Economy in medicine must be measured by two things—cost and effect. It cannot be measured by either alone. It is greatest in that medicine that does the most for the money—that radically and permanently cures at the least expense. That medicine is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It purifies and enriches the blood, cures pimples, eczema and all eruptions, tired, languid feelings, loss of appetite and general debility.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it reliable and giving perfect satisfaction. It takes away that tired feeling, gives energy and puts the blood in good condition." Miss Effie Colonna, 635 10th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Serious, indeed. "Miss Summergal must be quite seriously ill. She hasn't any appetite at all."

"Oh, a girl isn't always ill when she has no appetite!"

"But she has no appetite even for ice cream and candy."—Philadelphia Press.

CATARH CANNOT BE CURED

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Care of the Cat.

Don't feed meat to cats when they are kittens; it gives them fits. Don't give them cold milk; just lukewarm is the right temperature. Don't give them chunks of raw meat; cook it a little and cut it up rather small. Don't forget to have a dish of fresh, clean water convenient for them; cats suffer often for cool drinks. Don't, if you buy meat for them, "iver and alwis" buy liver, as they get tired of it, and it is not the healthiest diet in the world. Don't forget that a bit of fresh fish is welcome.—Good Housekeeping.

FITS Permanently Cured. No fits or nervousness after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Send for Free Book and Testimonial. Dr. R. H. Kline, Ltd., 233 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The Only Restful Place.

"She was all worn out and in need of rest, I understand." "Quite right." "But she was only two weeks at that summer resort before she came home again." "Yes." "Why was that?" "Well, after two weeks of that life she had to come home to rest."—Chicago Post.

Cruelty to Animals.

Nell—I'm in a dilemma. Of course, I can't think of marrying Jack Lower, but he says if I don't he'll go to the dogs. Belle—Well, you can't help that. Nell—That's just it. I know I can't, and I'm fond of dogs.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Good Night.

Mr. Stalate—Don't those trolly cars make an awful racket when they go by the door? Miss Bord—Yes, and they pass at such inopportune moments. It was on account of them that you didn't hear the clock the last two times it struck.—Philadelphia Press.

Metaphorically Phrased.

"Don't you think your friend would stand a better chance if he were to subside and be a dark horse?" said one politician. "He couldn't," answered the other. "He's naturally so much of a kicker that he wouldn't be content with any other role than that of a mule."—Washington Post.

Coughs

"My wife had a deep-seated cough for three years. I purchased two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, large size, and it cured her completely." J. H. Burge, Macon, Col.

Probably you know of cough medicines that relieve little coughs, all coughs, except deep ones! The medicine that has been curing the worst of deep coughs for sixty years is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

LITERARY LITTLE BITS

An illustrated edition of Everyman is promised in the near future from the house of J. P. Taylor & Co., New York.

The first two additions to be made to the American Sportsman's Library are "Guns, Ammunition and Tackle" and "Rison, Musk-Ox, Sheep and Goat Family."

Kate Douglas Wiggin's new book, "Half a Dozen Housekeepers; a Story for Girls in Half a Dozen Chapters," will be brought out by the Henry Alden Company.

Jack London's new novel, which he is just finishing, is to appear serially in the Century Magazine. It is said to have all the primitive strength of "The Call of the Wild," but is even more thrilling.

Ruskin's biographer and friend, W. G. Collingwood, has written a supplementary volume of reminiscences which he calls "Ruskin Relics." The book is announced for publication by Thomas Y. Crowell & Co.

Ruth McEnery Stuart, author of "Napoleon Jackson," has finished another story of Southern life with the scene laid in the city of New Orleans. It is entitled "George Washington Jones; a Christmas Gift That Went a Begging."

A. B. Hepburn, formerly comptroller of the currency, is the author of an extensive and carefully written volume on the "History of Coinage and Currency in the United States and the Perennial Contest for Sound Money," which the Macmillan Company is publishing.

Dodd, Mead & Co. have ready John Oxenham's new novel, "Barbe of Grand Bayou," also "The Golden Fetch," a new story by Eden Phillpotts, many of the scenes of which are laid in the heart of Africa, where the hero has thrilling adventures. Both books are illustrated.

William Matthews, whose book entitled "Getting on in the World" had such an extraordinary success thirty years ago, has just published a new book for young men called "Conquering Success, or Life in Earnest." It is said to be written with all his old-time earnestness and enthusiasm.

W. A. Wilde & Co. have in press an interesting story for young people, by Eva Madden, entitled "The Little Queen," which is based upon that famous incident in English and French history, the marriage of the little seven-year-old Princess of the royal house of France to Richard II. of England.

