PERSONAL SHOPPING

Personal shopping has advantages over ordering from the home. Some think only of the trouble, but they have a change of mind after they try personal shopping on account of the savings. It's enjoyable, brightens up the week like those big red apples brighten up the sideboard—gives the table a touch which the home shopper misses.

HOOD RIVER GARAGE

Why you need auto insurance—

As long as the roads are crowded with drivers who persist in cutting in, regardless of ordinary considerations of safety, just so long will the careful driver need complete automobile insurance.

Eventually, "the-man-who-is-always-in-a-hurry-to-get-there" will find that such driving does not pay, but the lesson is usually a costly one to others.

OREGON WINS VICE PRESIDENT AND WIFE

The Columbia River Highway won the hearts of Vice President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who, with a party of prominent Portland folk motored to the Columbia Gorge hotel Monday, where they were honor guests at a luncheon. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge declared that the day's motor jaunt would last long in their memory. Heavy clouds and rain flurries were encountered by the party until they passed Cascade Locks. They were greeted with sunshine on entering the Hood River valley. The luncheon table was set in the big Gorge hotel dining room overlooking the river, where the crest of white caps rolling before the west wind were lighted by the sun. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge sat at the head of the table beneath a huge American flag. At the table with Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge and their sons were: Judge and Mrs. Wallace McCamant, Tom McCamant, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ladd, Judge W. B. Gilbert, Edgar B. Piper, Judge Charles E. Woolverton, John E. Wheeler, Ernest W. Hardy, Judge and Mrs. Bean and Mrs. W. E. Borah.

E. O. Blanchar and Leslie Butler motored out to greet the vice presidential party. Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge, their sons and Mr. and Mrs. Stearns arrived in Portland Sunday. The vice president and family were guests while there of Judge McCamant's family. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns visited Mr. Ladd. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns and Mr. Ladd were classmates at Amherst College.

MRS. BLASHFIELD ENTERTAINS CLUB

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Evans, in the East Barrett district, Mrs. Harriet Blashfield last Friday night entertained the members of the Business and Professional Women's club at a country dinner. It was guest night, and many of the members were accompanied by friends. The local club, which joined with Portland in an invitation for the national convention in 1923, has begun tentative plans for participation in the entertainment of delegates to the Portland meeting. The local club is now arranging to go to The Dalles at an early date to visit the sister club of that city.

Although it was not decided until the Chattanooga convention of this year, the Portland and Hood River delegates began a campaign for the 1923 convention at Columbus, O., last year. Miss Minnie L. Monner, local delegate to the Ohio city, carried among other local products several boxes of preserved Clark Seedling strawberries, prepared by the Hood River Cannery Co. and dipped in fondant by a Portland candy manufacturing concern. Sales Manager Acheson says that a large number of orders for the specially prepared berries have been received as a result of the distributions made at the Columbus Business and Professional Women's convention.

FIRE BLIGHT APPEARS IN NEW SECTION

(Ferris M. Green)

Fire blight has been discovered in the section known as Odell Heights. This is a new infection and all growers in that vicinity and in Duke's valley must give their orchards a careful inspection so as to catch any of the disease which may be present.

It must be remembered that burning of the affected parts is important. The prunings must not be thrown into the brush and left.

That this disease will become a serious factor in the valley unless checked, can be seen when it is considered that a considerable portion of the acreage is set out to Spitzenburg trees and that these are more susceptible than the pears under Hood River conditions. However, this disease can be checked by the cooperation of all growers whose orchards are affected.

Growers who discover this disease can aid and add to the efficiency of this office by notifying the inspector of the same.

All those who have quince trees on their property are again warned to inspect them for blight.

SHOTWELL COMPANY RUSHES SURFACING

The Shotwell Construction Co., according to fishermen who have been on the headwaters of the East Fork of Hood river, paralleled by the new grade for about six miles, is making good progress on surfacing the Mount Hood Loop Highway in the Oregon National Forest with crushed rock. The company has a battery of motor trucks and three graders which have been set up in the remote mountain highlands. A mile of the road has been surfaced.

The men have hauled in three carloads of equipment. The road graders are employed and a big roller is used in smoothing the rock after it is spread.

