Should the sale be perfected and the business go into the thousand dollars. Should the sale be perfected and the business go into the possession of an English incorporated company, Walla Walla will be deprived, annually, of the snug sum of shout thirty thousand dollars; being the profits on the purchase value, rated at twenty percent. As the net profits will be distribted by an English corporation among its non resident stock holders. Walla Walla will support an enterprise which will in the short period of five years withdraw from that eity a sum equal to the purchase money paid for the plant. It is possible that the estimates herein for the first period are too high, as the amount paid for good will, may lower the percentum of profits in the beginning. But it is well known that a well established brewery business with a good and growing custom is very profitable, and it is believed that the stimated profits are not placed to high. It is sufficient however, as an illustration of the possible effects of the ownership and control by alien corporations, composed of alien nonresident stockholders, of the leading profitable manufacturing and industrial enterprises of the United States. Jenus Dream.

Jenke had a queer dream the other night. He thought he saw a prize-fighters' ring, and in the middle of it stood a doughty little champion who met and deliberately knocked over, one by one, a score or mere of big, burly-looking fellows, as they advanced to the amack. Glants as they were in size, the valiant plgnay proved more than a match for them. It was all so funny that Jenks woke up laughing. He accounts for the dream by the fact that he had just come to the conclusion, after trying nearly every big, drastic pill on the market, that Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or tiny Sugar-coated Granules, essaily "knock out" and best all the big pills hollow!
