 E. D. CALKINS.
 Do not fail to attend the fair today. We assure you the exhibit will surprise you.
 If you have not already brought in your fruit for the fair, get it in this morning by 10 o'clock.
 Criss Nickelsen will preach in the Methodist barracks Sunday, October 1st, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
 J. B. Huot went to The Dalles Tuesday, taking his race horse. He will remain until the close of the fair.
 Mr. Backus has moved his barn to his block in the western part of town, and will make a dwelling house of it.
 Insecticides for fruit pests and etc.; London Purple, Paris Green, L. X. L., White oil soap, powdered heliolebe.
 Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were passengers for Portland on the Regulator Monday, returning by train Tuesday night.
 Travel to the county seat is very light from this point, owing to the fact that to do any business one has to remain two nights.
 Mrs. M. H. Loy went to her old home in Kansas last week, making the trip for the benefit of her health, and expects to remain until spring.
 Rev. James Parker, presiding elder of the U. B. church for his district, arrived here Thursday morning, and is conducting a series of meetings.
 The hump-backed salmon are very plentiful and have found their way up to the falls at Winans. So far no females have been discovered in the run here.
 Miss Mamie Overbaugh and Mrs. Swan, both of White Salmon, who have been seriously ill for some weeks, are convalescing. Dr. Brosius attended them.
 Mrs. Hayes, sister of J. P. Watson, has moved here with her family and expects to make this place her home. She has rented the Morse building, next the armory.
 Superintendent Cephas F. Clapp is expected to occupy the pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday, and also to address the Young People's society at 4:30 p. m.
 An assay of the rock brought in by the party of which we was whom showed no gold and the same amount of silver. This leaves us on neither side of the Sherman bill.
 The display of winter apples at the fair is a splendid one, though owing to the late summer they have not yet completed their growth, or taken on their full assortment of colors.
 Mr. H. F. Davidson and wife arrived home Monday and were given a reception by the members of the A. F. and A. M. of this place, Mr. Davidson being a member of the order and lodge.
 Misses Annie and Bessie Lang of The Dalles and Miss Eaton of Portland went to Cloud Cap, Tuesday, to remain a week. Hon. M. A. Moody and a party from The Dalles will join them to-day.
 Dr. Brosius went to the mills Friday morning to attend the little son of Mr. Morley who was injured the day before. The boy was playing in the log chute, when a rock came down it striking him on the head.
 Mr. Joseph Story of Boston, accompanied by Miss Teal of Portland, came down from The Dalles Tuesday for the purpose of having a look at the valley. They returned Wednesday evening, highly pleased with their visit.
 Cloud Cap Inn will be closed for the season as soon as the Moody party now there leave, which will be some time next week. The season has been the poorest since the opening of the Inn, due largely to the world's fair and financial stringency.
 D. D. Rogers has a cider-mill of his own make, which he runs by water power. It was made for his own use, but he makes cider for others, taking one-third of the yield for his work. Just give his mill a trial, if you want cider and want it quickly, for he makes it while you wait.

S. E. Bartmess will sell for cash only and at a reduction of from 5 to 10 per cent.

We have not pushed any of our subscribers for amounts due this office, but we will have to ask that they adjust their indebtedness at the earliest possible date.

A rumor is in circulation that the Union Pacific will put on the local passenger trains, tomorrow. Inquiry of the station agent and trainmen, shows that they know nothing of the change.

Miss Flora York, formerly of Hood River, was married last week at New Whatcom, Washington. The best wishes of her many friends here for a long and pleasant voyage over the matrimonial sea, are assuredly hers.

Mrs. Robt. Reid and daughter, Miss Ella, went to Vancouver Thursday to attend the wedding of Mrs. Reid's niece, Miss Hattie Rand. The bride is well known here, having taught a term of school in this district some three years ago.

We sent Walter and Miss Logsdon to Indiana last week, but they hesitated not our warning and remained. Walter tells us he expects to start for his old home early in October, but having been deceived once, we have concluded to make him take the responsibility and go when he gets ready.

