BISHOP MEADE HERE SUNDAY EVENING

Bishop Meade, of Denver, addressed a full house at Asbury church Sunday evening. He made use of the scripture in the second chapter of Mark's gospel which deals with new wines in old wine skins and new patches on old garments. After comparing methods of fighting in the recent war with those of the civil war, he told some startling things about modern medicine and surgery compared with the old ways.

The discourse centered about the new methods of Christian churches. Of the 12,000,000 enlisted men, 80 per cent had no connection or interest in religion. Something is evidently wrong with the methods of the Christian churches, declared Bishop Meade. He then told of some of the constructive work done for young people in churches at the present time. Gymnasiums, rooms for social affairs, music clubs have led, not only the young people, but their parents to give their lives in Christian service, said he.

Riverside churches at Odell and Pine Grove were dismissed so that their congregations might attend.

COTTAGES BUILT FOR MOTOR TOURISTS

Mrs. J. W. Forbes and Mrs. Lou Danforth have launched a new enterprise for the accommodation of visiting motor tourists. The women have already made available a number of cottages, in the Heights residence section, which will be leased daily, weekly or longer to motor parties. Carpenters are at work, and the plans of the new hostesses call for eight cottages. Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. Danforth have equipped a dining room convenient to the cottages, and visitors may take the choice of cooking their own meals or visiting the dining rooms. The women will also make a specialty of furnishing afternoon teas.

Murray Gets Stolen Car and Reward

Vernon Murray Sunday received from Chester H. Treichel, of Caldwell Id., a check for $25 as a reward for the recovery of his automobile. The machine was stolen while Mr. Treichel was fishing in Malheur county. He was away on a stream, the automobile parked in a canyon. Mr. Murray located the machine near Cascade Locks. The driver, supposedly the thief, had gone for gasoline, his supply exhausted. He grew suspicious and did not return.

Sunday Mr. Murray apprehended W. R. Knight, of Corbett, whose car was left standing in Cascade Locks with the motor running. Trafford E. Smith was operating his car Saturday night without sufficient light to reveal the rear license plate. E. A. Brown, of Portland, left a $10 bail, when he was arrested by Mr. Murray for speeding on the Highway.

Butcher and Dickerson Form Company

J. C. Butcher, former owner of the Hood River Spray Co., while here over the week end on business, announced that he and W. B. Dickerson, former owner of an East Side orchard and director of the Apple Growers Association, will launch a large spray factory at San Jose, Calif., at an early date. The California concern will manufacture sprays of all kinds. Especial attention will be given the production of miscible oil, which is now used extensively in California, Mr. Butcher says. Mr. Butcher and wife, who spent the winter in San Francisco, are now staying at Clackamas, where they formerly operated a spray plant. Mrs. Butcher was here with her husband.

Valley About to Lose Thresher

On receipt of news that the Hood River valley was about to lose its only threshing machine, a movement has been started among business men and ranchers to purchase the harvesting outfit of Timothy Newell, Upper Valley grower. Mr. Newell, who says he has been operating his thresher the past two years at a loss because he is unable to give it personal supervision, has received an offer from outside parties. Ranchers declare that Hood River cannot afford to be without harvesting equipment to care for the grain crops raised in the section. It will be an economy, it is said, to purchase the local equipment, instead of importing a thresher.

Spray Controls Sawfly

Logan and raspberry growers whose plants suffered injury to foliage by the raspberry sawfly should spray with arsenate of lead. The solution used by the entomologists of the O. A. C. Experiment Station is 1 1/2 pounds arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water. It is applied with an angle nozzle to the under side of the leaf. The insect causing the damage is a light green, spiny caterpillar. It feeds on the under side of the leaves, causing a serious ragging, in some cases the complete loss of the leaves.

Nursery Law Is In Effect

In accordance with a law, adopted by the Oregon legislature last winter and effective May 25, nurserymen, their agents or solicitors must secure a license from the state board of horticulture before operating in the state. The law further requires that all nurserymen operating in the state furnish bond of $1,000 to insure guarantee of reliability of stock. The law carries a penalty of $50 fine or 30 days in jail.
