

TOW SCOW TO CHETCO

Tug Klihyam De- livers Material for Bridge

The tug Klihyam went down to the Chetco river Sunday with the scow load of material for the Bandon Construction Company, which will be used on the Chetco bridge. The tug returned this morning and it is reported that they landed in the bay just off the mouth of the river all right. The tug, however, could not get into the river and Capt. Ashton's river tug, Star, went along and will tow the scow into the river.

The scow carried 400 barrels of cement and 113,000 feet of lumber, besides a lot of steel to be used in the bridge. The bridge will be 500 feet long and will have three spans. It will be a combination of concrete, steel and wood, and will be a very substantial structure. W. H. Webb of this city, manager of the Bandon Construction Company has charge of the work, and from this time on will work about 30 men. Up to now the work has proceeded rather slowly because of the lack of material, but with this scow load and more that will be on hand soon, there will be plenty of material to go right ahead with.

COQUILLE NEWS

From the Sentinel:

County Assessor Thrift has had 8,000 cards printed to be used in making a card index of the land owners of Coos county. In his office men frequently come in and ask about the assessment of their lands, who have no description of them and can't tell with in forty rows of apple trees the township, section or range in which they are located. But with this card index it will take but a moment to see where any one's property is located and find its assessed valuation.

On Wednesday the first step toward kidnapping a Coos county girl and carrying her off to California was taken when Geo. H. Papp, of Alameda in that state, secured a marriage license at the county clerk's office here, authorizing him to wed Miss Mildred Gore Cole of Marshfield, a niece of Judge John S. Cole.

It is expected that the travel beds will be dry enough by the end of the week for work to begin on the concrete foundations of the new post-office building.

A NEW CHEESE FACTORY TO START AT WEDDERBURN

We are hereby informed that there will be a cheese factory put in at Wedderburn early next spring. R. L. Macleay tried to interest the people of this vicinity to the extent of co-operating with him in a cheese factory last spring but the venture died for the want of interest. Now Mr. Macleay has fully decided to put in the plant himself and whenever he patrons of the business wish to take it over on a cooperative basis it will be their privilege to do so. An enterprise of this kind, whether it be co-operative or not will certainly be a boom to this community.—Gold Beach Globe.

MRS. E. J. SCHOONOVER FOUND DEAD THIS MORNING

Mrs. E. J. Schoonover was found dead in her bed room this morning at the home of her son Earl Schoonover near this city. She was partly dressed and it is thought she must have dropped dead while preparing for bed last night, although she was in her usual good health yesterday and ate her supper as usual last night. Heart failure was evidently the cause of her death.

Esther J. Cunningham was born in Ohio, March 6th, 1834, and while yet a young girl she moved with her parents to Iowa, where she was married to Aretas Schoonover, February 7th, 1856. To this union nine children were born, six of whom together with the husband and father have passed away. The three children yet living are Earl Schoonover of Bandon, Mrs. Mary Erwin of Colfax, Iowa, and Mrs. Olive Swanson of Greenfield, Iowa.

Mrs. Schoonover was 80 years, 6 months and 22 days old at the time of her death. The funeral will be held tomorrow and interment made in the Bandon cemetery.

The bereaved relatives will have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends.

REMONSTRATE AGAINST IMPROVEMENT OF ORE. AVE.

Remonstrances from seventeen property owners on Oregon Avenue were filed with the City Recorder on September 28th, against the proposed improvement of that street. As to what effect this will have relative to the improvement of the street will be determined at the next regular meeting of the city council, which will be on October 7th.

MYRTLE POINT NEWS

From the Enterprise:

Miss Buella Lockwood who has been in charge of the hospital at Bandon for some time came Tuesday and will visit for a time with friends here before going to Santa Rosa California where she will take charge of a hospital at that place.

J. F. Wendling of the Estbrook Company, came over from Marshfield last Saturday and spent a number of days here checking out a shipment of ten or twelve cars of ties.

J. A. Ward of Marshfield, who has been appointed by the Commercial Clubs of Coos and Curry counties to gather the exhibit that will represent these counties at the 1915 fair, is here attending the fair and will arrange to preserve some of the articles on display here. Mr. Ward finds everyone in the county willing to co-operate with him to make the 1915 exhibit a hummer. Folks having products that will make a good showing should communicate with Mr. Ward at Marshfield and he will arrange to come and take charge of same.

A. G. Erickson and Harry Walker are today unloading their pile driver and will be ready in a day or two to go ahead with the driving of piling for the foundations of the three new buildings for which they have the contract. They are the Biggs-Buckingham building, the Laird-Lowe building and the Capt. Johnson building.

Mr. Morris is smoothing up the surface of the Sherrard lots, which are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sherrard and Mr. and Mrs. John Dickey, and will prepare and seed a lawn. This will add greatly to the appearance of that section of the city.

Nick Johnson of Coquille was a Bandon visitor yesterday.