Dr. E. E. Hale and members of his family—E. E. Hale, Jr., Arthur Herbert, and the late Robert B. Hale—are the authors of "Ballads of New England History," begun more than twenty years ago and continued intermittently as a diversion. It is soon to be published by Little, Brown & Co., and will be illustrated by Miss Ellen Hale, Philip Hale and Miss Lillian Hale.

"The Pit" has reached its eighty-third thousand, while "The Octopus," the former novel of the late Frank Norris' "Wheat Epic," is in its twenty-seventh thousand. "The Leopard's Spots," by Thomas Dixon, Jr., has sold 115,000 and "The One Woman," by the same author, has hurried the printing presses to supply 55,000 copies within the few weeks since publication.

The Use of Tobacco.

One of the most difficult things in the world is to get any authoritative conclusion about the effects of using tobacco. Literature is filled with paeans in its praise and maledictions in equal measure. There is abundant medical opinion on its evil effects on the heart, the throat and lungs, on the nerves, and everybody knows the chronic smoker whose appetite is ruined, digestion impaired, whose nerves are torn to shreds, who is a hypochondriac, a lamentable object and a cross to his friends. On the other hand, nearly everybody smokes, and there is no easier way of starting a mutiny than to cut off the tobacco supply of soldier or sailor. Persons who are engaged in hard labor, or in exhausting pursuits of any kind, know that a smoke, banishes fatigue and knits up the raveled sieve of care. If your dentist be complaisant he will say that smoking preserves the teeth and "kills the germs;" your doctor if he wants to stand high in your estimation, will tell you to "use tobacco, but use it in moderation."

Some things, however, we do know about tobacco: It costs a vast sum of money, is one of the most important industries in the world, and an important source of revenue to all nations. Americans consume 7,000,000,000 cigars annually, and the yearly increase in the consumption is nearly 600,000,000. Smokers use 3,000,000,000 cigarettes annually, and consume in other forms, as in snuff, plug, and smoking tobacco, 315,000,000 pounds, exclusive of the tobacco exported and that used in manufacture of cigars and cigarettes. The Federal treasury receives $65,000,000 annual revenue from the tobacco tax; the manufacturers alone pay in dividends $10,000,000 and in wages $50,000,000 a year, and the annual value of the manufactured product in this country is upward of $200,000,000.

Looking for Appreciation. "It looks very much as if you were putting the interests of a certain corporation above the interests of your country," said the man who does not hesitate to speak plainly. "Well," answered Senator Sorghum, "I've heard so much about republics being ungrateful that I thought I'd better take a chance of being appreciated elsewhere."—Washington Star.

Didn't Interest Him. Wife—Here's a book you ought to read, my dear. Husband—What's the name of it? Wife—"The Golden Wedding." During their fifty years of wedded life the husband and wife never spoke an unkind word to each other. It's a wonderful story. Husband—It certainly must be. But you know I don't care for fiction. —Chicago News.

The Injuries Enumerated. Casey—Shure, they do be tellin' me that Big Moike Monohan whor knocked down be an autymobile yesterday. Wor there any bones broke, I dunno? Conley—Troth an' there wor. The owner av the divil wagon got his nose broke, the chawfer got his jaw broke, an' Big Moike broke the second knuckle av his roight fish.

Sarcastic. "Would you marry a Chinaman?" he asked. "Oh, dear," the girl, who is sarcastic, replied, "this is so sudden! But I always supposed you merely looked like one."

A Fraternal Beast. Teacher—Tell me the name of the animal which provides you with most of your food and clothes. Tommy—The reindeer. Teacher—And now, what is the animal which provides you with most of your food and clothes? Tommy—Father.—Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin.

Cold Storage. "Ah, yes," said Mrs. Backby, "Emerson appears to use women of Boston; although he has passed beyond, we always keep him in our hearts." "You don't say?" replied Miss Wash. "Wonder how it felt to be kept in cold storage after death."—Philadelphia Press.

On Principal. "What makes her so solemn?" "Well, you see, she's a temperance advocate, and some one told her that her smiles were perfectly intoxicating."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Peculiar to Samos. Kava, the national beverage of Samos, is a wholesome and refreshing drink, though not agreeable to the unaccustomed palate. A really good old Kava-bowl is a curiosity difficult to obtain. The frequent brewings coat the inside with a beautiful opalescent enamel, which greatly enhances the value of the bowl.

SING SONGS ON THE WING.

