The charts are laid out as a record of height and weight of a child from the age of one year to 18 years, giving as well the weight according to height. The chart is worth having as it will prove a permanent record of the development of the child as he grows up. Call in and see one of these handy records.

CARE OF TEETH ESSENTIAL

Dr. Stricker, With State Board of Health, So Advises

Teeth have an important task to perform for the body, and unless they are kept in condition to perform that task, the health will suffer. Good digestion depends upon well-chewed food. Chewing is easy when the teeth are sound, or at least in good repair, but when they are decayed and sore, thorough chewing being painful is avoided, and digestion is interfered with.

Further, if the decayed spots are neglected, the pulps or nerves of the teeth may become infected and abscesses at the base of the roots may develop.

Teeth infected in this way may cause very serious troubles, the effects of which may last through the entire life.

Sound teeth are one of the child's most precious possessions. The mother whose health is good and who eats the right sort of food before the child is born, usually endows the child with sound teeth with which to start life. This is the first and perhaps the most important step.

Not only before birth does food influence the structure of teeth, but after birth as well. Therefore bottle-fed babies must be given food containing the lime salts and vitamins in order to produce teeth of the proper size and density. Of course, the breast-fed baby gets the vitamins from the mother. If, therefore, the mother is healthy and eats a properly balanced diet, the baby teeth get a good start.

The next important step is the care of the first teeth. The first teeth need as much care as the second set. If any of the first teeth are lost, the jaws do not develop normally and the second teeth are likely to be irregularly placed, and are, as a result more subject to decay. They are just as likely to become infected as the second set are. Therefore, dental attention to cavities is as important with the first as with the second teeth.

First Load of Wheat

To Elmer Snodgrass goes the honor of having hauled the first load of the 1930 crop of wheat to the Maupin market. The grain was grown on the Lester McCorkle ranch and was as nice and plump as any ever grown in this section. Lester began his wheat harvest on Monday the day Elmer brought the load to town.

Installed Electric Cooker

John Wittman continues to effect needed improvements at the hotel Kelly. His latest was the installation of a large electric hot point cooker in the kitchen, it being designed for quick service cooking. The Maupin Power company made the installation.

Pick Ups About Town

picked up around town... Mustard and hot cakes. Sandwiches and table dancing. A combination hard to digest. One night last week a coterie of convivial souls gathered at a popular Maupin eating house and during the evening hilarity grew with the passing of time. One of the party evidently objected to the quality of sandwiches served to another. He grabbed the edibles, made a mash of them, then proceeded to smear the mess onto the walls. Result, a very mad proprietor and a mess that required much patience and hard work to eradicate. The end of the party came when one member did a hootchie-kootchie on the table. A riotous ending to a riotous time.

A certain Maupin lady was attacked with a bad case of shingles early in the summer. Recently she went to The Dalles for a concluding treatment. Upon being asked how she liked shingles, replied that so far as she is concerned she does not like them and will having nothing to do with such even if they were to be placed on her roof. And that's that.

George Morris likes his eats. His delight it to sit down to a well filled table holding up a well cooked meal. Last Sunday he went to Portland with his family. Wandering about town he ran across a restaurant and looking inside discovered his sister, Mrs. Hattie Davdson, running the place, which is known as the Roseland cafe, located at the corner of Twelfth and Yamhill streets. George there filled up on the best on the market. He says Mrs. Davidson invites all Maupin friends to call on her when in the big town.

The annual gathering of the Driver brothers and the picnic held by the Wamic community marks an epoch in the history of this section. The inaugurators of the yearly picnic, the Drivers, are well known in this part of Oregon. At the picnic were five brothers, ranging in age from 83 years down to 71, each hale and hearty and seemingly good for many more years of activity. Here's to the Driver brothers.
