Twenty years ago a man could work out in the rain all day without getting wet, but it is different now. Then it would rain in a gentle drizzle all day long, but now it pours down in torrents at times. Then we would scarcely see the sun more than two or three times in a month, now we seldom have more than a day or two without sunshine. Therefore we should try to dispel the idea that this is a rainy country, for there are many places where there is a greater rainfall during the year.
