Irrigation Congress to Be Served Fresh Strawberries in Mid-Autumn; Rancher Plans Treat for Delegates

With autumn well under way, and four killing frosts already recorded since September 1, delegates to the Oregon Irrigation Congress which begins its sessions here Thursday, will be served with fresh Deschutes county strawberries as one of the courses at the banquet to be given at the Elks club Friday night.

Serving of strawberries in October is a feature of the plans for entertainment of the irrigation congress which was suggested by L. E. Daigler, prominent rancher of near Bend, and it is under his direction that the picking is going on.

Twelve weeks old plants were bearing this summer, in fact have produced continuously since June 26 on the Daigler place.

The everbearing varieties have proved more successful in Central Oregon than in any other part of the state, it is reported.

WILL COMPLETE DAMS IN MONTH Storage Assured at Crane Prairie and Crescent Lake This Year

One month from today will see both the Crescent lake and the Crane Prairie storage dams completed, which should be well ahead of any snow which would halt construction.

Work on other parts of the Tumalo project is proceeding at full speed, except the dam in the Deschutes at Bend, where the pouring of concrete is being delayed due to the non-arrival of reinforcement steel.

Prosperity Reflected By Marriage Licenses; September Weddings 17

That the activities of Cupid are directly affected by returning prosperity is shown by examination of the marriage records kept in the office of County Clerk J. H. Haner, where 15 licenses were issued in September, as compared with the five made out during the same month a year ago.

September licenses this year ran a close second to those in the marriage month of June, when 17 were issued.

FAIR PROMISES BETTER RACES Owners Ship Horses to Redmond After Muddy Meeting in Salem

REDMOND, Oct. 2.—Heavy rains which proved a great drawback to a successful race meeting at the Salem state fair this year are proving an aid to the Central Oregon fairs, for many owners of racing stock, disappointed at conditions experienced at Salem, are shipping their horses to this section of the state to be entered in both the Redmond and the Prineville fairs.

Livestock exhibitors will do well to make reservations at once for stalls and pens, according to M. C. Conlon, in charge of this department of the fair.

Dances will be held nightly under the management of the Redmond post of the American Legion, which recently closed a most successful summer dance season.

Among visitors at the fair will be George L. Burt, San Francisco potato broker, who has been interested in the Central Oregon country because of the high type of potatoes produced in this section.

ZIESER HEADS NEW CHAPTER OF LODGE

Political activity which has been aroused during the past two weeks is expected to result in an unusually long list of candidates for city office.

1922 FIRE SEASON DECLARED AT END

Walker Mountain Lookout Station, last to be operated this fall, ordered vacated.

Continuance of rain today brought the forest fire season in Central Oregon to a certain close.

Subscriptions totaling $75 for the near east relief were made at Brooks-Seanlon Camp No. 1 last night when Rev. D. E. Norcross spoke there and the film "Alice in Hunderland" was shown at the camp theater.

CAMP CONTRIBUTES TO NEAR EAST FUND

The canvas of the Bend business district will be completed today, Norcross announced.
