PLATFORMS OF 1904.

The democrats are preparing to make exactly the same kind of fight they made in 1892, exactly the same issues. They say there can be no compromise on the tariff question. The question then arises, can the republicans go into the campaign with any prospect of success if they concede that part of the democratic contention is correct? Are campaigns fought and won on half-breed creeds?

To show the position in which the two parties would find themselves in case Governor Cummins' idea is adopted, we quote from Mr. Chas. S. Hamlin, of Boston, who was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under President Cleveland. Mr. Hamlin spoke at the Samuel J. Tilden banquet recently held in New York. He gave an outline of what he called "the great questions of the coming Presidential contest." He said the first attack should be upon the foreign policies of the administration; the second upon the treatment of trusts and monopolies; third, tariff reform; fourth, economy in government administration. Then Mr. Hamlin took up the third plank in his political creed and gave his entire attention to "tariff reform for the purpose of inviting foreign competition to take the place of that of domestic competition," which, he said, is being destroyed. We quote Mr. Hamlin's words upon the subject of the tariff, as follows:

"I believe the first step should be radically to review our system of tariff taxation to the end that foreign competition may come in to take the place of that domestic competition which is being destroyed. Then by examining the effect of foreign competition we shall soon find what additional legislation is needed to control monopolies. Meanwhile the Federal Government should enforce existing law and provide new legislation to secure information as to what the combinations are doing. If the above is to be the democratic creed, in what respect does it differ from Iowa progressive republican-ism?"

Some of our Iowa republicans say that domestic competition has been destroyed, and that foreign competition must come in to take the place of domestic competition, and that is exactly what Mr. Hamlin says. How are the "progressive republicans" of Iowa to make a campaign against Mr. Hamlin's creed? The fight in this country next year will be for or against the tariff as a means of protecting American factories and their working men. There can be no half-way ground.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarlan, Bentonville, Va., serves as example. He writes: "I had bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all lung and throat troubles, consumption, pneumonia and grip. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free, regular sizes 50c and $1.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.) In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889 the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. The one little bottle worked a complete cure and he could not help but feel grateful. The reason for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by Delta Drug Store.

A NEW LUNCH RELISH.

A little ad. in The Salem Journal, announcing a free lunch nearly caused a riot last Friday afternoon at the Bill Anderson saloon in Salem. He announced a free lunch, and quite a crowd of the devotees of potato salad and cold sliced horse meat congregated to see what the old eccentric had to offer, as he had not offered any free lunches since a man gorged himself to death on free turkey and Tom-and-Jerry a few years ago on Thanksgiving day.

It was a hot surprise, sure enough. A big dishpan was filled to the brim with lettuce, cold slaw and other vegetables with dressing, and in the midst was a grinning scull, fresh from the dissecting room of some medical college, shreds of flesh hanging to the bone, and the partly open jaws disclosing the tongue still in the head.

Many who saw the dish were compelled to turn away, and run out for fresh air. Constable Lewis going home unable to eat his dinner, and losing what he had partaken. Piled all around the chef d'oeuvre were sandwiches, which the hungriest had not the hardihood to touch, and the whole lunch went untasted so far as the crowds were concerned. There was some talk of having Bill Anderson arrested for cruelty to the free lunch fraternity, his ad raising mouth watering expectations that were disappointing to a maddening degree. The skull is believed to have been that of a deceased convict, who was turned over to the medical students and preserved in alcohol.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for sick and nervous headache. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25 cents, money back if not cured. Sold by All Druggists.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take. It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year. For sale by Delta Drug Store.

THE POPULISTS AND ROOSEVELT.

The assertion of a prominent Kansas Populist that he and the greater portion of his element in his state will support Roosevelt in 1904 is bothering some of the democratic papers. What do those papers think the populists ought to do? Most of them in Kansas and the other republican states of the west were drawn from the republican party. Now that their party and the issues which produced it are dead it is natural that they should return to their original affiliation.

Moreover, the populists of Kansas and other states of the west have another reason for rejoining the republican party. They see that the republicans in the past year have done more against the trusts than the democrats could do in a decade if they had the whole of the machinery of the government under their control. The democrats talk against the trusts, but they did not attempt to do anything against them when they had supreme control of the government in the early part of Cleveland's second term. They would have done nothing against the trusts if they had been in power uninterruptedly until today. The leaders of the democracy know this. So do the trusts.

