When subscribers desire a change in address this office should be notified promptly, and weeks before if possible. A penny gives old address as well as the new. Also, Hood River subscribers should notify this office at once when changing their address from one rural route to another, or from city delivery to country delivery, or vice versa. If you do not get your paper promptly, notify us by mail or telephone and the matter will be investigated.

THE LOOP ROAD

Portland's water board still talks about what must be done to keep roads off the Hood River water reserve. Dr. Lane must see obstacles in the way of the bills that he and Representative LaForey seem to think will be the only means of saving Portland's water supply from contamination. Let us hope so. But Senator Lane suggests that Portland buy all the reserve, and then she will be able to control it as she sees fit. A dispatch in later Portland papers declare that the settlers in the district which has been isolated by reserve are perfectly willing to sell out.

Now, it would probably be well if Portland or the government remove these settlers from the district, giving them fair prices for the land that they have labored to clear. Yet that has nothing to do with the road question. The wild and scenic region around the base of Mount Hood is going to attract campers every summer. The bigger the reserve Portland has the bigger will be the task of patrolling it. As it is, men slip through the hidden trails on the reserve while the guards are not looking. Would it not be well, as Mr. Clark said last week, to allow these hold spirits who want to come in close contact with the mountain scenery the privilege of traveling over the beaten paths? They would not then be tempted to take the byways of the reserve. Portland can better protect herself and the growth of trees on the reserve by a closer cooperation with the forestry service of the United States government which sees the real necessity of having a road through at the point proposed. If a bad fire were to start there now with no means of transporting fire fighting apparatus, the whole reserve might be swept bare, and if the road is allowed, the forest rangers will aid in the patrolling of the Hood River reserve.

Verily, we hope Dr. Lane's fears are well founded and that the people of Portland will have time to learn of what the road up the Sandy river and over the reserve to the Hood River valley will mean to them. If his bill carries, the construction of the wonderful loop boulevard will be prevented.

MEMORIAL DAY

Least we forget and lest the youth of the land grow up without ever having been fired with a deep feeling of patriotism, why not accept the invitation of the Canby Post of the G. A. R., and participate in the proper observance of Memorial Day on Friday of next week? It really seems as though the youth of today lacked the sincere patriotism of earlier days. They assume a blasé attitude and are indifferent to these deeper sentiments.

Business men close their shops, as a rule, on Memorial Day and then have an excuse to go to the hall game. A handful of old soldiers and mayhaps a few school children go to the cemetery and strew flowers on the graves of the country's soldiers who have passed away. As the Oregonian said last week in an appeal to have the old battleship Oregon saved from the shells of target practice, "Our biggest battles have been won on sentiment." And we think that should the nation be confronted with a crisis the sentiment of the young and old of the land would spring up and be reborn, but it would otherwise have, if continually kept green.

An overdisplay of sentiment, of course, is foolish, for wise men are temperate in all things. However, we would do well to join with the old soldiers and march with them to pay tribute to their dead comrades and have our emotions quickened by the thoughts that their addresses will bring out on Memorial Day.

SCHOOL FAIRS

Local students should feel a pride in the words that were spoken last week by Mr. Harrington who is visiting the schools of the state in an effort to create renewed interest in the industrial fairs. More interest is now taken at the local schools than in any other in the state, according to the visitor. We shall see a result of this enthusiasm at the fair to be held here this fall, when exhibits displayed will attract our surprised attention.

The prize list of the industrial fair of this county is printed in another column of the Glacier this week. If there is any one of the many school children of the county that is not already growing a bunch of chickens or growing things in his or her garden to display at this fair, he should take a close look at the list and decide on what he can best grow, and then enter the contest with a determination to win. However, the value of the prize should not be taken too highly. The boys and girls want to enter these fairs, and they are promoted by the educators over the country for this purpose, that he may assume the proper attitude to the industries on which a state's nation is built, that he may not come to look down upon and despise the home duties that one must perform.

Local streams were stocked with over 300,000 trout fry last year. There are some who say that the scenery and the sport to be found in the hills and along the streams is an asset that is not to be considered far beneath that of the apple industry. Well, let's aid the new fish commissioners in getting all the improvements that we need in the local stream to care for this asset.

If gold dust were palatable people might find it cheaper to eat the precious metal today than to satisfy their hunger with beef.

GRAND COUNCIL CONVENES HERE

The delegates to the Grand Council of the Royal and Select Masons arrived here yesterday morning on a special coach attached to the morning local of the O. W. R. & N. Co. and after a drive over the valley entered the business sessions of the Grand Council, which were completed last night. A number of the visiting Masons were accompanied by their wives. The ladies were entertained while in the city by the wives of local Council members. A banquet was tendered the visitors last night.

The visiting Masons returned to Portland this morning. Those attending the Council were: L. C. Marshall and H. R. Blyden, Albany; G. R. Mosler, H. F. Rhodes, John F. Bovard and J. B. Patterson, Eugene; J. K. McGregor, Mosler; E. P. Redfield, J. E. Woods, A. W. France, H. L. Parker, A. C. Kunnsey, D. L. Claude, R. W. Koblman, E. W. Henderson, Roy Quakenbush, Geo. E. Higgins, H. G. Norton, Geo. H. Botsford, J. H. Richmond and H. H. Young and M. L. Meyers, of Salem. Mrs. Meyers, Mrs. Quakenbush, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Richmond and Mrs. Young accompanied their husbands.

