SUPPOSING
The house in which you are living should be sold tomorrow and you should be asked to give pos-sion within thirty days?

If you could rent a house that would suit your needs you would be indeed fortunate.

The best plan is to buy your own home while wages are good and good homes can still be bought for less than it would cost to build them. Do it now. Tomorrow, someone else may have bought the house that you wanted.

Let us show you real bargains in real estate—5-room hard finished house for $1500; 5-room bungalow for $2500; small acreage tracts that will help to reduce the H. C. L. at low prices. Come and see.

County of Jackson, State of Oregon.

Frank M. Moxon, Plaintiff, vs. Arthur Conklin, a widower; F. G.
McWilliams, A. W. Thomas and Olive E. Lemery, Defendants.

Suit in Equity to Foreclose Mortgage on Real Property.

To Arthur Conklin, F. G. McWilliams, A. W. Thomas, and Olive E.
Lemery, the above named defendants:

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You and each of you are hereby summoned and required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled suit, now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Court in and for said county within TEN days from the date of its service upon you if served within said Jackson county, but if served upon you within any other county in said state, then within TWENTY days from the date of its service upon you, and if served upon you by publication thereof, then within SIX WEEKS from the date of the first publication thereof, and if you fail to so

ROADSIDE PLANTING
OREGON AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE, Corvallis, Dec. 10.—Roadside planting in Oregon should be done systematically under the direction of the county and state and not in a haphazard fashion by individuals.

"One who knows the adaptability of the planting stock should have charge of the work," said Arthur E.
Peck, professor of landscape gardening at the college. "Some plants will thrive well in swampy land while in rocky soil they will hardly white."

"The county and state builds the roads and should have charge of the planting. Roads with beautiful scenery along them will attract the tourists through that section of the country. In many cases the natural plants of the surrounding country should be kept and the new plantings should be in keeping with the plants of the section. Roadside planting should be in keeping with the surroundings. English walnuts, for example, should not be planted along the roads in the forest."

The average property owner along country roadsides thinks of the highway as a means for traffic and does not realize the transformation which careful roadside planting would bring about, pointed out Prof. Peck. State wide activities along this line would tend to bring tourists to Oregon and would increase property values.

Domestic Science Department Conducted by
Mrs. Belle De Graf
Domestic Science Director
Sperry Flour Co.

Mrs. De Graf submits today the following recipes for the utilization of vegetables in appetizing ways:

Boiled Asparagus

Wash and scrape the asparagus and cut off the tough ends. Cook both the asparagus and the ends in rapidly boiling salted water; drain, saving the water and tough ends for cream soup. Place the asparagus on slices of toast and serve with a drawn butter or hollandaise sauce.

Stuffed Vegetables

Onions, green peppers, tomatoes and egg plant are cooked in this manner: Scald the vegetables a few minutes, then place in cold water and remove the peel of the tomatoes or onions, and rub off the skins of green peppers and egg plants with a cloth. The centers are removed and the cavities filled with a stuffing made of seasoned bread crumbs mixed with a little melted butter, or the portion removed may be chopped fine and added to the crumbs. Place a small piece of butter on top of each and bake in a hot oven. Serve plain or with a sauce.

Boiled Cabbage

Allow cabbage to soak in cold water for at least half an hour before cooking. Place in rapidly boiling water to which salt and one-fourth teaspoon of soda have been added.
Boil in an uncovered saucepan about twenty-five minutes. The cabbage should be white and thoroughly cooked at that time. Longer cooking will cause it to be tough and indigestible. Drain and serve plain or with white hollandaise or drawn butter sauce.

Scalloped Vegetables

This is also an excellent way to use left-over vegetables. Cut vegetables in slices or cubes. Butter a baking dish, arrange a layer of vegetables, season, then add a layer of soft crumbs, dotted over with a little butter. Repeat until dish is filled, having a layer of crumbs on top. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely brown.

Creamed Carrots

Cut carrots, after scraping, into slices; let boil in boiling water until tender; drain, and for one pint of carrot melt two tablespoons of butter; in it cook a teaspoon of salt, one fourth a teaspoon each of paprika and sugar; add one cup of milk and stir until boiling; then add the carrots.

Boiled Potatoes for Mashing

Wash potatoes with a small brush and peel as thin as possible, for much of the mineral salts lie next to the skin. Place in rapidly boiling water and cook until they may be pierced with a fork. Drain and shake them in the saucepan for a few moments to make them mealy. Mash well, being sure there are no lumps, and add butter and salt in proportion to the number of potatoes. Beat well, adding gradually enough scalded milk to make them creamy, and continue to beat until white and light. A potato ricer can be used instead of mashing them, then seasonings and milk can be added and the potatoes beaten until light.

Vegetables Au Gratin

Left-over vegetables are usually used, and almost any variety may be prepared in this manner: Cut vegetables into cubes or slices. Make a white sauce; butter a baking dish and arrange a layer of vegetables in it, season, then add a layer of white sauce. Repeat until dish is filled.
Cover the top with a layer of soft crumbs moistened with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven.
Cheese may be added to the white sauce.

Corn Fritters

One-half can corn; one-half cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one teaspoon salt; one-fourth teaspoon paprika; one egg. Chop corn and add dry ingredients, mixed and sifted; then add yolk of egg beaten until thick, and fold in white of egg beaten stiff. Cook on a well-greased hot griddle.

Celery in White Sauce

Wash, scrape and cut celery stalks in one-inch pieces; cook twenty minutes or until soft in boiling salted water; drain, and to two cups of celery add one cup white sauce. This is a most satisfactory way of using the