Of course, the populists of Kansas and all the rest of the states of the west will shout for Roosevelt in 1904. On the great issues of the day, the tariff, the trusts and national expansion, the western populists are on the side of the republican party, and always were. Free silver is as dead as slavery. The issue of greenbackism and federal loans on deposits of farm stock is ancient history. There is no place for the populists of the prairie states to go now except into the republican party. Colorado, Montana, Nebraska and all the rest of the states of the mountain and prairie region which recently shouted for Bryan are stalwart republican commonwealths again, and will remain so. Kansas gave 80,000 plurality to Harrison in 1888. Her margin for Roosevelt in 1904 will be very little, if at all, below that mark. —Globe Democrat.

Worst of all Experiences.

Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Mewson, Decatur, Ala. "For three years," she writes, "I endured insufferable pain from indigestion, stomach and bowel trouble. Death seemed inevitable when doctors and all remedies failed. At length I was induced to try Electric Bitters and the result was miraculous. I improved at once and now I'm completely recovered." For liver, kidney, stomach and bowel troubles, Electric Bitters is the only medicine. Only 50c. Its guaranteed by All Druggists.

GIVING UP SILVER.

E. Benjamin Andrews in 1896 and 1900 was, on the 16 to 1 issue, more Bryanite than Bryan. But Andrews now throws up his hands. He says that he was mistaken in those years, and that he has renounced the beliefs that he held then. "From the advice of the greatest geologists both in this country and in Europe, and the opinion of the practical miners of Colorado, whom I saw when I was in Colorado in 1893, I believed the greatest outputs of gold were past. I am willing to admit that it was an astounding mistake, and that I was in great and inexcusable error. I now believe the present enormous output of gold will continue."

This is Andrews' confession in 1903. And Andrews is chancellor of the university of Nebraska. But this is a safe concession to make even there. Bryan's home has joined the overwhelming majority of the other states in renouncing and denouncing Bryan. There are no more favors for him in his residence state. On a straight Bryanite issue he would get 20,000 votes in the rear in an election in Nebraska in 1903. On that sort of an issue he would undoubtedly be 30,000 votes behind the republicans in 1904. Nevada is the only state, outside of a few in the South, which has any aid and comfort for Bryan now, and the chances are that Nevada will be republican next year.

All of this is the occurrence of the expected. The thing which has taken place is the very thing that four out of five of the level-headed men in the country predicted in 1896. There never was any chance for Bryanism to succeed. Its first canvass was its strongest. If there were to be a third canvass it would be beaten worse even than it was in the second canvass. The only salvation open to the Bryanite lies through the door of repentance and abjuration. Andrews has traveled that road. So must every other Bryan man who wants to have a hereafter. Bryan himself will stick to Bryanism until after 1904, but he will then have to submit to the inevitable. It is so with all adherents of lost, and justly lost causes. Slavery's champions long ago fled hard, but they died just the same. —Globe-Democrat.

Driven to Desperation.

Living at an out of the way place, remote from civilization, a family is often driven to desperation in case of accident, resulting in burns, cuts, wounds, ulcers, etc. Lay in a supply of Backen's Arnica salve. It's the best on earth. 25c at All Druggists.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are just what you need when you have no appetite, feel dull after eating and wake up with a bad taste in your mouth. They will improve your appetite, cleanse and invigorate your stomach and give you a relish for your food. For sale by Delta Drug Store.

LAND MONOPOLIES.

An Indian Territory correspondent writes to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat touching land monopolies and combines of capital. Industrial combines are not out of place, as we have not enough men to do business for us who want to work; that is, men with enough capital of their own, without putting theirs and some other man's capital together. We have but one trust that hurts us, and that is the land trust. We need more farmers, but can't get them. Why? Because the land is monopolized by a set of men who won't work and they charge such a rent a man cannot farm this land and live and have the necessities of life. Why? Because, if you don't keep up the fences around the farm you rent, barns, gates, roads and everything in good shape, the land king tells you he don't want you next year unless you will do this, as Mr. Jones or Mr. Smith wants the place and will do all those things for him. It requires all your spare time, so you get tired trying to farm and move to town. Who do you rent your house from? You go to some land agent, and he rents you a house for $8 a month, and nine times out of ten the man who owned the farm you have just left owns the house you have just rented.

Kind editors and readers, think of this and let the people corner everything else if they want to, but give us equal rights on land, just that alone, and our children will have food when we are gone.

