PHEASANTS WERE RELEASED
 Lane County Receives Largest Number, Linn County Next

During the last fiscal year a total of 18,885 Chinese pheasants were liberated by the Oregon State Game commission in the various counties of the state. Lane county received 2,120, Linn 2,031, Marion 1,595, Benton and Union 1,380 each, Yamhill 1,300 and Polk 1,180. Other counties where experience has shown that the birds will thrive goodly numbers were liberated. The commission now has on hand at its three farms several thousand Chinese pheasants and they are being held for breeding purposes.

Still Keeps Health—
 Wasco county is reported as being the healthiest county in Oregon. If report made to the State Board of Health are to be taken as made. For the week ending February 23 there were but seven communicable diseases reported, they being two of flu, four of smallpox and one of pneumonia.

New Style Chev. Truck—
 The Corvallis Creamery company's driver came to Maupin Tuesday at the wheel of a new style Chevrolet truck. The machine rode on six wheels, two extra ones being at the rear end. The idea of the six wheels in that the two additional ones tend to equalize the load and permit of hauling a much heavier consignment of creamery products and other freight.

Preparing for Fishing Season—
 Tom Henneghan, the town's champion fisherman, has been busy of late overhauling his fishing tackle. He has wrapped his rods, shined up his spinners, made some leaders and has even got a bunch of bait cans ready. He, evidently believes in preparedness.

Went To Grass Valley—
 Dr. W. A. Short and his crew of "Wildcats" went to Grass Valley Wednesday afternoon to play a game of basketball with the players of that town. This is the first game the local boys have played with Grass Valley and according to reports are taking on a very fast team.

The Maupin "Wildcats" have been defeated only once this season and think that they are more than a match for the Grass Valley team. Later—Our team got skinned.

Got Cheap Gas—
 R. W. Richmond and wife and Rilla Powell drove to Portland last Saturday and from there went across the river to Vancouver. At the latter place R. W. laid in a supply of gasoline, for which he was required to pay 11 cents a gallon. They returned home Monday.

After Painting Jobs—
 "Shorty" Miller has demonstrated that spring is really here. He has donned his working clothes and is now hustling painting and paper hanging jobs. Shorty slings a hefty brush and when it comes to adorning walls with paper he is there both ways from the ace.

POWER FARMING IS URGED

Labor Saving Equipment Is Key to Prosperity

Power farming will enable the farmer to find prosperity in the future, in the opinion of Dr. E. G. Nourse, of the Institute of Economics, Washington, D. C., a speaker at the 32nd annual farm and home week held under the auspices of the University of Illinois.

The farmer will be a business man, according to Dr. Nourse. He will use mechanical power to improve his business and he will become an active participant in community life with many contacts. By applying all the labor saving equipment available, and at the same time co-operating with fellow farmers in the sale of his produce and in financing his operations, the progressive farmer will be prosperous and successful.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

From The Times March 5, 1918
 R. W. McShane, a former resident of Maupin, died at Portland on February 25, death being caused by blood poison. The family had been visiting at Moxee City, Washington and while there Mr. McShane developed a sore on his face. As the sore spread he decided to go to Portland for treatment, but it was unavailing, as death quickly ended matters.
