TIDINGS CLASSIFIEDS HIT THE SPOT.
 Thursday night William Briggs advertised a used typewriter for sale. Friday morning he sold it for $20.00 real cash more than a typewriter company offered him on an exchange deal and at that gave the purchaser a fine bargain. Mr. Briggs says the Tidings has done good work for him this year, having sold two typewriters and his crop of cherries.

The Social Realm
 Meeting Postponed
 The Parent-Teacher meeting which was to be held at the Hawthorne school Tuesday, November 25, has been postponed to Tuesday, December 2.
Civic Club
 The annual meeting of the Civic club will be held Tuesday, November 25 at 2:30 in Chautauqua Pioneer hall. It is earnestly hoped that all members and friends of this organization which has done such splendid work in our city will bear this notice in mind and attend this meeting. The Civic club gave all its time to war work last year. Its chief responsibility was the salvage shop where $1400 was cleared for the Red Cross. The work of serving meals to the several thousand soldiers whom the government sent through our city was also part of the club's work. The women who have kept the Civic club alive feel that they deserve a stronger and more universal support from the community at large. Every woman who is interested in the well being and advancement and beautification of Ashland should show it by supporting this club's work. The dues are small and the object is large. Mrs. M. K. Goldney, who has spent 33 years in Argentina, will give a talk upon her experiences there and have many curios from that country to show. She is a very interesting and fluent speaker and tells in a personal way things which are most interesting because they pertain to everyday life.

Entertained Teachers
 Mrs. L. Schwein entertained a group of teachers from the Junior high school at dinner at her home on Church street Thursday evening. The table was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and lighted with candles, and a fine course dinner was served. The guest list included Mrs. G. N. Gray and Misses Lee, Coshaw, Clark, Norton, Grubb and Beard.

Successful Class Play
 The class play presented by the Senior high school last night, "The Arrival of Kitty," was a fine dramatic success. The high school gymnasium was filled to its utmost capacity with an appreciative audience, and the young people presenting the play acquitted themselves with great credit.

The world is filled with anarchy, rapine and murder because the people have departed from the teachings of Christ and have joined themselves to idols in the forms of false theologies and beliefs. Come and hear the Word of God, that has builded the civilization of the world, expounded.