The farmer needs all these so-called combines. Why? Because it gives him higher prices on produce, on cattle, hogs, horses, chickens, eggs, butter and everything that is raised on the farm; in fact everything that is handled by the farmer. We need those moneyed men to keep the wheels of commerce rolling. We need industry of all kinds. George W. Riley of Anas, Mo., says: "Less combines and more business men." Now think, good reader, and see if you can't agree with me on this subject. I say, give us a law that will protect our land from being gobbled up by lazy men. Give us a law that will protect the weak minded from disposing of their home and leaving their children destitute and homeless. It is a sure thing, we need the manufacturer; we need the porkhouse; we need the cannery factory, and every kind of industry we have. We need all of our industry and more; we need our moneyed friend; we need higher prices; we need good wages, and we need land to farm, but the day is not far off when the so-called farmer will have to pay for a lot of lay [his bones after he is dead].

A RECIPE FOR BEAUTY.

A young woman who is working for a living writes The Journal for a recipe to preserve her beauty, and to succeed in life, in the same communication. Well, here goes, and we are giving you a beauty receipt. Go to bed early, and read a good romance on retiring, that takes your thoughts off your business, your family, your cares, and let you drop into sweet sleep with your mind freed from the worries of the day. Do not let any one provoke you. Let your heart go out in good will toward all, and bring the world your best. Do not do drudgery at the shop that a cheaper hand can do just as well, but show them patiently and kindly how to do it. Eat what you enjoy to your heart's content, but no great variety, and as plain as possible. Live on a high plane of conduct, and with all the faith of a child. Think not of the things which perish, but lay up the treasures that endure forever—good thoughts and good friends—good acts and good impulses, and you shall be radiant and happy and possess the youth that perishes not. Dress beautifully, richly and yet without affectation. Give your body all the freedom possible and take several hours exercise each day in the open air. Do not listen to mean things about others and say only good things yourself. Do not take long wearing useless bicycle rides or stand anywhere and let a stiff wind blow on you. Use no stimulant unless it be a little coffee for breakfast and take a bath every morning, at least for the hands, face and feet, in cold water. Cultivate music and good company, and go to see some outdoor sports and occasionally a good play. Keep no diary and do not worry about the weather or what other people say about you. Both are equally changeable and beyond your control. Honor thy father and mother and be loyal to those who are dependent upon you for good behavior.

"I have been troubled for some time with indigestion and sour stomach," says Mrs. Sarah W. Curtis, of Lee, Mass., "and have been taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets which have helped me very much so that now I can eat many things that before I could not." If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these tablets and get well? For sale by Delta Drug Store.

A BETTER RECORD IS DESIRED.

Missouri has fallen into disgraceful hands. Both St. Louis and the state are given over to corruption and bribery, giving and receiving is all but open. The city and state are democratic by large majorities, and the taint of rottenness attaches to the party, but all the members of the democratic organization are not putrid and though they have to hold their noses because of the stench, they do so with one hand while with the other they seek to put the vilest from them. At a meeting of the Jackson Democratic Club held in Kansas City, Mo., May 25th, resolutions were introduced bearing upon the management of the party. Former Representative Cardwell, vice president of the club, was in the chair.

Speaking to the resolutions offered, Chairman Cardwell said:

"It is with regret that we find it necessary to take knowledge of the rottenness at headquarters. However, our only way to victory is through defeat. The party has an old man of the sea on its back. We can only get safely home again by shaking him off. There is no gain saying the fact that we are being led by men who can lay no possible claim to political respectability and it will be the effort of this club, limited in its sphere, no doubt, to inaugurate or join any 'good government' movement which will give promise of perpetuating democracy, though it cost us every man mentioned in the official list of the state committee, the St. Louis excise commissioner's office or the legislature."