The prune crop in the valley has been a remarkable one. Every dryer in the valley is running to its fullest capacity, but cannot begin to handle the fruit. Cloudy weather has put out the sun, as far as using it for drying purposes is concerned. The heavy wind and rains of two weeks ago damaged the crop considerably, but still there is more than can be cared for.

For The Exposition. Commencing Wednesday of this week, the special rate to Portland on account of the exposition, went into effect on the Union Pacific. Round trip tickets admitting bearer to the exposition are on sale, for $3.00. These tickets are good on regular passenger trains Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, only, and for four days from date on the same. Should ticket holders desire to remain longer than four days the time will be extended by presenting ticket at the company's office, in Portland, 254 Washington street. The exposition gives promise of being far superior to any of its predecessors, and will no doubt be visited by everybody.

Our Fair. The fruit exhibit is not all in place as we go to press, but enough is in sight to warrant the assertion that the exhibit will be a success. Nay, more, that it will surprise even our own people by quantity, quality and variety is a certainty.

While the exhibit was intended only for the eyes of the people of this section, no one need feel ashamed to have it seen by any one. Three tables extend the entire length of the hall, about seventy feet, and these will, we think, prove insufficient to contain the display. At the end of the hall a long shelf contains a handsome display of jellies, jams, etc. The hall is handsomely decorated, and taken altogether, Hood River Valley may justly feel proud of her first local fair.

He Brought It Back. Thursday a young gentleman visited this office for the purpose of getting a copy of the paper to send to a friend in the East. We cheerfully donated the paper in so good a cause, but our generosity was evidently not appreciated, for the aforesaid young gentleman deliberately walked off with a sheet of sticky fly-paper we had just purchased to keep the flies off the GLACIER. The fly-paper had been left very carelessly lying on a chair, and we will give the young man the credit of not being aware that the paper had "got onto him," as he returned it when discovered. Thanks.

The First Carload. Saturday the first carload of fruit ever shipped from this station was started for Omaha consigned to Peyeke Bros. The car was loaded with prunes and forty boxes of apples, the fruit being furnished by W. B. Perry, B. Warren, M. V. Rand and S. F. Blythe. A strip of canvas on each side of the car bore the legend, "I'm full of prunes from Hood River, Oregon. What's the matter with you?" By our next issue returns will be had, and if satisfactory, no doubt other carloads will follow it. There were twelve tons of fruit in the lot.

Cheap Property. The Heald farm has been sold to a Mr. Chandler of Portland for $4,000. There is some litigation liable to arise over the sale, there being a question concerning the nature of the deed from Heald to White, who sold the property to Chandler. Mr. Heald claims the deed was in trust. One thing is sure, that it is the cheapest piece of property at the price named in Hood River valley.

Gone to His Reward. The big Brahma rooster who erstwhile made night hideous with his crow, is no more. He left our place after reading the notice we gave him nearly two months ago, since which time he has worked his way towards the outskirts of the town by slow degrees, making each citizen along the line of his retreat tired of life. He ran against a shotgun loaded with buckshot and yielded to the inevitable. There is a rumor that his carcass furnished the beef for the barbecue last Saturday, but this is a mistake, as T. C. Dallas and O. B. Hartley purchased the remains.

A Pleasant Reunion.

The camp-fire last Saturday was a decided success in every way, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The crowd was one of the largest ever assembled in Hood River, and the way the beans and barbecued beef disappeared when the dinner call was made was a caution. Besides the above solid foundation for a meal, the Relief Corps had the superstructure and trimmings, in the shape of pies, cakes and jellies; chickens and ham, roast, boiled and fried; in fact everything eatable and palatable. The old "boys" exchanged experiences, and lived over again the more pleasant days of the war. The blazing camp-fires at night, gave a realistic touch to the scene, and it was not until a late hour that the fires were allowed to die out, or the good nights to be said.

To the Farmers.

We will do all kinds of grinding on Saturdays this season except flour making. We have learned that good flour can only be made out of our dry wheat by dampening the grain after it has passed through the smutter and allowing it to sweat a few days. Leave your wheat with us and give us a chance to do good work. You will then use our flour in preference to any other. HARRISON BROS., Proprietors Hood River flouring mills.