CONTRACTORS HAVE PLANS

Call For Bids For Construction of B-B Building

Benjamin Ostlund, architect for the new Biggs-Buckingham building, which is to be erected on the corner of First Street and Bandon Avenue, came over from Marshfield yesterday with the complete plans of the building and the specifications are now in the hands of contractors for figures, and bids will be called for on October 15th.

The building will be two story concrete, 73x100, and facing both First Street and Bandon Avenue. It will be modern in every particular.

On the first floor will be three store rooms facing First Street and a newspaper office facing Bandon Avenue. This latter will be occupied by The Bandon Recorder. The second floor plans call for 26 office rooms, all of which will be strictly modern and with good light.

During the interval between now and October 15th, when bids are called for, the proprietors will go ahead and have the piling for the foundation driven, so that work on the superstructure can begin without delay when the contract is let.

This building will be one of the finest in the county when completed, and one of which any city might well feel proud.

GOOD SHOW COMING TO THE GRAND SATURDAY & SUNDAY

A good musical comedy will be the attraction at the Grand theatre next Saturday and Sunday nights. The show is away above the average that comes into Coos county. The company closed a four days engagement at Marshfield the first of the week, and the Record has the following to say of their entertainment:

"At the Exposition" which opened Sunday night at the Masonic opera house is good. It is a whole lot better than anything that has been seen here in a long, long time. In farce comedy Jack Cagwin, is a card. He is entitled to be on a big circuit and does wonderfully well. Jackie Jacobs in his various impersonations caught the house and made many friends. In "Ghosts" George Slocum and Freddie Pollock, the latter of the Pollock Opera Company, made good with the audience and got hearty hands. Dot Raymond and a bevy of pretty and shapely girls carried their parts evenly and gave good accounts of themselves in dancing and singing. The performances are ones that can be recommended."

NOTES FROM ALONG THE BANDON WATER FRONT

The Elizabeth arrived in port Sunday morning with a large cargo of freight and the following passengers: E. R. Edge and wife, William Olsen, Mrs. L. J. Davidson, Lucina Davidson, Mrs. O'Conner, Walter Kennedy, Mrs. McGregor, G. M. Fisher, H. E. Christensen, W. Busfelt, P. J. Rooney, Mrs. Anna Rooney.

The Elizabeth will sail again at 9 o'clock this evening.

The Brooklyn arrived in port this morning and will load lumber at the Prosper mill.

BAD CHECK ARTIST HERE

Geo. Small Forges F. L. Christie's Name.

A man signing his name Geo. Small, passed a bad check at the Racket store last Friday. The check was drawn on the Band of Bandon and the name of F. L. Christie had been forged to it by Small.

About a month ago Small went into the Racket store and told Mr. Carpenter that he was going to cut wood for F. L. Christie and said he wanted to buy a pair of socks and that he would pay for them as soon as he got his check. Mr. Carpenter let him have the socks and thought no more about it until last Friday when the man came into the store, introduced himself and told Mr. Carpenter that he had come to pay for the socks, and wanted some other articles. He purchased goods to the amount of $3.65 and presented the check of $19.65. Mr. Carpenter gave him $16.00 in cash. The check was not deposited until yesterday and it was then found to be a crude forgery.

An attempt is being made to apprehend the forger, but as he had about four days start on the officers it is doubtful if he will be caught.

Boy Adjudged Incurable.

In the juvenile court here last Saturday, a Bandon boy about eleven years old, named Wesley Phenneger, was adjudged delinquent, pronounced incurable, and it was ordered that he be committed to the charge of the Boys and Girls Aid Society at Portland, and H. W. Dunham was appointed a special probation officer to take him there. This kid had been known as a "holy terror" at home, and his exploits after being placed in Mr. Dunham's care would fill several chapters in a dime novel. He first stole away and secreted himself on a river boat and got back to Bandon. An officer who had been telephoned to was awaiting him at the dock, but Wesley gave him the slip and could not be found until he went home at bedtime. When he was brought back Judge Hall said he didn't like to put a boy of that age in jail, but he didn't know as Dunham could do any better than lock him in the padded cell at the court house. Dunham thought he could manage him, though, but got a blow that almost knocked him endwise after putting shackles on the boy's feet. He appears to have been tamed, though, as on Wednesday evening we saw him coasting down the incline of the Spurgeon street bridge on a bicycle. A boy with such over-abounding vitality as this one, has the making of a wonderfully efficient man if he can be headed into some useful channel that will afford a safety valve for his energies. Capt. Dunham will start for Portland with him on the next Breakwater Sunday.—Coquille Sentinel.

FILE PAPERS IN THE COACH-HERRON CASE

Transcripts and records of the decree of the municipal judge will be filed with the Circuit Court tomorrow in the appeal of the Coach-Herron case, for giving liquor to minors. The case will probably come up at this term of court.