FORTY DELEGATES ATTEND CONVOCACTION

The sessions of the annual convocation of the Eastern Oregon diocese of the Episcopal church were brought to a close here last night, when an address was delivered to a mass meeting of all denominations at the Asbury Methodist church by Rev. Ernest V. Shaylor, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Seattle. A large audience crowded the big church building and short addresses were delivered by others of the local clergy. Forty delegates from all parts of eastern Oregon have been in attendance at the convocation. They will begin to leave for their homes this morning.

The visitors were taken for a ride over the West Side Tuesday and were entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Miller, the sister of Bishop R. L. Padlock. On Tuesday night they were delightfully entertained at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Bone on Oak street.

The business sessions of the House of Churchwomen were held yesterday morning at the Christian Church, while the men held their meeting at St. Mark's church. At noon the delegates were served with a luncheon by the members of St. Mark's guild at the rectory.

OAK GROVE SCHOOL PLANS MAY DAY

The pupils of the Oak Grove school will enjoy a May Day celebration tomorrow afternoon, when a parade will form at the school at 2:30 o'clock. The procession will be led by the Goddess of Liberty, followed by the Little May queen, fairies and goddesses. At the play ground the crown will be placed upon the head of the May queen, Miss Marian Crapper. The children will enjoy drills and skips, and the winners of the May pole, and four Indian tribes will give a Sioux war dance around the big bonfire.

WENATCHEE CROP SHOWS INCREASE

"The Wenatchee apple crop will be larger by 1582 cars than last year, according to estimates of Fruit Inspector Darlington," says H. F. Davidson who returned last week from the Washington fruit district where he had been to attend a meeting of the board of trustees of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors. "Mr. Darlington has made estimates now for the past several years, and his figures have always been very accurate."

According to the estimates that have come to Mr. Davidson the crop of the Yakima district will be lighter than that of last year, as well that of the Milton-Freewater district. However, indications from blooms cause estimates in all other northwestern districts to be larger.

MOUNT HOOD CO. STARTS ITS SAWS

The Mount Hood Milling Co. is now operating two saw mills in the Upper Valley. One, that south of Parkdale, has been at work now for over a week and is turning out a large supply of heavy timbers. The land in the vicinity is being cleared and the mill works up the trees felled by the ranchers. Shipments of the sawed timbers are being made to points as far east as Utah.

The line of the Mount Hood Railroad Co. has been extended south from Parkdale to the mill that the lumber may be loaded right from the saw aboard the cars.

The other mill owned by the company is in the Middle Valley. It was started the first of the week.

Veteran Answers Last Call

R. Pealer, one of the earliest pioneers to the valley and a veteran of the Federal army of the Civil war, who for a number of years has been at the Old Soldiers Home at Roseburg, died Monday night. John A. Wilson was appointed by the Canby Post G. A. R. to go to Roseburg and accompany the remains of Mr. Pealer to this city. He arrived yesterday on the morning local of the O. W. R. & N. and the funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Bartness chapel, Rev. J. H. Swift, pastor of the Christian church, conducting the services. The burial services were conducted by members of the Grand Army.

The only survivor of Mr. Pealer in the valley is his grandson, Howard W. Pealer.

Compensation Act of Washington

O. Hall the eighth grade met at their beautiful country home last Thursday evening. After a delicious supper enjoyed by all, games were played. In the literary contest Florence Castner won the prize. In addition to those who passed the tests in the city schools, the following students were successful: District No. 1—William Wickland, John Michael, Roland Haller. Dist. No. 2—Neal Summester, Mary Dempsey, Calla Berry, Ruth Nicholson. Dist. No. 4—Edna Thornbury, Mattie Jensen, Muriel Seaton. Dist. Workman's Act May Be Referred

A. Whisman, of the Timberman, of Portland, was here the first of the week in the interest of the Workmen's Compensation act passed at the last session of the legislature. Mr. Whisman says that petitions are being circulated for the purpose of referring the bill to the people. While it is not believed that the bill would be turned down by the people, an effort is being made to head off the petitions and prevent those backing them from securing enough signatures to refer the bill. Those opposing the bill are sleeping in the background and it is not yet known just how effective a fight may be put against the measure. The

Power Co. Crew Continues Work

A crew of men has been employed by the Pacific Power & Light Co. during the past week to bring the construction of the pipeline and powerhouse on the Hood river to such a state of completion that it can be left without causing damage to the tracks of the Mount Hood Railroad Co. News was spread the first of the week that the company would resume operations. However, the men will be dismissed as soon as the work is so completed that the railroad company will be protected.

Indians Ready to Pick Berries

The Yakima and Warm Springs Indians are already sending their scouts into the valley to make preliminary negotiations for harvesting the strawberry crop. The Red Skins are on time, even though the weather has prevented the berries from ripening as early as usual. The strawberry crop will be about two weeks late this year.

High School News

The play, "Twenty Third of May," will be given tonight at the Monroe opera house by the members of the senior class. The actors have been running daily rehearsals and claim to have a play worthy of your attention. The commencement exercises of the senior class will be held tomorrow night at Heilbronner hall. All are cordially invited to attend.

The meet with The Dalles Saturday closes the high school year (and incidentally runs this weekly column of news out of the paper till September comes again). The program will probably be as follows: In the morning at 9 o'clock the tennis meet will be held at the courts on the high school grounds. After the tennis tournament the two high schools will meet in a field meet at Columbia park. After that comes the "eats" on the high school grounds and in the afternoon the base ball teams will mix at Columbia park.
