AGED PIONEER PASSES AWAY

William Grant, a pioneer of 1844, died at his home in Dallas, September 27th, at the advanced age of sixty-seven years, death being due to creeping paralysis. He was born in Jackson county, Missouri.

Following biographical sketch is from Dallas Observer:

His first education was acquired under William Snyder, one of the pioneer teachers of Oregon, and the founder of one of the first schools ever established in Polk county. Later he completed his education in the old LaCrosse Academy, of which his father was a trustee and one of the most enthusiastic supporters.

During the years of 1861 and 1862, Mr. Grant tried his fortunes in the mines of Florence, Idaho. Returning to Oregon the latter part of the second year, he married Beatrice Aurelia Robertson, the daughter of William Robertson, who had come to Oregon in 1852.

In 1846 he was appointed deputy county clerk of Polk county, but soon resigned in order to enlist in the ranks of the Oregon volunteers for service against the Indians. He remained in the service until 1866, during which time he was elevated to the rank of lieutenant.

After leaving the military service he kept a hotel in Dallas for a short time and then moved to Linn county, where he resided for about ten years, working as a carpenter and building contractor. About 1877, he returned to Dallas, where he continued his trade until about ten years ago, when he retired from active work.

Mr. Grant was a member of the G. A. R., being a past commander of the Dallas Post. Fraternal he belonged to the Order of Odd Fellows. He was a member of the Christian church, under the auspices of which his funeral was held yesterday afternoon. The remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Mr. Grant is survived by his wife and five children: U. S. Grant, a prominent breeder of Angora goats in Polk county; Glen O., who is one of the leading carpenters and contractors of this city; N. M., who is living on the old home farm near Dallas; Beldon H., a traveling salesman, of Portland; and Viola Estelle, (Mrs. C. H. Lane Jr.), of Dallas.

Pre-eminently a man of action, Mr. Grant's whole life in Dallas has been potent for the progress and upbuilding of the city, and in his death we lose a man to whose influence many of the present valuable institutions of this city can be directly traced. As the hearse bearing his mortal remains passed through the streets of the city yesterday on its way to the final resting place, those who knew of his unceasing labors for the welfare of the commonwealth, were constrained to lift their hats in salute, as they would for the passing bier of some staunch soldier, who, having fought a "good fight" and "finished his course," had at length laid by his sword and shield to enjoy a period of slumber, the rightful respite from the hardships of life's combat.

NEWS BUDGET FROM POLK

(Polk Correspondent of Dallas Observer)
G. J. Rempel of Rickreall, recently cleared $190 from the sale of the potatoes raised in a four-acre patch.

P. G. Rempel has removed from Rickreall to Black Rock where he will be employed in the work of surveying for an extension of the railroad.

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Rempel was badly scalded in the face with hot water Sunday. However, it is thought that the injuries will not cause permanent disfigurement.

Irresponsible boys in this neighborhood have been causing much annoyance by tearing open and otherwise damaging the mail boxes along the rural delivery route. Unless such vandalism is stopped, the persons who have been most troubled purpose appealing to the authorities for the punishment of the offending parties.
