County Recorder's Office

The receipts of the county recorder's office totalled $387.65 for the month of November and $467.65 for the month of October.

Probate Matters

The estate of Isaac Pritchett who died on Nov. 28 in this county, left an estate valued at more than $5,500.
Mrs. Dora A. Kidder of Carlton is administratrix of the estate.

FARM POINTERS

Purchasing baby chicks from a reliable brooder is one of the cheapest and best ways of getting started in the poultry business. Of course one should have adequate brooders and houses to rear the chicks, as well as a knowledge of brooding in order that normal, well grown pullets be made ready for the laying house in the fall.

Making preparations for adequate spraying for apple scab control, so that the application may be made as soon as the winter buds begin to unfold is very advisable, as 1923 is liable to be a bad year for scab in western Oregon. This should be followed up at the right intervals to get results. Where condition of the soil will permit the old leaves of last year should be plowed under, since when left on the surface they produce abundantly the scab spores which start the disease off on the unfolding leaves and blossoms in the spring.—

Alfalfa Plantings Increase

Considerable alfalfa will probably be planted on the river bottom and other warm, well drained soils of western Oregon next April and May.
It is a good plan to secure the seed of the genuine Grimm alfalfa before stocks are depleted and to anticipate needs for landplaster which usually helps in getting a stand of alfalfa.
The Grimm alfalfa seed is usually planted at about 15 pounds an acre.
This amount may seem excessive to experienced alfalfa growers but for those who are beginning in alfalfa culture and who often sow the seed too deep, it is usually necessary to sow a slight excess of seed. Inoculating material may be had at 25 cents an acre from the department of bacteriology. Landplaster is usually applied at about 50 to 75 pounds an acre to the land that is to be planted to alfalfa.

Several farmers growing potatoes on Weston mountain this year got a 12 1/2% increase in yield by using landplaster on the cut potatoes. This treatment appears to preserve the seed pieces in the soil and is especially effective in rather cold, damp soils where sprouting is slow.

Experiments at the station at Corvallis have shown that hay put into storage in the summer months increased several pounds per bale during the winter and usually reaches its maximum in February or March.
It takes up moisture from the moist air and the bales are considerably heavier at mid-winter than they are at mid-summer. The hay generally goes back to nearly its original weight the following summer.

Grading Means Money

Grain grading and the grading of other crops will be a special feature of the farm crops work of the winter short course at the agriculture college. This work will briefly review the development of grades and standards and considerable time will be devoted to the study of the standards themselves and how to apply them. The principles of grading grain, hay and potatoes will be outlined and several laboratory periods will be devoted to actual grading work. This will be but a part of the general farm crops program which includes some of the most important phases of grain, seed, forage and potato production.

Certified Potatoes—Grow 'Em

How can certified seed potatoes be produced? This question coming from all sections of the state will be answered during part of the farm crops work given in the winter short course next January. The agricultural college has been encouraging the production of better kinds of potatoes and there will be a series of lectures showing how to do this work. Special emphasis will be placed on the control of troublesome diseases.

Potato Storage Easy

Many farmers are handicapped by lack of storage facilities for their potatoes. Believing that an expensive storage place is essential they frequently do not provide storage when in many instances it could be made very conveniently out of materials already at hand. The potato storage problem as well as the grading and marketing of potatoes will be a feature of the crop work in the winter short course at the agricultural college next January.