THE LAST NUMBER OF "LUCILLE LOVE" SEPT 30

The final installment of the "Lucille Love" series. In this last and most tremendous of the "Lucille Love" pictures Hugo Loubeque falls into the trap which heretofore he had used to defeat those opposed to him. Plan as a man will, unforeseen coincidences arise which confound reason and place the work of a life time at naught. It happened thus with Loubeque. When Lucille learned that Loubeque was to meet Lieutenant Hadley at his (Loubeque's) home, she at once hastened to the rendezvous herself. As she was the first to arrive, she took a look through the house of so many terrors. When she beheld a picture of Loubeque on the wall, the thought of all his crimes and the bitter hatred of her father overwhelmed her, and she raised her revolver and fired into the face of the picture. Even before the echo of the report died away an amazing thing happened. She saw the floor of a bedroom slowly sink out of sight. Had she not known what had already transpired in that house, she would have been confounded. She removed the picture from the wall and behind it found a switch board. It was from this board that Loubeque controlled all the traps, staircases and sliding ways and floors of the house. Forthwith she tested every switch. One caused a staircase to disappear, another caused a desk to sink into the floor. No sooner than she had mastered the system of switches than Lieutenant Hadley arrived. In an instant she laid her plan of action. She informed Hadley that Loubeque was not there, but that he would leave on the Golden Gate Limited that night. Hadley was satisfied and left. A few moments later Loubeque arrived to keep his appointment with Hadley. Instead of Hadley he found Lucille. As Loubeque leaned against the desk Lucille pressed the proper button and Loubeque fell through the floor with the heavy desk on top of him. Lucille rushed to the cellar and removed the documents from his pockets while he was in a stunned condition. An instant later he recovered and ran after the girl. But he was too late. She ran to the secret tunnel and just as Loubeque reached out to grasp her she slammed the iron gate in his face. Lucille made her way quickly to the depot and took the train for Washington. Loubeque arrived at the depot a moment after the train had left. He realized that Lucille was gone forever with her papers. Returning to his home Loubeque told Gibson that Lucille was on her way to Washington with the documents. Gibson thought he was lying to him and to settle the argument they fight a duel with swords. In the midst of the fight the house is surrounded with detectives, and Loubeque saw that he must escape while there was yet time. In the instant before he detectives rushed in Loubeque handed a package containing Lucille's costly necklace to Gibson and told him to take it to the Secretary of War. A moment later Loubeque disappeared and the floors of the house tumbled into the cellar, trapping those who had come to arrest the spy. Lucille delivered the documents to the Secretary of War at Washington and thus saved the name of her father and of her sweetheart, Lieutenant Gibson. Gibson arrived while Lucille was yet with the Secretary. He fell at her feet and begged her forgiveness for misjudging her, and she was only too willing to re-establish him a gain in her heart. That night Loubeque wrote in his diary: "My debt of hate toward Sumpter Love

ANDERSON HOUSE BURNS

Murphy Family Is Victim of Early Morning Blaze

The house belonging to Thos. Anderson and occupied by H. A. Murphy and family, caught fire about 6 o'clock Sunday morning and was completely destroyed with all contents except a little furniture which was gotten out of the front room. The fire probably started from the kitchen stove, as Mrs. Murphy had arisen shortly before and started the kitchen fire, returning to her room to finish dressing. A noise like something burning was heard and Mr. Murphy ran out into the dining room to investigate and found the room full of smoke, and the blaze was then under good headway, and as there was no water near it was impossible to check the flames.

The Murphy family lost practically all their furniture and clothing, also a library that cost about $500. Their loss was partially covered by insurance. Mr. Anderson had some insurance on the house but not enough to cover his loss.

AN ENJOYABLE BIRTH- DAY PARTY FRIDAY.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wolf Friday on Franklin Avenue, the occasion being the birthday of their daughter, Miss Elsie. The house was tastily decorated in Oregon greenery and pink and white roses. The evening was spent with music and games, and dainty refreshments were served.

Those invited were: Misses Jessie Sweet, Stella Murphy, Hattie Boak, Maude Sweet, Edna Dippel, Harriet Sweet of Coquille, Gladys Murphy, and Messrs. Ralph Dippel, Manton Treadgold, Richard Danielson of Parkersburg, Harry Pierce, L. E. Peterson, Harry Crain, Ralph Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Gatchell, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McKinnis.

Miss Elsie was the recipient of a number of beautiful presents.

At a late hour all departed wishing Miss Wolfe many more happy birthdays.

County Commissioner Geo. J. Armstrong came over from Bandon today to meet his nephew, Ivan Stice of Petaluma, Cal., who came in on the Redondo. The latter arrived in time to catch the morning train and Mr. Armstrong missed him. However, Mr. Armstrong will remain over Monday and in company with Judge Hall will inspect the Willanch Inlet dredging and see if the county cannot provide funds for the completion of the work, providing the citizens there aid some more. Mr. Armstrong has been very busy looking after county road improvements and is doing some fine permanent concrete work on the bridges. He has not had much time to pay to politics and says that he is relying on the service he is giving the public to get votes.—Coos Bay Times.

is cancelled, for no hate can outlive love in the man who has known Lucille." Loubeque loved Lucille.
