Dean was born on Nov. 3, 1927, at Republican City, Nebraska, to Earl and Ruth Bush, and lived there until he was in the third grade, when their family moved to Twin Falls, Idaho. Bush

Dean graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1945. Although the war had just ended, Dean joined the Marines and served his country for 2 years before receiving an honorable discharge in 1948. Two weeks later, Dean Bush and Marjorie Albee were married at the Twin Falls United Methodist Church. Dean attended and graduated from Idaho State College School of Pharmacy in Pocatello, Idaho, in 1951.

Dean served his pharmacy apprenticeship in Richland, Washington, and then he and Marge moved to Pendleton, Oregon, where the three boys joined the family. David was the first, then Larry and then Randy Bush. While there, Dean was a snare drummer and founding member of the Pendleton Drum & Bugle Corps. He enjoyed playing with the Drum Corps, and they took many trips together, and also played at the Pendleton Round-Up.

After 12 years in Pendleton, Dean and his family moved to Kennebec, Washington, where he worked, and Marge continued raising the boys. In 1971, the family moved to Hermiston where he worked at Hermiston Drug for many years. Dean was preceded in death by his parents, Ruth and Earl Bush, and his eldest son, David Bush. Dean is survived by his wife Marge and sons Larry and Randy, all of Hermiston; Valerie (David) Bush of Lincoln City, Oregon; grandson Nathan Bush of Molalla, Oregon, and granddaughter Nicole (Ian) Stevens in Salem, Oregon.

Dean was a loving husband and father. He was hard-working and humble, and had a very even temper. He was a superb cartographer, having the ability to look at a map of an area he hadn't been to and envision all the surrounding terrain. He also loved astronomy and stargazing. He took the family on many trips to the Oregon coast, and all around the west, Canada and Minnesota.

He was also very patriotic, considered himself a lifelong Marine, and nearly reenlisted in the Marines during the Korean War. Funeral services were held on Saturday Oct. 3rd at the Hermiston United Methodist Church. Burial with military honors followed at the Hermiston Cemetery.
