

NEW MANAGEMENT FOR THE N. C. & O. Ry.

Mr. Gest Retires and is Succeeded by T. F. Dunaway, an Experienced Railroad Man.

The Reno Gazette reports the arrival in the Nevada town on October 8th, of T. F. Dunaway, representing the banking firm of Moran Brothers of New York, owners of the N. C. & O. Railway. Mr. Dunaway assumed the management of the narrow gauge road last Tuesday, Oct. 16th, vice E. Gest, resigned. Mr. Gest retires from the management of this road and will devote himself to large interests of his own in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Dunaway is an old railroad manager of thirty-one years experience, though he is comparatively young in years. Until recently he has been General Superintendent of the Colorado & Southern and Vice President of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad. He brings with him vast experience as a railroad manager, and the injection of new blood into the N. C. & O. will have a tendency to bring the road into the prominence it deserves, and prove a pleasing change.

The Gazette says that Mr. Dunaway has the appearance of being business from the start. He declined to be interviewed regarding the future policy of the road, stating that as yet he knew but little of the company's affairs. However, he stated that he would be glad to give any information possible in the future that would be of public interest. The change in management of this line no doubt means the early extension of the road toward Lakeview. There is little doubt that next spring, likely, in Modoc county, will be reached and that will bring the road within eighty miles of Lakeview. Mr. Gest, good man, was always a hindrance to the development and extension of the road; he was said to be a good railroad man, but had outlived his usefulness as a manager. The Examiner hopes to see the new management in closer touch with the business men of Lake county.

Mr. Dunaway is taking hold of the company's business in a manner that will not only bring the road at once into prominence, but instead of being somewhat of a drawback to the development of the country it will be from this on a great factor in the development of the whole northern country. He is anxious to become personally acquainted with all the patrons of the road. The company will soon have a traffic manager, which has long been needed, whose duty it would be to look after the freight department, and also a passenger man to be in charge of the passenger traffic. Mr. Dunaway says he has no doubt the road will be extended further north the coming summer. A telegraphic service for the road will be inaugurated and the business of the company will be revolutionized.

Lakeview merchants will rejoice!

Lake County Good Enough.

George Bogue returned last week from Klamath county after delivering 72 head of beef cattle to the Ashland butcher. Mr. Bogue was here last Thursday, and informed The Examiner that beef is looking up in the Ashland section, and that he sold too soon, receiving 6 1/2 for steers and 5 1/2 for cows; had he waited a few weeks he should have done better. Mr. Bogue has again located in Lake county, having bought the fine alfalfa ranch of Ed. Green, near Paisley. He says Rogue River valley is a desirable place to live, but Lake county is the locality to make money. He believes fully in the success of McKinley and Roosevelt in November, and a corresponding continuation of good times for everybody. His family are still residing in Ashland, but will return here in the spring.

Our Fame Abroad.

Klamath Republican.
Lakeview is said to be rising from its ashes and becoming an elegantly built town. Among its many conspicuous features is the immense, three story, brick hotel, containing 80 rooms and equal in style and construction to the best in this part of the state. There are also eight large brick stores just completed, with a style that shows that the builders believed there was nothing too good for Lakeview. Another fine building is the Masonic, and in addition there are many other fine residences and business houses completed or nearly so. The energy and perseverance of the citizens of Lakeview in thus rebuilding, sets a good example for the citizens of other towns to follow.

Democratic Opinion.

Louis Gerber, the well-known stockman of Klamath, offers to wager 5 to 3 on the election of McKinley and Roosevelt, and will accept an offer on the Republican standard-bearers carrying the doubtful states—or states that are claimed as doubtful by the Bryanites—New York and Indiana. He has $1,000 to wager on these odds. Mr. Gerber is a Democrat, is a persistent reader and searcher after knowledge, and his opinion is worthy of consideration. He says Bryan has no possible chance of election.

Willim M. Colvig Declares for McKinley.

Former Bryan Leader Bolts the Policy That Makes Cowards of Americans.

The Oregonian.

William M. Colvig, of Jacksonville, one of the leading lawyers of Oregon, and a Democratic warhorse of the old school, has come out against Bryan. Four years ago Mr. Colvig loyally supported Bryan, and was known as one of the best campaigners the Democracy had in Oregon. But he can't stand the Bryanite doctrine of hauling down the flag, and has declared for McKinley and Roosevelt. In a letter to George A. Steel, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, offering his services for the campaign, Mr. Colvig says:

"There are a goodly number of Democrats in this (Jackson) county, who, for the sake of party, might be led considerably out of the way on purely economic questions relating to governmental affairs, but when they are required, as now, by their leaders to take a position that makes them feel like American cowards, they will not go. Some of us place our love of country, its flag, its institutions, and its destiny far above party loyalty."

Feminine Curiosity.

"Mr. Dolley, won't you let me look at your watch a little while?"
"Certainly, Miss Flypp. Do you want to consult the time?"
"No," replied the girl, as she opened it and examined its case and works. "I was curious to see if water tarnished gold, or had any effect on the watch's delicate mechanism."

"Water? What do you mean?"
"Well, Mr. Hunker told me you were in the habit of soaking your watch. What is the object of such treatment, Mr. Dolley?"—Harlem Life.

The Only Way.

Mrs. Bowers—I shall select a necktie for you when I am in town to-day, John.

Mr. Bowers—Before you select it, will you have the clerk blindfold you?

Mrs. Bowers—Blindfold me? Are you crazy?

Mr. Bowers—No! By being blindfolded there is a chance that you may strike one that I could wear!—Puck.

She Could Learn.

"But I cannot engage you as housemaid when you tell me yourself that my friend across the street discharged you for eavesdropping."

"But the temptation was so great. You see you don't know what it was I hear."

"On second thought I will employ you. Run and take off your hat."—N. Y. World.

Why He Hesitated.

"Can't you set a date for the payment of this little bill?" asked the collector.

"I could if it weren't for one thing," answered the debtor.

"What is that?"
"I want to sustain my reputation for truth and veracity."—Chicago Post.

Problem Deep.

"Strange," began the young author, whose first novel has just been published.

"What?" queried his friend.
"Statistics show that illiteracy among the masses has diminished 200 per cent. in the last 25 years, and yet my novel remains unread."—Philadelphia North American.

No Choice.

"Would you rather be born lucky or rich?"

"Well, if I were born rich I would consider myself lucky, and if I were born lucky I would get rich, so it wouldn't matter. The trouble is I am born and I am neither!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.
