DAY AND THE BONDS.

One of the charges brought against the roads bond issue in this vicinity is that I. N. Day had something to do with the preparation of the bill and worked for its passage in the closing hours of the legislature. For that reason, it is argued, the bill is bad, it smells of graft, paving contractors are interested in it and therefore the people should vote it down.

To those who have followed the attacks on I. N. Day in the Portland Journal, and are now observing the course of the argument in that newspaper on the road bond issue, the situation is amusing.

It is amusing for this reason. Such sinister reputation as I. N. Day may have is the result of attacks made on him by the Journal. If it were not for what the Journal has had to say about Mr. Day, his name would not be used as an argument against the bond issue. But because the Journal has poisoned the public mind against the ex-senator, those who seek for arguments against the bonds seize on Mr. Day's connection with the bill before the legislature as evidence that the whole thing is rotten.

OUR INTEREST.

Mr. Horn's statement before the Labor Council last night that Central Oregon would see none of the $6,000,000 proposed for roads can hardly be looked upon as a serious argument against the bonding measure. So far as we know, it has never been asserted that any of this money would be spent on other than hard-surface roads, and all of these roads, with the exception of the Columbia River Highway, are west of the Cascades.

What Central and Eastern Oregon have to look for in the passage of the bonding law is the expenditure of 60 per cent of the Shackleford funds and the state's matching appropriation through the Bean bill bonds, already provided for. The counties have lost the funds which were formerly paid to them out of the auto licenses, and, while the mud situation is what it is in the western part of the state, Eastern Oregon cannot expect much more from the millage road tax than it has received in the past.

As a result it is to the selfish interest of Central Oregon, putting the case on the lowest grounds, to pass the $6,000,000 bonding measure. On the broader grounds of state interest and national defence, we should join in the support of the bonds to give us a uniform road policy and decent roads of the kind needed where they are needed.

R. INNES PUTS ONE OVER ON BLACKBURN

Bend Bantam, Though Under Weight, Is Accepted for Navy, By Keeping Wires Hot.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) Robert Innes, the bantam of the Central Oregon recruits to the United States navy, who left Friday evening for Portland for examination, kept the wires hot not only between Portland and Bend getting endorsements from friends here for his acceptance as a seaman, but also got the Navy Department on the wire.

It is told that Innes, who weighs about 110 pounds had difficulty in coming under the navy regulations in that particular. Innes knew that his weight would be the only factor to bar him, so Monday morning he determined to weigh in at the minimum required, so he sat down to a breakfast of oatmeal, not only his own order but also that of several others of his comrades. He imbibed several glasses of water, and he thought surely he would be weighty enough. But much to his disappointment, Innes weighed a few pounds lighter than his normal weight.

Realizing that his possibilities for acceptance were slight, he pleaded with Captain Blackburn, and so insistent was he in his appeal that the recruiting officer telegraphed to Washington for waivers on Innes' weight, which was passed. Innes leaves Portland today for San Francisco to enter the yeoman school.

A. G. BROOK IS VICTIM OF PARALYTIC STROKE

(From Wednesday's Daily.) A. G. Brook, builder of the Cozy hotel, who was seized Saturday night with a paralytic stroke, was taken last night to his home in Seattle, by Mrs. Brook, who came to Bend Monday night when she learned of his illness. Mr. Brook had left the house at which he has been staying in Center addition and was found by neighbors, lying close to an irrigating ditch nearby. He was unable either to move or speak.

ROAD MAP IS SHOWN AT PILOT BUTTE INN

(From Wednesday's Daily.) The Pilot Butte Inn is in receipt of a large blue print showing the roads through Oregon which will be improved if the $6,000,000 bond issue is carried in June. The map is to be seen in the lobby of the Inn by all who are interested in the subject.

LA PINE CHARGES WITHOUT GROUNDS

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Returning from a trip to La Pine where he investigated a number of complaints in regard to law violations, District Attorney H. H. De Armond stated this morning that there apparently was no ground for the charges preferred.

LICENSES GOING UP.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) Bargain day in the county clerk's office ends on Saturday, when fishing and hunting licenses increase in cost to $1.50 each. Up to Saturday they may be had for only $1.00 each. The law increasing the license fee goes into effect on that day.

POSTAL CLERK COMING

(From Tuesday's Daily) To commence work on a clerkship in the Bend postoffice, O. P. Hile, of Sapulpa, Oklahoma, will arrive here tomorrow morning with his family, expecting to locate permanently here. Postmaster Henry B. Ford announced this morning. Mr. Hile has been 12 years in the postal department, and will take the place of George Grimes, who has been removed from the service.

THIS STORE EXTENDS A WELCOME

☞ We want you to make this store your headquarters and use it any way you choose. ☞ You'll find here superb stocks of reliable wearing apparel for men, women and children—far and away the largest of any in Central Oregon and at prices that cannot be duplicated. ☞ The only competitors we have—the catalog houses—are beginning to show the white feather; they have advanced their prices and their goods have become more trashy. ☞ If it be a Suit, Coat, Shoes, Underwear or Furnishings, we have the largest and best variety and always at a saving.

Keeping Faith So that the People May Know

☞ Economy is one thing---tight fist ed hoarding is an entirely different thing. This concern proposes to practice Economy in the light that it sees it. Others may think in all honesty that they are entitled to prices based on what it would cost to replace present stocks. WE THINK OTHERWISE AND WE ARE GOING TO SELL THE THINGS WE CONTRACTED MONTHS AGO ON THE BASIS OF THESE CONTRACTS.
☞ We believe your good will is worth more to us in a lasting way than any extra profits we may be entitled to because of our immense buying power---but your help gave us that power and this policy explains the prices we are selling these goods for.
