DEATH RECORD.

From Milton Eagle Having reached the ripe old age of 83 years, Rev. Jacob P. Hastings another of the early pioneers of the Walla Walla valley and one of the first men to preach in this part of the Northwest, passed to his eternal rest at the home of his daughter Mrs. Rebecca Arthur, in Starbuck on last Tuesday. No lingering illness marked the last days of this pioneer, for death by senile decay came as a sweet relief from the cares of a life full of self sacrifice and devotion to the cause of doing good for others. For more than half a century, deceased was a minister in the Christian church, and although never occupying the Milton church as a regular appointee, he frequently spoke in this city, where he was always greeted by a large audience of sympathetic and interested hearers. Mr. Hastings was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, February 1826, where he spent the first few years of his life. When a young man he moved with his parents to Ohio, but after a few years' residence in that state the family again moved this time to Iowa. Here both his parents died and were buried, while their son was yet a mere youth. When 25 years old Mr. Hastings was married to Martha N. Graham, the couple moved shortly after their union from Iowa to Missouri. Here they lived until the year 1862 when they moved to the Walla Walla valley and settled near Valley Chapel, near the state line. On the trip across the plains they encountered the usual hardships and difficulties which so inevitably followed the steps of the early pioneers. After residing at Valley Chapel for 10 years, during which time Rev. Hastings often preached to the few settlers who then resided in this vicinity, the family moved to Garfield county, where the head of the family homesteaded a piece of government land. In the year 1890 the Hastings family came to Milton and settled on the property in South Milton which now bears its name. In 1900 Mrs. Hastings died and was buried in the City cemetery on the hill overlooking the city. To Mr. and Mrs. Hastings were born 12 children, all of whom, with the exception of four who died in infancy and one daughter, Mrs. W. W. Morris, who died in 1894, are now living. They are Enoch G. Hastings of Central Ferry, Wash.; Ephraim D. Hastings, of Milton, and Mrs. A. Morse, of Milton; Mrs. Martha Hudson, also of Milton; Mrs. Emma Hudson of Enterprise, Mrs. Artie Wilson of Enterprise, and Mrs. Rebecca Arthur, of Starbuck. Besides these there are 39 grandchildren and several great grandchildren. The remains were brought to Milton Thursday afternoon. Funeral services being held at the Christian church at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Elder C. H. Hilton, officiating. Interment took place in the family plot in the City cemetery, where the deceased was laid to rest by the side of his wife.

Rev. Hastings filed on a homestead five miles northwest of Enterprise, April 23, 1901, and after living on it five years moved to town and resided here a year.

Japalac, varnish stains, linseed oil at Burrough & Mayfield's. Miss Sadie Womack of Lostine was a guest of Enterprise relatives over Sunday.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. Daniel Boyd, Friday afternoon, March 16. Mrs. C. O. McReynolds went to LaGrande Tuesday for a week's visit with her people.

SCHOOL LAWS PASSED BY LAST LEGISLATURE

Several bills relating to the public schools were passed at the recent legislative session, the most important one increasing the minimum school year to six months, and another providing for an apportionment of $100 to each district before the per capita distribution is made. The present first apportionment is $50. The change favors the small districts. The following is a summary of new school laws: First, the Hawley bill: Every district in the state must maintain at least six months of school each year. A county court of each county must levy a tax for school purposes that will produce an amount which will aggregate at least $7 for each child school age (4 to 20 years). If a district's share of this sum does not amount to $300 (six months at $50 per month) then county court must levy upon the property of such district, a special tax large enough to produce the difference between such district apportionment of the county fund and $300; provided that such special levy does not exceed the mill tax. If the district's share of the county school fund and the amount raised by a 5-mill (special school tax) does not amount to $300, then the county court must transfer from the general county fund to the special fund for such district an amount that will equal the difference. Second, the Philpott bill: This bill makes a change in the manner of apportioning the county and state school funds. As the law now is, the county superintendent apportions the money by first giving to each district $50 and then distributing the balance according to the number of pupils in each district. This bill provides that the county school superintendent shall first give to each district $100 and then distribute the balance according to the number of children in each district. Third, the bill introduced by the Lane county delegation, providing for a county high school fund. This bill provides that a county at a general election may vote upon the question of creating a county high school fund. When such fund has been created it is placed under the control of a county high school board, consisting of members of the county court, the treasurer and the county school superintendent. Every high school in such a county that maintains a school up to the standard prescribed by the State Board of Education is entitled to receive tuition from this fund for all pupils attending such high school. The basis of the distribution is the average daily attendance during the school year. A high school shall receive not less than $40 per pupil for the first 20 and $12 per pupil for all the remaining pupils, provided that the total paid any district shall not exceed the amount paid by the district to the high school teachers. Fourth, the Dodd bill: Gives the make a partial apportionment of the money to any district upon the request of the board of directors of such district. Fifth, the Cole bill: Declares unlawful any secret societies, including fraternities and sororities, which may now or hereafter exist in any of the public schools of this state, including high schools. It makes it the duty of each school board in the state to examine into the condition of all schools under its charge and to suppress all secret societies therein. The act does not apply to the Oregon Agricultural College or to the State University. Sixth, the McArthur bill: The governor shall appoint by the first Monday in July, 1909, a board of five members, called the board of Higher Curricula. The members shall serve without pay, except traveling expenses. This board shall first meet on the first Monday in July 1909. The duty of the board shall be to determine what course of studies of departments shall not be duplicated in the higher educational institutions of Oregon. The secretary of the board shall keep a record of such determination and shall notify the governor and the secretaries of the several boards of the higher institutions of such determination. It shall be the duty of each institution to conform thereto. Any changes that are made shall become effective at the beginning of the school year following such determination. It provides that the board of Higher Curricula shall visit each of these institutions and that the board of each separate institution shall have a hearing before the board of Higher Curricula relative to any changes that may be contemplated. Seventh, the Farrell bill: This bill affects school houses by providing that the outside doors and other exits of all school buildings shall be swung and hinged that they shall open outward. These changes must be made within six months after this act takes effect.
