CONSUMING THE CULLS

Hood River valley orchardists welcome the announcement of the Hood River Apple Vinegar Co. stating that the company has increased its capital stock to $150,000 and that a canning department would be inaugurated.

We believe from action at recent council meetings that the city will open up the streets of this district. It may be that the city government has been somewhat remiss in not having given the streets of this portion of the city attention before now.

KEEPING OUT OF POLITICS

Whenever anything smacks in the least of politics, the Commercial club as a body and its board of directors should keep entirely clear of it.

The directors of the club acted wisely in not endorsing the bill recently submitted to them. Whatever each one of them may think and how they act is a different matter.

THE WINTER SPORTS

Who has not enjoyed the snow of the past two weeks? Of course, when it was a little slushy under foot or when the snow was hard packed on some sidewalk and you took a plunge feet foremost or head foremost into a snow-bank while some joshing friend looked on, you were not kind to Boreas or Pluvius, either with your words or in your thoughts.

THE COST OF LIVING

Joe Steinhardt gave the housewives at Pittsburg a few straight facts the other day as to why the high cost of living prevailed. Joe is a pretty shrewd Dutchman and a close observer.

THE BONDED DISTRICT

The East Side has now made secure its biggest asset, an irrigation system covering the entire district. In our opinion the ranchers and orchardists of that district have acted wisely.

THE COUNTRY PAPER

No one, be he or she a resident of a small city or a rural community, can keep a more interesting record than that of the home newspaper. It is a file that becomes really valuable after years pass because of the information it contains.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Some of the citizens of the Hood River valley scarcely know that the community has a commercial club. Others use the home of the institution in the city as rural families in former days used the parlor.

Apple prices continue to look better.

The good old reliable Newtown is going to bring in a lot of velvet to the growers this year, judging from all present indications.

"amen." These "too oft" calls for contributions haven't boosted the club. Indeed, some of the country people might declare, and some city ones, too, that they never heard of the Commercial club, except when a "touch" for some purpose was being made.

We do not mean to imply that the money raised in the past has not been spent for good purposes. However, the club has gone a little too strong on occasions. But we do grasp joyfully at the announcement that the future policy of the directors will not be to raise publicity funds.

The new directorate announces a departure from old customs in having a series of social meetings and a series of lectures by well known men of the northwest. These plans are to be commended. Join the club and help carry them out.

RELATIVE TO THE LIGHTING CONTRACT

Because of a temporary restraining order secured by the Pacific Power & Light Co. through J. F. Batchelder, the city of Hood River has saved the sum of $400 since last summer, reads a statement in the Hood River News of yesterday.

LEGISLATURE ELECTS DR. HARRY LANE

Without a ripple on the calm, the legislature elected Dr. Harry Lane, Democrat, to the United States senate Monday. As to the policies that he will follow while in Washington, Dr. Lane gives the following:

WASCO MAY SECURE $1000 FROM EXCHANGE

The farmers of Wasco contemplate taking advantage of the offer made by the Chicago Grain Exchange and raised $1000 for the purpose of defraying the expenses of an expert who shall aid in the increase of the production of cereals and thereby receive a like amount from the exchange.

A Mail Order Deal

Down in Oklahoma the other day a man went into a shop to buy a saw. He saw the kind and asked the price. It was $1.65, the dealer said.

STEINHARDT GIVES MARKETING ADVICE

Joseph Steinhardt, of Steinhardt & Kelly, created quite a sensation among Smoky City housewives last week, when he gave out a hot interview to all the daily papers on the high cost of living in the stock market.

High School Literary Society

The students have organized together for the object of intellectual, social and moral culture of each student in the high school as well as to promote public speaking.

Little Snow Stories

The guests of the Hotel Oregon seem to have been having more fun out of the snow than most other residents of the city. Numerous snowball battles have been participated in by Joe Vood, Archie Adams, Dr. Wilson, Louis Good, and E. E. Duncan, who came up from Portland for the week end.

New Railroad

The present year is likely to witness the completion of another railroad across the eastern half of the state. The Oregon Eastern, being built from Vale westward to Dog Mountain, 140 miles, is progressing favorably and railroad men say they will complete the construction for this distance within the year.

Washington Apples Worth $6,366,975

The fruit crop of the state of Washington in the year 1912 was worth $11,791,018, according to the annual report of Horticultural Commissioner F. A. Humbley. He declares that $2,000,000 more would have been received if proper provision had been made for saving the culls, or low grade fruit.

FINNS, FURS AND FEATHERS

Propagation of Game Fishes

The state of Oregon owns thirteen different fish stations and hatcheries. Up to the time the State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners took office, these hatcheries were used almost solely for the propagation of salmon to increase the commercial fishing interests.
