CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER AGAINST OFFICER.

Mystery How Bullet Struck a Bystander Who Was Behind the Shooter Out of Range.

W. H. Lucy, city marshal of Prairie City, who was arrested on the charge of killing Ernest Hickman in Len Woods' saloon, on the morning of April 29, was examined before Justice J. W. Mack, and bound over to appear before the grand jury on the charge of manslaughter. He immediately furnished $2000 bonds. The three women witnesses were held un-der $250 bonds each, which they furnished in cash.

The justice, in rendering the decision, stated that although the evidence produced by the state was far from satisfactory, owing to the intoxicated condition of the witnesses at the time of the affair, and the mystery concerning the shooting, which had not been cleared, or explained away by any of the evidence, still, as the defendant waived examination, he would hold the defendant, not on the charge of murder but only that of manslaught-

Eleven witnesses were produced by the state (none by the defendant) of which eight were present at the time of the shooting, in a much intoxicated condition, who all agreed that Marshal Lucy, the defendant, did the shooting that killed Hickman; that the trouble between the women and interference by one of the men created an impression that serious trouble was pending, which the marshal tried to prevent, but which Hickman objected to, by placing his flat hand on the marshal's breast and pushing him back (so he fell on the floor, one of the witnesses testified) saying that he was running the house. When the marshal got on his feet the shooting occurred, by which Hickman was killed and Haight was wounded in the eyewitnesses. However, there is a mystery connected with the shooting which was not explained. The marshal was facing Hickman at the time of the shooting, and Haight was standing eight or ten feet behind the marshal, according to the evidence; still the bullet went through the body of Hickman, just below the ribs, and wall, bounced back and struck Haight

Sometimes a flaming city is saved hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure you. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two consumption, coughs and colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and la grippe. At McBride's drug store, price 50c and

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, until I began to use Electric Bitters. three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubstore; price 50c.

