FRIDAY, JUNE 13, 1900.

According to the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the year ending June 30, 1900, the number of persons employed on railroads in the United States June 30, 1900, was 928,925, an increase for the year of 54,466. The operating expenses are shown to have been $856,968,999, an increase of $38,995,823. Railroad statistics are a good criterion by which to estimate the financial condition of the country. Railroads cannot make financial gains unless the commercial interests of the country are in a prosperous condition, thereby necessitating great freight and passenger traffic. The number of passengers carried during the year, in excess of the number carried the preceding year was 22,107,827. Therefore just 22,107,827 more people in the United States were financially able to travel than during the preceding year. The gross earnings of the railroads were in excess of the gross earnings of the previous year, $63,284,497, therefore the people of this country had just that much more money to spend in the interest of business and pleasure, with the railroads. The railroads are dependent for their increased profits upon the business conditions of the country. Therefore if the railroads are making money through freight and passenger service, the business interests of the country must of necessity be in a prosperous condition; and, if the business interests of the country are prosperous, the masses of the people are prosperous, or else there is nothing under the blue canopy of heaven that will make the masses of the people prosperous. No business of whatsoever magnitude can flourish unless it has the patronage of the people at large, and unless the people at large are prosperous and making money, they cannot patronize manufacturing establishments and railroads.

Bryan's platform adopted by the democrats, at the Kansas City convention July 5, 1900, we read: "We are in favor of extending the republic's influence among the nations, but believe that influence should be extended, not by force and violence, but through the persuasive power of a high and honorable example." How about the clamor set up by the promoters of the above clipping three years ago with reference to Spain? Did Bryan and his following believe then as they set forth now, in the Kansas City platform? Why, even Bryan, who is, as a matter of fact, the whole Kansas City show, even plucked up moral courage enough to go to war as a colonel. What high and honorable example has Bryan ever set forth anyway?

It is announced upon good authority that The Booth-Kelly Lumber Co., have raised the wages of common laborers at the Saginaw mills 15 per cent the last week. And still there is about 33 1/2 per cent of the common laborer of this country who forget that four and six years ago, wages were being decreased at the rate of from 10 to 15 per cent every few months, and they still cry for 16 to 1 Bryanism.

A week ago the Nugget made mention of the necessity of a cementery in this vicinity. The mention was made with the view of interesting every conservative business man and farmer in the subject. It is worthy of consideration and an effort should be put on foot to secure one.

Col. Bryan has decided to stay at home at least part of the time, during the presidential campaign. Like the mythical parrot he has learned that he "talks too d—much" for his own good.

When you see "Gimblet" please don't ask him to "cheese" it.

STOCK AND FARM.

The total rain fall in Southern Oregon, for the month of June was 2 1/2 inches.

Ten thousand pounds of wool was recently sold at Pendleton, Oregon for 12 1/2 and 13 cents.

Ed Rush commenced threshing in Umatilla county June 28. The threshing season did not open in that county last year until August 3.

It is estimated that the honey crop in and about Ashland will be short this year.

Cattle with spectacles are to be seen on the Russian steppes. The steppes are covered with snow more than six months of the year. The cows subsist on the tufts of grass which crop above the snow, and the rays of the sun on the snow are so dazzling as to cause blindness. To obviate this calamity it occurred to a kind hearted man to protect the cow's eyes in the same way as those of human beings, and he manufactured smoke colored spectacles which could be safely worn by cattle. These spectacles were a great success and are now worn by upwards of 40,000 head of cattle, who no longer suffer from the snow blindness which once caused such suffering among them.—Collier's Weekly.

MINING NOTES.

BOHEMIA

Another rich strike is reported in the Helena mine.

A rich strike of free gold was made last week in the Golden Eagle Mining Co's, mine, which promises to equal anything yet uncovered in camp.

The Helena Mining Co., contemplate extensive external improvements this season, with the view of getting the property in proper shape to continue work winter and summer without the usual shut down which has heretofore been experienced in Bohemia, owing entirely to inadequate external facilities. A saw mill will be put in operation and lumber sawed with the view of building necessary buildings, to store provisions, etc. Substantial tunnel houses will be erected and by fall the Helena will be thoroughly equipped in every sense of the word.

Up to the present time little activity outside of the usual prospect and assessment work; has marked the year for Bohemia; but now new activity; which promises to make the remainder of the season one of the best in the history of the camp, is in evidence. Prospectors and responsible mining men are now in and on their way to the diggin's, general improvement everywhere in camp is noticeable, in the matter of development work, companies are letting shifts and in another week or two the district will be as lively as an ant hill.

The gentlemen who are handling horses on the streets every day, are, no doubt, sincere and perfectly conscientious in their method of subduing the animals; but it would seem that their might be a trifle more humane way of handling them, than that used Tuesday evening.

Most any ordinary chap can eat cheese but few are good judges of the article—and occasionally you find a man who can't keep it down.

DIVIDE ITEMS.

There are rumors of a 10,000 cord contract of wood to be got out at Divide sometime in the future.

Our postoffice which was established some time ago is running pretty good now.

Wood hauling is pretty well under way.

Several residents of Divide went to Eugene on the Fourth.

Mrs. E. S. Adams accompanied by her little son arrived Monday morning from Grants Pass, and Monday Mr. and Mrs. Adams and baby "Bill" left for their summer home at the Geo. Kerr house adjacent the mines. Tuesday Mr. Adams will go to the mines to look after the Golden Eagle Mining Co's interests.

BASE BALL.

How Bohemia Played Ball With the Ramblers and Sent 'em Rambling.

The Bohemia and Rambler ball teams played nine innings on the Stouffer grounds Sunday afternoon.

The Bohemians are composed of the younger ball enthusiasts of this city, and they are now taking on ball in good shape and are beginning to play a snappy game.

The Ramblers were composed of a pick up nine composed, in most part of the old team of two seasons and more ago. While at one time the team of which the Ramblers are a remnant, was considered a crack country town team, it was demonstrated that without practice and organization, base ball, like everything else is a failure. In fact it was an off day for the Ramblers, although it can be said to their credit, after they got steadied down they greatly improved, to the extent that they white-washed the Bohemians in the sixth and eighth innings and came within one of it in the fifth. In justice to them it is also fair to state that three of the best players in the old team were absent, thus making their chances mighty slim to commence with.

A purse of $25 subscribed by the citizens, was hung, and the Bohemians had "got in and drilled" during the week, as their work demonstrated. In the first place, the pitcher, Sam Heidrick, is perhaps the best amateur pitcher in the state, and Warren McFarland a mighty clever catcher. Here they had "heads up" over the old team especially in the matter of pitcher, Wm. McQueen being absent, Tom Medley had to pitch, which was not his fort, although Mr. Medley is one of the best all-round ball players in the state.

Geo. L. Kelley, of the Washington Life Insurance Co., was chosen umpire, and he officiated in an impartial manner and proved himself thoroughly up on ball.

BIG BEAR.

Geo. Pond, while prospecting with Dave Gover and party from this city, between the Three Sisters and Diamond Peak, went up against a huge black bear. The bear was dispatched with two shots from Mr. Pond's rifle, and now Dave sports the hide on his garden fence and is telling all sorts of blood-curdling bear yarns.
