

BEND HAPPENINGS FROM DAY TO DAY

SMALLPOX PREVENTS COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

POWELL BUTTE, Dec. 27.—Harry Read has been ill for two weeks and has finally developed a well defined case of smallpox. Read went to Southern Oregon recently on a business trip and it is supposed he contracted the disease while away. The county health officer, Dr. J. H. Rosenberg, has taken every precaution to prevent the spread of the disease. Plans were already made for a Christmas tree at Community hall, and that was given up and the treat of candy, nuts and fruit was distributed to the homes. The revival meeting was postponed until a later date, and all other public gatherings were called off.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. O'Callahan are going to Portland soon to place their small son under the care of a specialist.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hall and son Ernest, are spending the holidays with relatives in Portland. They will be away about two weeks.

COUNTY TO PAY SMALLER LEVY

Larger Receipts Estimated State and County Taxes Less

The total tax levy of $229,329.60, as set by the county court for Deschutes county following the announcement of the county's share of the state tax, is in round numbers $13,000 less than the levy in effect the present year. The levy for county purposes is smaller than this year, made possible by the fact that estimated receipts are much larger than for 1922. The chief reduction is in the state tax.

A comparison of the various items on the entire levy, given respectively for 1922 and 1923, is as follows: State, $102,116.76, $95,907.13; county, $72,168.62, $60,799.89; special county road, $9,158.45, $9,362.29; county school, $27,200.61, $27,300; high school tuition, $2,502.40, $3,000; county library, $3,571.80, $5,000; market roads, $15,477.79, $15,180.29; bonds and interest, $9,891.13, $12,500; school library, $274.75, $280.

The total levy for the present year was $242,362.31.

CHRISTMAS TO DELAY SENTENCE EXECUTION

C. L. Frost Gets $100 Fine and 90 Days for Having Venison—Other Warrants Prepared

C. L. Frost, rancher living east of Bend, was convicted in justice court here on a charge of having in his possession venison not lawfully tagged, was fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days in jail by Judge E. D. Gilson today. Execution of sentence was stayed until after Christmas. Frost claimed to know nothing of a quarter of freshly killed venison which District Game Warden Clarence Adams found in his smokehouse.

In connection with the case, warrants are now being issued for others believed to be more directly implicated than Frost, according to Adams.

MEN MORE NUMEROUS THAN JOBS IN BEND

Condition Is Noted for First Time in Months as Result of Halting of Irrigation Work

For the first time in months there are more men seeking jobs in Bend than there are jobs looking for men, it was learned last Wednesday when work was started on the new logging road of the Brooks-Seanlon Lumber Co. Twenty-five men were needed in addition to the regular track laying crew, and more than 50 asked for work.

The surplus of labor is considered to be largely due to the cessation of work on irrigation construction projects, the result of last week's cold wave.

TRAINS ARE LATE BECAUSE OF SLIDES

Detour Necessary Tuesday—Engine Trouble Delays Passenger Eight Hours on Sunday

Slides which prevented the use of the Oregon Trunk track at Frieda, making a detour over the O-W track necessary, were responsible for the train Tuesday morning being over three hours late. The train was held for a time in the hope that the way would be cleared.

Sunday's S. P. & S. train was eight hours late because of engine trouble, while the passenger on Monday was five hours late on account of slides.

Selling by Proved Measurement

Throughout the United States and Canada, newspaper and magazine circulation is looked upon as a commodity to be dealt in honestly—by having the quantity and quality proved.

A great international agency is maintained, to make the tests of newspaper and magazine circulation—as a bank examiner makes the tests of bank finances. The name of this organization is

The Audit Bureau of Circulations

Practically every advertiser and advertising agency in the country, and practically every newspaper and magazine in the country which is willing to have the facts about its circulation known—holds membership in the organization.

Twice a year the newspaper and magazine members make required reports to the Bureau as to their circulation, at least once a year the expert auditors of the Bureau visit each publication office and make their own test of what the circulation is.

The annual audit of The Bulletin circulation, by the Bureau experts, was made this month. During the time the auditor is here he has access to every fact and record in the operation of the office during the year, to prove what the circulation really is.

An auditor would no more accept the press run, or the mailing lists, as the proof of what the circulation is and has been than a bank examiner would look at a pile of greenbacks and regard that as proof of what the bank's financial condition is.

Every fact about newspaper circulation must be known to the Bureau of Circulations' auditor, and every fact must agree with every other fact before the proof is accepted.

When the proof is made, a classified report is made to all members showing exactly what the circulation is, where it is distributed, how it was secured.

The reports which the published himself makes to the Bureau twice a year can then be compared with the proofs which the Bureau audit discloses at least once a year.

The audited proofs of The Bend Bulletin circulation, in all particulars, are on file with every advertiser and advertising agency member throughout the country, and are kept in our office for the examination of any patron.

It is regarded as good business practice to have no mysteries about the change which the cashier gives you, or about the yards of goods or the pounds of provisions you buy. It is regarded as good business practice to have these proved to you. You expect to have the proof, and the other party expects to give you the proof.