The resolutions following were adopted unanimously:

Whereas, it is evident and apparent, in view of the recent revelations that the leaders and those in control of the machinery of the democratic party of the great state of Missouri have become base and corrupt; that the administration of the government of the state is grasped in the clothes of a debased and conscienceless ring of rapacious bootlickers, who have trailed the fair name of the state in the dust of dishonor and shame and prostituted their high official capacities for their own selfish gain; have sandbagged and blackmailed the various business interests of the state; have put up and hawked and bartered legislation to the highest bidder and by their corrupt practices have robbed and pilfered a long-suffering and liberty-loving people, placing unjust burdens upon those who refuse to respond to their infamous demands and to pay tribute to their damnable and rapacious lust; and

Whereas, Two honored citizens of this state, filling high official positions by the grace of the democratic party, viz., the Hon. Edward C. Crow, attorney general of the great state of Missouri, have dared to perform their sworn duty by bringing these high criminals to justice in the face of intimidations and threats, and whose untiring efforts have already borne much fruit in that direction; therefore, be it Resolved by the Jackson club of Kansas City. That the members of said club heartily indorse the noble course of these courageous men and urge them on in their glorious efforts to clear the political atmosphere of the state and purge the democratic party of these political plundering pirates and to read them out of the democratic party by putting stripes of infamy upon their ignoble backs befitting their nefarious crimes, to the end that the state may be rid of this contemptible ring, this "corrupt crew of crime-committing cormorants" that the black wings of rapine and greed that have for a long time hovered around our state capitol-like so many craven vultures may be driven to their hiding places to return no more; that honest government may again prevail and the state be redeemed from the clutches of this ignominious gang of brigands.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

The Coffee Club, auxiliary to the Corvallis Fire Department, last week celebrated the 20th anniversary of its organization.

The stockmen under the foothills of the Coast range in Yamhill county have commenced driving stock into the mountains, there to feed on the range during the summer.

The Northwest Y. M. C. A. is in full attendance at their annual convention, this year at Gearhard Park near Astoria. About 90 members are present 75 or 80 of whom are delegates from the different parts of the state.

There is some talk of closing the locks of the Yamhill river at Lafayette. The improvement seems not to have revolutionized the transportation of freight out of Yamhill county. There is not traffic enough to justify maintaining the locks.

The lumber strike in Portland seems to be broken, at least lumber is available and building is very active. All are at work and there will be no more strikes 'till next spring. The strike seems to have been a failure.

The farmers around Sheridan are forming a wool pool to be placed in the Polk county pool. They expect to have about 100,000 pounds of wool in the pool from this place. The success of the mohair pool encourages farmers to try their wool in the pool. —Sheridan Sun.

Gas Thompson, a 16 year old boy, was arrested in Astoria last Saturday on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of Victor Bergmann's store at Seaside. Chas. Roach his companion in crime hurriedly left town before he was arrested. Other similar crimes are charged to the same gang.

A project is exploiting to build a railroad between Junction City in Lane county to Corvallis in Benton, a distance of twenty four miles or perhaps the curves will increase the length to thirty miles. Local people are handling the matter and hope to interest New York capitalists.

The Alfred A. Aya, who on examination last week was admitted by the Supreme Court to practice law in the State Court turns out not to be a Japanese, but just a grade Arab. He is well posted thought and will be able to interpret and apply the laws quite as well as would a Jap.

The White Island Seining Company ground, near Cathlamet, have begun operations. The catch has been averaging, so far, a ton of fish per day, which leaves quite a fair profit above expenses. The catch consists of about half chinook, and the rest blue-backs and steel-heads. The chinooks bring about five and six cents per pound, blue backs, four cents, and steel-heads, three cents per pound.

The Salem wood market has been souring for two or three years. This spring the price is five dollars per cord for fir cord wood out of big timber. Now that the Lane county monopoly, the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company has gone into that market and delivers slab-wood at the Salem railroad station for $1.95 per cord. The insane asylum gets 3,000 cords and the woolen mills 1,000. It is said that the company has a million cords.

Jones & Adams will start up their sawmill on the Nestucca in a short time. They have secured some 15,000,000 feet of timber and are negotiating for as much more, and have purchased a donkey engine to be used in logging. This is the only piece of machinery of its kind ever brought to a Yamhill county logging camp, and will be quite a novelty. It is expected to arrive in a few days. —McMinnville Reporter.

The Umpqua Valley Oil Company, of Douglas Co., has abandoned the old well and will try another. The old well was down about 1,700 feet, and was given up because it was practically useless to try to do any thing with so much lost iron and stuff in it which could not be got out. A contract has been let to Lloyd Smith to dig a new well and he, with Will Hudson, has begun operations. The well is to be put down 20,000 feet. Everything has had to be moved but a short distance as the new experiment will only be 12 feet from the old. All but 300 feet of the iron casing was taken out of the old well. Mr. Smith is confident that he will find oil within the 2,000 feet. —Myrtle Creek Mail.
