

Sales And Service

The sale of Ford cars is greater today and production is being increased to manufacture at least 6,000 cars daily. That's some production.

Our service and repair department is keeping step with this increased sales and manufacture of Ford cars. We are keeping it up to the highest standard possible through the installation of modern equipment and the employment of skilled mechanics.

If you want one of those popular Fords, we can sell it to you; or if yours needs any repairs our repair department can take care of you to your satisfaction. That's our sales and service.

EAST AND WEST TO SETTLE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

East may be east and west be west as the poet said, but "Never the twain shall meet" is a mistake. The west will meet the east in a national high school football championship game at Corvallis on New Year's day.

The Toledo Ohio school will be the east in this struggle, and Corvallis high the west. The Toledo team has triumphed over the "far east" America and the mid-west, and three years ago played a tie game with the Aberdeen, Wash. school.

Corvallis has won the championship of the Willamette valley three times in the last four years, and won all its games this year with a total of 282 points to 7 by all its opponents combined. Toledo managers elected this team because they consider Corvallis representative of football at its best on the coast, because they could use the agricultural college field, stadium, armory and gymnasium, because they wanted to strike as near the center of population as possible, and because, their coach being an old Whitman grad, they wanted to keep as close to Walla Walla as possible.

The college stadium, and covered bleachers built by the students, will seat 10,000 persons, and if that is not enough the open bleachers will care for half as many more.

The armory, to be used for practice, is almost large enough to play a regulation football game in.

The gymnasium with its showers and great swimming pool will serve the health and pleasure of the easterners.

A $5000 guarantee fund was put up by the Corvallis business men. Many thousands of spectators from Portland and the rest of the state are expected to witness this east-west test.

Internal Revenue
The internal revenue bureau in the fiscal year 1922 collected $3,197,451,083, compared with $4,595,357,061 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921, a decrease of $1,397,905,978, or 30 per cent.

Income and profits tax collections totaled $2,086,918,464 compared with $3,228,137,673 for 1921, a decrease of $1,141,219,208 or 35 per cent. Miscellaneous collections aggregated $1,110,532,618, compared with $1,367,219,388 for 1921, a decrease of $250,686,770, or 19 per cent. Principal decreases in miscellaneous taxes were: Estates, $14,624,414; distilled spirits, $37,034,714; transportation, $102,834,685; insurance, $2,136,890; excise taxes, $55,003,803; stamp taxes, $13,668,528 non-alcoholic beverages, $25,171,688, and admissions to theaters etc, $15,890,061. The decrease from these sources was offset to the extent of $15,539,998 by increases in collections from tobacco manufacturers.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Harvesting of the crops of the district was practically completed during November, permitting a preliminary estimate of the year's operations in agriculture. The acreage planted to crops in 1922 was slightly smaller than in the previous year and on the whole crops were below those of 1921. But crops were raised with a minimum of outlay for labor and materials, and the prices of farm products, with the exception of potatoes, rice, apples, raisins and hops, are now uniformly above those of a year ago, so that in many parts of the district the margin of return to the farmer has increased during the past year. Banks in the country districts, instead of expanding their borrowings from the federal reserve bank throughout the harvesting and marketing period, have been steadily reducing them from a total of $34,000,000 on August 2 to $18,000,000 on December 6, a decrease of 47 per cent.

Commercial loans of reporting member banks in the principal cities of the district, on the other hand have increased with the acceleration of business and industry during recent months. On December 6, commercial loans of 86 reporting banks stood at $760,000,000, 7 per cent above the low point of June 28, 1922. This increase of $48,000,000 was accompanied by a smaller increase of $22,000,000 in the borrowings of these city banks from the reserve bank. Investments of the same banks did not decline during the period but increased by $17,000,000. Business, both at retail and at wholesale, was notably more active during November, 1922, than during November, 1921. Department store sales increased 14.5 per cent in value compared with last year, and exceeded sales during November of 1920 and 1919. All lines of wholesale trade reported increases in the value of sales during November, 1922, compared with November, 1921. The increase was over 10 per cent in nine of the ten reporting lines, and in dry goods, furniture, groceries, hardware, shoes and stationery it was over 15 per cent. Debts to individual accounts in the banks of the district, omitting figures for San Francisco, where a decline of 2.9 per cent occurred, were 14.6 per cent larger during November, 1922, than during November, 1921. Business failures, although greater in number, were smaller in amount of liabilities than in the previous month or the same month a year ago. Liabilities of failures during November, 1922, were 35.5 per cent less than during November, 1921.

