Let's Clean Up.

Bend's business men and Bend people are actively engaged in a campaign of publicity, the object of which is to keep the advantages of this place before prospective home-seekers and investors, thus inducing them either to settle here and help in the growth of the town or to invest their money in this section and assist just that much in the development of this section. As a result of this publicity and the attention Bend is receiving due to railroad construction, many people are coming here and the town is full of strangers all the time. What is the impression they receive regarding the town?

It's a very poor impression if their judgment depended solely on the appearance of some of our streets and alleys. Littered with scraps of boards, tin cans, baling wire, waste paper, etc., a few of our alleys—and to our shame, parts of our streets—present a most untidy and unkempt appearance. Everybody knows this should not be. This refuse matter should be kept cleaned up. In the first place, it should never be allowed to accumulate. There is no legitimate excuse for it, and the proper thing to do is for everyone to get out and have a housecleaning day. Then after the refuse is disposed of, do not let it accumulate again.

There are a few simple rules which, if everyone followed, would keep the town in a very respectable condition. First and foremost is this, waste paper should NEVER be swept out of your place of business or thrown carelessly into the street there to lodge in some corner and litter the town. Burn your waste paper. As you walk down the street DON'T toss to one side an old letter or envelope. Burn it instead when you reach your place of business or your home.

If you are building an addition to your store or putting up any sort of structure, clean up the scraps of boards, shavings, etc. when the job is finished. Don't let your boys, or someone else's boys, carry the scraps into the street and drop them there.

Don't litter up your back yard and alley promiscuously with tin cans, ashes, old shoes, etc. Have one particular place for a rubbish heap and see that all rubbish goes into it. Then have the heap either burned or hauled away at regular intervals. Some yards and alleys in this town are a disgrace to the owners and the town in general.

If you fall over a piece of baling wire in the street, pick it up and put it where it belongs. Ditto with boards, tin cans and bottles.

Don't make of your sidewalk a warehouse. Move your surplus merchandise into the rear of your store.

When unpacking goods before your store, see to it that paper and pieces of broken boxes are not left in the street.

The city officials can help in this good work. Let them have a half dozen or more large cans made and put on the corners at least in the business section. On these cans have a suitable notice painted, such as for instance: "Help keep your city clean. Put your waste paper in here." Then have the cans emptied whenever necessary.

Take a little pride in the appearance of your town and go out of your way a little, if necessary, to keep it clean. It is all well and good to have a cleaning up day once a year, but what would be much better is for each person to see that his premises are in a tidy condition all the time.

The general appearance of a town exerts a powerful influence on a stranger on his first visit to the place. If he sees clean streets and alleys, he is impressed with the tidiness of the town and the general air of prosperity. If he finds good schools, pure water, a healthful climate, and a general spirit of push and progressiveness, he will very often say to himself this is where I will cast in my lot and make my home. If he sees dirty and unkempt streets, he will, nine times out of ten, conclude that the entire spirit of the town is in keeping with the appearance of the streets, and his stay in that town will be short. Bend has all of the attractive features mentioned and it may have clean streets if the citizens will only take a proper degree of carefulness with their refuse.

During the past week, Aldridge & Turpin and L. A. Brandenburg have cleaned up around their places of business, and Hugh O'Kane has improved matters to no small degree around the Hotel Bend. How many of our merchants and citizens will continue this good work?

We are advertising Bend and spending our good money. It is money well spent. But let us put our town in a spink and spank condition of cleanliness and have something to show the visitors when they get here.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

John L. Spoo has returned from the Valley and report has it that he will attempt to repurchase the saw mill from the Laidlaw Banking & Trust Co. and put it in operation.—Chronicle Union, Oregon, has a flour and feed mill with a payroll of $200 a week. An industry like this, that manufactures local agricultural products cannot be too greatly encouraged locally.

A man and his wife and child passed through Burns last week en route to Lakeview in an auto, having driven all the way from south central Kansas in an 18-horse power Buick. They were interested in the land drawing at Lakeview.

A New York firm has contracted the entire crop of Hood river valley and Mosier apples at $2.50 per box. As the total crop will run up to about 150 car loads the contract will put about $200,000 into the pockets of the apple growers in the two districts.

Word was received yesterday that Charles Zell, the oldest son of Peter Zell, fell from a 70-foot bridge near Chico, Cal., and was killed. No further particulars have been received. Charles Zell was a carpenter, and was well known in Crook county.—Prineville Journal.

Robert Horner was the victim of an accident last week which might have proven very serious. He, in company with several other lads, was on a camping trip up the river and in firing a shot the gun barrel burst and Robert received a very painful powder burn and a slight flesh wound upon the arm.—Chronicle.

It will be noticed that in the coming horse show in Portland some of the finest animals in the entire country will be exhibited. No more useful industry to the state exists than the breeding of good horses. In some of the Canadian and Australian states horses are not taxed, and breeding horses are purchased by the governments for the improvement of the animals raised by farmers. Would it not be well for Oregon if we encouraged the importation and breeding of good horses a little more?
