Boy Life in Bandon

Two big husky policemen today escorted a small eleven year old boy into the presence of a local magistrate and informed that official that this boy with smaller one had last Sunday invaded J. W. Mast's store and taken many small articles. Upon close questioning the boy admitted that he had gained access to the store room through a hole in the floor in the rear of the building, that they had taken each of them five packages of cigarettes, 2 cigars, some cookies and candy. This they had hidden under a building along the wharf where they were later stolen by other boys. This youth was informed that if he were grown he would be instantly bound over to the grand jury and inside of 48 hours be on his way to the penitentiary for from 1 to 7 year term. That being a boy he would be excused for this one time but that if it occurred again he would be committed to the County Court with a view to sending him to the reform school. After some snuffing and many tears the boy promised to reform, and he left as he came--escorted by the two policemen.

They Got the Bacon

The owners of the wrecked schooner Randolph are Will Guerin, Allen Boice, John Haynes, Ernest McConnell, of Langlois. The latter was drowned in the wreck. Mrs. Captain Anderson of Bandon and C. H. Cheever of Langlois.
At the time of the wreck, the only cargo the Randolph had aboard was 1000 lbs of bacon. When the tide became low enough beach combers were quick to carry away the bacon. This illustrates one way of "taking home the bacon."

Nine head of cattle found their way into the city pound last night. They belonged to one of the Richert Bros. and Mr. Richert claims that he had a boy in charge of the cattle herding them and while the boy was eating his lunch at noon some one drove the cattle from their grazing place into the city limits to secure the reward offered by the city for impounded livestock. Several out-of-town live stock men are wrought up over the matter and are talking of testing the validity of the city's authority in this particular regard and, so far, Mr. Richert has refused to redeem his cattle.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The play selected by the senior class has at last arrived and parts are being assigned. It will be presented some time during commencement week.

The class in Spanish is about to extricate itself from the tangle of irregular verbs and will begin at once on the reading of a selection from Gil Blas.

A number of seniors are planning to try the next teachers' examination for certificates to teach.

A commencement orator is being considered. Someone from Portland will probably come to Coos county for that purpose.

The class in English IV has been having rather exciting times lately in the study of genuine old fashioned spelling lessons, alternating with some of Walt Whitman's most refreshing verses.

The Freshmen enjoyed a picnic at Bradley's Lake, Saturday, although their plans were to a certain degree frustrated by the ubiquitous upper class men. The freshmen feel that half their luncheon disappeared from the stronghold, nor that entertaining confederates of the "swipers" very generously assisted in consuming what was left. They are firm believers in "common ownership."

Marching, in the grades, is attaining a degree of excellence rarely seen in public schools. The room that presents the best appearance in lines secures the banner for two weeks. The pupils of Mrs. Roe's room on the second floor and Miss Wren's room on the first floor were victorious.

The teachers and pupils of the East Side school are preparing a program to be presented next Friday evening at Dreamland pavillion.

A Quiet Wedding

Allen Lewis Harrington and Linnie Counts were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Harrington last Saturday night, the 24th inst in the presence of a few immediate relatives. The contracting parties are both well known in Bandon, where both were born, the groom being 18 years of age and the bride 16 years. The marriage was performed by the justice of the peace.

Do you know that the members of the famous Rotarian Quartet have formally appeared in Grand Opera? Its the best show that ever came to town and you can't afford to pass it up. Wednesday night, April 28, Grand Theatre.

Arrival of the Brooklyn

The Brooklyn arrived from the south Saturday night and came in to the river at seven o'clock Sunday morning. Contrary to the reports published in Marshfield papers the Brooklyn had no trouble in crossing the bar. The boat came in with her own power and the captain says he never made an easier passage in all the times he has crossed over. Following is the boat's passenger list:

Mr. and Mrs. M. Culbard, Mrs. H. J. Darling, J. J. Dubs, R. Copple, Edward Wright, Edmund Timons, Annie Goff, Levi Goff, A. Schutte, Mrs. R. B. Swenson, Eric Swenson, Irving Swenson, Peter McKeown.

Looking Up

We are glad to report that things are looking up at the Methodist church. Nine adults were received into the church last Sunday and more are expected to follow soon. We are about to paint the parsonage and other material improvements will follow. Our signal improvement, however is not in material things nor in numbers but in spirit. We are making progress toward the "Church of Good-Fellowship" which is our ideal.

The pastor extends a special invitation to the services next Sunday morning. There will be special music and a sermon in which we will try to tell something of the character of the true twentieth century church, in its spirit, purpose and doctrine.

C. Mayne Knight

A concert running two full hours and consisting of popular numbers Character Specialties, Banjo and Piano Solos, makes the entertainment to be presented by the Rotarian Male Quartet one that will surely please everyone.

M. Ocon today swore out a warrant in the justice court for the arrest of J. E. Wilson the transfer man on the charge of assault alleged to have been committed last night on the streets of Bandon and upon the person of Ocon.
