RILEY TAKES HEARERS TO MOUNTAINS

Just as many Hood River people overlook church attendance until Billy Sunday comes here for his annual recuperation and gives a talk or two to stir his neighbors from spiritual lethargy, so did scores of Hood River men and women, although they have lived in the snow peak's shadow for years—a lifetime in cases—learn from Frank French Riley last Friday night of a woeful ignorance of the real Mount Hood and the lure of its bewitching scenery. Just as Mr. Riley's lectures over the east and central sections of the country have brought scores of men and women to the international playgrounds of the Northwest in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, so did his talk here result in numerous resolutions on the part of his hearers to go out and get personally acquainted with the glaciers and with mountain lakes, meadows and flower gardens.

While Mr. Riley, who was brought here under the auspices of the Riverside Forum, asked his big audience, crowding the high school auditorium, to imagine themselves citizens of some eastern city, learning for the first time of the Northwest, the eloquent Portlander digressed at times to speak frankly to Hood River people and to remind them of the asset they held in scenery. He intimated that the income from the tourist crop might some day exceed that from apples. With the Columbia Highway paved from the Pacific to Hood River, Mr. Riley declared that the Apple Valley would become the gateway to all the mid-Columbia's wonderland of mountain and forest.

Mr. Riley's lecture was illustrated with handsome color photography slides. These were flashed on the screen by Homer A. Rogers, who has been with the lecturer on many of his excursions into the wilds, as well as his tours east. The visitor was introduced by Capt. Wilbur.

Mr. Riley covered the scenic regions of the two states and the province. His photographs showed scenes of the principal cities, Hood River was depicted, with her sea of apple trees and the overhanging peak. All in all the lecture gave to Hood River people an opportunity for an evening in an enchanting fairyland—yet a real fairyland, that of the great northwest, owned by all Americans.

NEURALGIA

Dangerous drugs or tonics are of little use. They may relieve the pain but do not remove the cause. The help that counts most is nourishment.

NEW GARAGE WILL RISE HERE SOON

Hood River will have a new concrete garage, 100x100 feet, next year. Herbert Field, Hal Nesbit and J. L. Stewart, who had taken the agency for the Atterbury truck and Lexington Automobile, have purchased a corner at the intersection of Fifth and G streets, where they will build the proposed new structure. Plans call for a building of basement and one story, at least. A second story may be added. The new building will cost approximately $20,000.

The promoters of the new garage, who will call the new concern the Columbia River Highway Automobile & Storage Co., already operate the Tire Shop. This, with the exception that a hydraulic vulcanizing machine for motor truck tires will be moved to the new quarters, will be operated as formerly.

THE MOON IS GETTING THE BLAME

The moon is now being charged with the damage resulting to the Hood River apple crop by a freeze during the last of October.

"The frost occurred during the dark of the moon," says John McConn, Upper Valley orchardist, "and as a result the apples will not hold up."

Mr. McConn, who is said to have announced the loss of fruit at the time of the frost, says the fruit might have been frozen more severely without damage had other lunar phases prevailed.

Mrs. Snow is in Boston

Mrs. W. G. Snow, who recently left for a visit with relatives in Detroit, writes that she is now in Boston. She states that she had a very pleasant visit with Rev. Macnamara and family in Boston while en route to New England. Mrs. Snow's letter continues:

"The Macnamaras are nicely located and are very well and happy in their new home. I enjoyed my visit in Detroit and New York City, and saw many things of interest. Detroit has made a wonderful growth, and homes are at a premium. I hope Hood River is prospering, and I hope to go west in the spring. For I think it surpasses the east in many ways and seems home to me."

WHERE BETTER BEGINS

Better hides and better tanning are the beginning of the "Better" that goes all the way through Star Brand Shoes and all the way up from the bottom of the soles. Better tanning is the very ground-work of substance, the foundation of stability—it determines what shoes are made of. The Better that begins with making better leather is WORKED in, SHAPED in, SEWED in, and summed up in shoes that serve better, feel better, look better, and last longer.

Wood Lots Come in Handy

The fuel famine now prevailing in Hood River is serious for valley orchardists who have no forested acreage. Apple growers, just as city residents, have been accustomed to purchasing their fuel. Because of its easy transportation, coal has, perhaps, been more favored by rural folk than those of the city.

Orchardists owning woodlots have been forced in the past few weeks to cut their own fuel.

Chamberlain's Tablets