Birds Often Warble Sweetly When Soaring the Blue Empyrean.

The songs of all birds gain in beauty when they are uttered on the wing. They seem to be delivered with more abandon and greater volume. The water thrush's first cousin, the oven bird, furnishes a striking example of this. His ordinary song consists of a repetition of the same note, hammered out with a constant crescendo.

Very effective it is, too, as a part of the general music of the forest, though lacking individual attractiveness on account of the monotony of its iteration. But when the bird rises above the treetops and descends after the fashion of the indigo bird to an accompaniment of scattered notes he takes far higher rank as a performer.

Not always, however, does he require the exhilaration and inspiration of an aerial toboggan to cause him to abandon his plain chant for a more florid song. I have heard him sing the latter perched on a grapevine not two feet above the ground. And as if to show that he did not reserve his superior powers for special occasions he mingled it with his plain chant and ended with the song, sometimes reversing this order.

I love to see the oven bird on the ground. There is such a ludicrous assumption of dignity on his part as he strides about the stage, never for a moment forgetting himself as far as to hop. There is the same even, measured steadiness about his movements that there is in his chant. It is only when he launches himself into the effervescent song that he forgets his staid demeanor.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Told to the Barber. The barber tucked a towel under a customer's chin and then cleared his throat. "A victim—I mean a customer of mine," he began, "told me a story the other day which illustrates to my mind, at least, that some men really don't know the difference between patent medicine and Schuyllkill water. It was this way: "This customer of mine had a friend who had a great deal of trouble with his hair. It was all the time falling out. He asked all his friends what he could get to keep it in. Most of them suggested that he get a basket, but finally one of them told him of a patent medicine.

"So the man whose hair was bothering him got a bottle of the medicine and discovered that it was a dark-brown sticky stuff that he was to rub on his hair five times a day. He tried it the first day, and it appeared to do good, but the second day some one got there first, and emptying the bottle of medicine, filled it up with sarsaparilla. And all day long that poor man rubbed the soft drink on his hair and never noticed the difference. But he did notice, though, that there was an unusually large number of flies swarming about his head. Bay rum?"—Philadelphia Press.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Use Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh--A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never failing safeguard.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommendation recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:
Dear Sir:—"The young girl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis, and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured."—Sisters of Charity.

The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies.

Send to the Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus Ohio, for a free book written by Dr. Hartman.

The following letter is from Congressman Meekison, of Napoleon, Ohio:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen: "I have used several bottles of Peruna and feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head, and feel encouraged to believe that its continued use will fully eradicate a disease of thirty years standing." David Meekison.

Dr. Hartman, one of the best known physicians and surgeons in the United States, was the first man to formulate Peruna. It was through his genius and perseverance that it was introduced to the medical profession of this country.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

WINTER IS COMING BRINGING CATARRH

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the coming of winter, for with the first breath of the "ice-king" this miserable disease is fanned into life and all the disgusting symptoms return. The nostrils are stopped up and the throat can be kept clear of mucous and spitting. Catarrh is a nuisance and source of annoyance, not only to the one who has it, but everybody else. The thick, yellow discharge from the head produces a feeling of personal defilement, and the odor of the breath is almost intolerable.

The catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles and affects the Kidneys and Bladder. It attacks the soft bones and tissues of the head and throat, causing total or partial deafness, the loss of smell, and giving to the voice a rasping, nasal twang. No part of the body is secure from its ravages. Catarrh makes you sick all over, for it is a disease of the blood, and circulates all through the system, and for this reason, sprays, washes, inhalers, powders and salves have proven failures.

The way to cure Catarrh thoroughly and permanently is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the membranes of the body inflamed, and nothing does this so surely and promptly as S. S. S. As long as the blood is poisoned with Catarrhal matter the discharge of mucus and other disgusting symptoms of the miserable disease will continue. S. S. S. goes to the fountain source of the trouble and purifies and enriches the blood, and so invigorates and tones up the system that catching cold and contracting Catarrh is not so likely to occur. Keep the blood in order and winter's coming brings none of the discomforts of Catarrh.

Write us particulars of your case, and let our physicians help you get rid of this disease. We make no charge whatever for medical advice.

NO SIGN OF CATARRH IN THIRTEEN YEARS.

Krebs, Ind. Ter., Aug. 1, 1903.

Dear Sirs: About thirteen years ago I used your remedy for Catarrh. I had been troubled with it for about nine years, but since taking S. S. S. have never been worried with it. I feel able to recommend S. S. S. as a sure cure for Catarrh.
