

The deer hunting Freds—Eamer and Herrin—came down from Red mountain this morning with three fine bucks. Fred Herrin met them up the canyon and brought the deer down in his car. The report that a horse got shot up the canyon was an error. Fred Herrin says he was run to death by the boys chasing deer. Anyhow they got three and declare that every one of them bears evidence of bullets.
