HAD TO NAME HIMSELF.

How Mr. Payne Managed to Get on a Committee.

How much embarrassment a very mall deviation from the customary paths of procedure can cause the one who makes it on the floor of the House of Representatives was illustrated one morning when Mr. Payne of New York, Republican floor leader and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, undertook to secure the appointment of a conference commit tee on a bill which the Senate had passed with slight amendments over the provision as it passed the House. To those who do not know the meth od pursued in the appointment of conference committees, the versaillity of the speaker in selecting such committees is usually surprising. All is easy, however, when the chaleman of the committee from which the bill comes complies with the practice. He simply plus a little slip of paper to the document on which is written the names of the members he desires appointed

In the case in question Mr. Payne forgot to prepare bis little slip, and affor he had secured the chanteness con sent the speaker smidenly noticed the tupme on the part of the "gentleman from New York," and with a twinkle the Sign of the Cross, Just as the in his eye he very distinctly questioned, "who would the gentleman from New York like appointed on that committee?"

Most Valued Souvenirs. One of the most beautiful of Miss Clara Barton's foreign souvenirs is a testimonial she received on the eve of ber departure for Geneva as delegate to the Red Cross International Convention in 1884 from Nathalie, then Queen of Servia. It is a massive gold cross, the body of which is red en-amel, with the Servian coat-of-arms in gold on one side and the date of their accession to the brotherhood, 1876, on the other. But the most delicate part of this compliment resides in the fact that the cross is mounted on our own red, white, and blue ribben, thus enabling Miss Barton to wear the colors of her country even when donning the badge of Servia.

A diploma creating her a member of the Servian Society came with this cross from the president of that asso-ciation, together with a letter declaring them a recognition of her services to the brotherhood and the Servian wounded during the Franco-Prussian war. Miss Barton's reply to queen is so very symbolical of the ruest republican dignity that it is transcribed here:

Her Most Execellent Majesty Nathalle, Queen of Servia,

Madam: I hasten to acknowledge the very unexpected honor conferred by your majesty in transmitting through the Servian Red Cross Soclety the diploma and beautiful decoration of that association. This recognition of the interest I have taken in measures tending to mitigate the calamities of war is pecultarly gratifying as coming from a country that, although old in history is still young in the freshness of its natural resources and the brave, hopeful hearts of its people. That their hopes may be realized in a long career of liberty and prosperity must be

This the monkey spied, but had scarcely started liberally helping himself to it when he was discovered. With load outery and the broom the lady started toward him, when the mischievous beast, knowing his minutes were numbered, hastily overturned the bowl on the table. Then rolling himself joyously in it several times from head to heels he scampered beyond her reach. During the recital of her woe, and, in fact, for the remainder of the day, the monkey scooping the sweetmeat from his body and licking his paws with glee.

worship and a roulette table. One of the "faithful" had quite recently a most ingenious idea, says the London Times. After the number of the hymn succeeding the sermon was given ha stole away, made his way to the table, and invested all he was worth on the number of the hymn. Needless to say the number turned up, and the lucky coup became the talk of the village for the rest of the week. Next Sunday the church was crammed to the door, The plous pastor was rejoiced in heart, After a powerful address he gave out "Hymn No. 27." The moment the words left his lips, to his consternation there was a rush to the door, and he was left with a faithful handful to upraise their agitated strain of praise. As for the rest, they made a bee line from the house of prayer to the house of play. We are happy to relate that their little adventure cost them very dear.

A regular customer of a certain coal company dropped into the office of the firm one morning to make a complaint, "That coal you sold me for my furnace a few weeks ago," he said, "is the worst I have had in ten years. Perhaps the com pany will give you a rehate on it." Taking a slip of paper, he wrote a few words on it and hung it on a hook.

The customer, happening to glance at the slip of paper, saw this: "G. G. Williams. Bad egg." "So I'm a bad egg, am I?" he asked, reddening with Indignation.
