"I have just returned from California," said a prominent Portland business man recently, and about all I heard down there was "What's the matter with you people up there? Do you want to put a fence around your your state? Or don't you want anybody else to come into Oregon?" With the income tax, commercialized hate and a prospective anti-cigarette law, we'll soon be the outcasts of the Pacific Coast" —Oregon Voter.

The ice cream parlor in the Engleman pastime has been newly papered, new linoleum laid and a general overhauling made which creates an attractive place for all ice cream patrons. New tables and chairs have been added as also one of the best uptodate soda fountains in eastern Oregon. As a starter for the season, ice cream is to be served Saturday and Sunday.
