W. C. T. U. ORPHAN-AGE DRIVE PLANNED

Never before have the people of Oregon manifested such a sympathetic interest in a campaign drive as is being shown in the present movement launched by the Oregon W. C. T. U. to establish a farm home for dependent children, according to H. G. McPike, county organizer for the state committee, who is in Hood River assisting the local W. C. T. U. branch and other child welfare workers to organize this county for the drive. Leslie Butler will serve as county chairman during the campaign.
 "The establishment of a farm home where these little dependent waifs can be given home training under ideal surroundings is, to my mind, one of the greatest humanitarian events ever launched in the state, and for that reason there should be an instant and generous response when the appeal for funds is made," said Mr. McPike.
 "Every man and woman in Hood River county should be proud of the fact that she has given something toward the establishment of this home."
 The drive will be held during the week of November 15 to 22. It is hoped that the total fund of $225,000 will be procured during the one week of the drive. This sum will be needed to purchase and equip a farm home which is to be situated near Corvallis. That the quota of this county will be over-subscribed is predicted.

English Market in Bad Way
 Cables from British markets indicate that apple markets were in pretty bad condition. Fruit was selling last week, says the Packer, in all markets and a great deal of it arrived poor and wasty. The impending national strike is still on. It was thought early in the week that all parties interested had reached an agreement but the trouble broke out again Wednesday. Railroads have not been shipping and commerce has been pretty well tied up. The range on good apples was 50 to 60 shillings, and poor stock down to 20 shillings. Bartlett pears were selling at from 100 shillings down. A shilling in our money at this writing is worth a little less than 17 cents.
 Exports from all American ports last week are about 100,000 barrels.

Baker Ballew Passes
 Baker Ballew, Harney county home-steader, who came here last summer, died Tuesday night at the Cottage Hospital. Mr. Ballew recently fell while engaged in ranch work. At first the accident was not considered serious. Complications, however, arose and he became unconscious several days ago. Mr. Ballew recently purchased a West Side ranch. He is survived by his widow.

CHU CHIN CHOW IN PORTLAND SOON

At the Heilig Theatre, Portland, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 24, 25, 26, 27, R. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present for the first time in the west, Oscar Asche's extravaganza of the Orient, "Chu Chin Chow." There will be two matinees, Thanksgiving day and Saturday. The night performances start at 8 o'clock and the matinees at 2 p. m.
 Chu Chin Chow is a brilliant tale of the Arabian Nights, staged on a scale of superlative magnificence. It requires the services of 300 people to give each performance. There are 567 costumes of Oriental splendor, 14 scenes of rare beauty and 18 musical numbers by Frederick Norton, the famous English composer.
 It might be interesting to note that Chu Chin Chow is still running in London where it was first produced five years ago, having since broken all records for long theatrical runs.

W. H. Peugh Passes
 F. M. Peugh received a telegram yesterday from Los Angeles announcing the death of his father, William H. Peugh, pioneer of Wasco. Mr. Peugh, aged 73, moved to Hood River in 1900. He has resided in California for the past four years.

Well, It's all Over, and It Might Have Been Worse

The election is over and even if it did not go just to suit us in every way, still you know it might have been worse, and now we can all get down to business and get in the game for all we are worth, and we will have no time to reason or complain. The Good Old U. S. A.'s The Greatest and Best Country on Earth and we will have good reason to be proud of our native land; if we are not, then we need fixing, because it is our own fault. So, whatever our politics, let's all hurrah for Our New President, and our other newly-elected officers, and get behind them and push.

If Disappointed In The Election, These Prices Will Console You

Apple Shipments Controlled
 Apple shippers of the Yakima valley, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review, as a result of an informal meeting have decided to cut down shipments to prevent flooding the market and further depressing the value of fruit. The effect of their action is clearly shown in records of the week's shipments, when but 604 carloads were rolled, as compared with 804 carloads for the previous week, according to reports of H. A. Allen, general agent for Northern Pacific.
 To date 6142 carloads, of which 3388 were apples, have been sent from the valley. The output, according to a conservative estimate by C. H. Swartz, of the Yakima Fruit Growers' Association, is worth about $7,198,800.
 By this time a year ago 19,325 cars at a valuation of at least $15,487,500 and possibly more, had been sent out. The difference largely represents orchardists' loss through disastrous winter freeze last year and demoralized marketing conditions on account of increased freight rates and bumper crops in the east.