The lumber industry operated at normal capacity during November. The autumn market for lumber continued active longer than is customary and mills have announced that the usual winter shut-down will be brief. Production of the principal metals of the district is growing steadily. The improvement in the statistical position of copper has been noteworthy.

Industrial construction during the first eleven months of 1922 has been greater in value and volume than during the whole year 1921 according to figures assembled for seven large cities in the district. There was a seasonal decline in general building activity during November compared with October but present construction projects exceed those of a year ago both in number and value. Seasonal decreases in employment have been general throughout the district but the amount of involuntary employment is relatively small.

Price movements during November were favorable to the majority of producers in this district, advances in the prices of many agricultural products greatly increasing the exchange value of the district's crops. The general price level, as shown by the index numbers of the United States department of labor rose from 154 to 156 during the month, the price level in 1913 being taken as 100.

GRADING FARM PRODUCE IS STEP IN MARKETING

Grain, hay and potato standards are of great interest to Oregon farmers as an important step in orderly marketing, especially cooperatively. These standards and how to apply them will be taught by instruction and practice at the farm crops course for farmers at the college Jan. 2—March 17.

Certified potato seed production, good potato storage, production of hay and pasture seed, newest method in growing the big vetches, starting the clover crop and getting an alfalfa stand in western Oregon, are other items to be covered.

GOOD CORN GROWERS

At the Salem corn show last week A. E. Hughes of Woodburn captured first prize for the best 50 ears of white dent, the second going to his son, Harley Hughes. The third prize was awarded to another son, Harry Hughes. The sons are attending the O. A. C. The prizes on ten ears of white dent were A. E. Hughes 1st, Harley Hughes 2nd, Harry Hughes 3rd; on ten ears any other, Harry Hughes 1st, Harley Hughes 2nd, A. E. Hughes 3rd; 50 ears any other dent, Harry Hughes 1st, Harley Hughes 2nd, A. E. Hughes 3rd.—Woodburn Independent.

DRAINAGE OF WET LANDS MUST LEAD IMPROVEMENT

It is well known among agricultural leaders of western Oregon that drainage of the wet lands is an absolute necessity before extensive agricultural development can progress as it should.

According to reports from members of the Oregon Clay Worker's association, 1,593,500 feet of tile was sold in 1921 for farm drainage purposes. Under average condition this would serve 2000 acres or more, according to the soil type drained. Any increase in drained acreage can be figured as an asset to the community, but if the work is continued at this rate it would take 375 years to drain the 750,000 acres of land needing draining in the Willamette valley alone. It is assumed that the concrete tile used in farm drainage was offset by clay tile used for road and basement drainage.

The Oregon experiment station has carried on experimental work which has shown the most economical method of drainage for various soil types. The extension service has provided a soils specialist who devotes most of his time in the drainage season in assisting groups of farmers to work out plans for drainage systems and conducting demonstrations showing proper methods, grades, and depths for laying tile.

Requests for drainage assistance should be sent to the local county agent, or if none in the county where is desired, to the O. A. C. Extension service, Corvallis.

HOW JAPAN GREETES NEW YEAR

The oriental methods of greeting the New Year differ greatly from ours. In Japan, as well as in other oriental countries, special performances are given in the theatres.

In the temples and shrines priests and attendants entertain the people with special dances. The Kagura, or Sacred Dance With Music, is the favorite, for while it is being given prayers are offered for the continued happiness of the nation during the coming year. This very old dance is performed by young girls, while the priests are the musicians. All are in appropriate costume.

Another ceremonial, which has been handed down for centuries, is the Shu-Sai, or dance of the Ancestral Sanctuary. This is given within the palace by the imperial family on January 3, and it celebrates the founding of the imperial house, centuries ago.

SPORTSMANSHIP THEME OF 'THUNDERCLAP'

The local screen has a big thrilling William Fox drama of the sporting and gaming world in "Thunderclap," which opens at the Baker Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, January 1 and 2.

Reports that come in advance state that some of the most daring and thrilling scenes ever recorded by the motion camera have been taken for this spectacular picture.

A notable cast including Mary Carr and Violet Mersereau interpret the story.
