

Dozen Shows at Pacific International

An exposition is a collection of shows, more or less related by nature. The Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, held at Portland, Or., Nov. 3-10, has drawn under its ample wings a dozen of them, and there is interest for everybody in some of them.

It has a beef cattle show of great size. Its dairy cattle show is second to none anywhere in numbers and quality.

The sheep and goat show is regarded by experts as on a par with any like show in America.

The hog show has always been excellent, and this year will be bigger than ever.

The draft horse show is representative, with five breeds of heavy horses and jacks.

The Western Winter poultry and rabbit show attracts thousands of interested spectators.

The Western dairy products show is the least spectacular and one of the most important.

The boys' and girls' clubs make a show that is the outcome of work destined to make this country a better place to live in. Don't miss seeing the work they have done.

The Land Products show, with its fruits and vegetables, grains and grasses, county and other exhibits, is one of the splendid features of the Exposition.

The latest show to come to the Pacific International is the fine Northwest Grain and Hay show, hitherto held in Pendleton. This is going to be a 1923 feature.

The Industrial Exhibits department affords a show that for beauty and value would be hard to surpass. This great department is filled with fairy-like booths, showing costly furs and other raiment, beautiful furniture, every convenience a housewife needs, machinery of every sort to save labor and increase profits. Everything has its demonstration for the public. The sense of sight and the sense of smell are both appealed to, for the flour and other food products companies are doing their best to show the merits of their goods.

The Night Horse show is one of the four great horse shows in the United States. It is brilliant, exciting and delightful. Horses are coming from the Eastern states this year to show their paces in the arena and struggle for the big prizes offered.

One kind of a show isn't at the Pacific International, and never will be—the gambling concessions and other questionable amusements that rob children and sometimes grown people and leave nothing but a bad taste. The Exposition does not need that kind of shows.

How irrational is the conduct of some people! They denounce the preacher, as if he were actually responsible for the evil which he exposed.

Many are theists in doctrine, and atheists in practice; they are orthodox intolerably in metaphysics, and as heterodox as the devil in action.

There is a point at which science or riches will leave you. If Christianity does not stay with you then, you will be very lonely. But Christianity, if it be genuine, never goes away. That is the distinction of Jesus Christ.

Talk is nothing except it leads to practice. A lecture is but wasted breath unless it culminates in noble conduct.

Increase of true reverence toward God always means increase of real beneficence toward man, for where God is most feared, loved, and honored, man is blessed by an accession of religious conviction and emotion.

Some men develop unexpected corruption of character. They are good only so long as they are watched. Leave them unguarded and their true nature comes to the surface at once.

Liberty lies so near to license that unless the spiritual faculties be trained to all but supernatural discernment a fatal mistake may easily be made.

"That Shoe is Not Worth Repairing, Mister."

Did you ever have the shoemaker tell you that your shoe was not worth repairing? It happens often, because a good many people today are buying shoes by appearance and price—a very expensive way.

A shoe that's not worth repairing was not worth buying in the first place. Paper and substitutes in the soles and insoles, counters and heels make shoes quickly lose their shape and wear out.

There is just one thing to do—insist on getting solid leather shoes. You can get them here for any and every purpose.

Let us Shoe the family.