New Snow on Mountains

For the first time in six weeks mid-Columbia folk were able Sunday to exhibit Mount Hood and Mount Adams unobscured by smoke haze or clouds. The peaks were radiant with new snow. Except for horizon cloud banks, that added to the beauty of mountain landscape, the day was brilliantly sunny, and a drop in temperature gave the air a touch prophetic of fall. With the rain-soaked roads newly scraped, valley motoring conditions were perfect for the many visitors who were here.

Two Tons of School Books Arrive

The Book and Art Store, which has the county contract for school books, is now making preparation for the opening of school the coming term. The store Saturday received two tons of books and supplies. Most of the valley schools will begin on August 8. The schools of the city, however, will not begin the term until September 5.

Orchard Truck Falls Far

Last week when a steel wheeled Hardie orchard truck at the Bennett Brothers store was being raised on an elevator to the second story, it rolled off near the top floor and crashed through the floor of the first story to the basement. The wagon was only slightly injured in the fall.

CRATER LAKE AND CAVES ARE PRAISED

Crater Lake and the Oregon Caves of Josephine county draw unstinted praise from two local motor parties just back from a tour in these districts.

"Crater Lake," declares E. O. Blanchar, who with Mrs. Blanchar visited the lake and the caves the past week, "is becoming more popular every day, and the great caves are developing to the point where they are becoming just as widely advertised as an attraction for the motorist. We found that 5,000 people have already been to the caves this season. The roads are good for the most part, and they are gradually going to be made better. It forms an ideal jaunt to the Oregon vacationist who wants to see the wonders of his own state."

The other party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Scott and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Pierson and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cady and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bartol. Mr. Bartol, brother-in-law of Mr. Scott, was formerly manager of the Chicago branch of the Ford Motor Co. He recently joined Carroll Mansfield in the purchase of the Hood River Ford agency.

"We journeyed down through Bend and central Oregon," said Mr. Bartol. "We had some of the most wonderful fishing it has ever been my experience to participate in. We all caught the limit at Crater Lake and at other favorite haunts of the big beauties."

SHIPPERS FEAR A SHORTAGE OF CARS

Apple shippers express the fear that a serious car shortage may develop at harvest time. Even though the railway strike may be settled before apples are ready to move officials of shipping concerns say they anticipate a serious shortage of refrigerator cars this season. They state that all agricultural and horticultural crops are characterized by bumper yields, and the refrigerator car supply is declared very inadequate to meet the situation.

If the rail strike continues to develop, it is said, the supply of box cars will become short. Already, apple men say, the shortage of box cars is preventing the movement of box shooks from mills to orchard districts, and growers may suffer because of a box famine this fall.

Club Has Forest Maps

The Highway Information Bureau of the Oregon Nature Lovers' Club has just received from the U. S. Forest Service a 1922 map of the Columbia National Forest in Washington. This map, which is 18 by 22 inches in size, includes the Mt. Adams, Mt. St. Helens and Wind river regions. It also takes in much of the surrounding territory, including portions of the Rainier National Forest to the north, of the Yakima Indian Reservation to the east, of the Oregon National Forest and the Columbia River Highway to the south, and toward the west it extends past the Cowlitz river and the Pacific Highway. The reverse of the map contains some interesting information about the forest and pack trails of this forest, and some typical photographs of the scenery. The Mt. Adams region is declared to be superior to the Mt. Hood and Mt. St. Helens regions in regard to attractive camping places and beautiful alpine meadows. These maps and others like them will be distributed gratis by the Highway Information Bureau.

Rains Help Roads

Rains that prevailed generally over this section last week were of inestimable benefit to Upper Valley highways, according to J. F. Thompson, of Parkdale, who motored down Saturday on business.

The road crews have already been over the highways with scrapers and every road is 100 per cent better. The showers will stimulate traffic to the Upper Valley's mountain resorts. With the smoke now cleared away and highways in fair condition now is a fine time to visit Cloud Cap Inn or The Homestead, the latter new resort just opened by J. O. Hannum.

"The rain caught a quantity of hay down, but it will more than make up for any damage that may be caused by the benefits to the potato crop."

Hot Weather Diseases

Disorders of the bowels are extremely dangerous, particularly during the hot weather of the summer months, and in order to protect yourself and family against a sudden attack, get a bottle Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. It can be depended upon. Many have testified to its excellence.
