Nation May Retain Coal Lands, Thanks to Pinchot and Glavis

Prior to the Ballinger expose the idea that it might be well for the Federal Government to hold fast to a portion of its coal lands did not strike the statesmen of the nation's upper House as being worthy of serious consideration says the San Francisco Bulletin, but now words come from Washington that the "recent startling testimony" of an official of the Guggenheim-Morgan Alaskan syndicate has "resulted in a movement in the Senate in the interest of the permanent retention of the title to the Alaska coal deposits by the United States."

Senator Beveridge, an insurgent, starts the ball rolling in the right direction with two bills, one providing for the withdrawal of all the coal deposits of Alaska from all forms of entry, and the other providing for limited leases. The latter bill prohibits the leasing of more than 2000 acres to one person or association, puts up the bars against syndicating, and limits the life of the longer lease to thirty years.

Such legislation would be of almost inestimable benefit to the Pacific Coast States, which have the advantage of distance over the Eastern States, but it would prove a great boon to the country as a whole, Senator Beveridge estimates the total coal tonnage of Alaska at fifteen billions, which sure means something in these days when the Guggenbergs are boosting prices because of a "shortage of supply." Of course, it is too much to expect that the Beveridge bills will not be amended, but the new movement in the Senate is so strong that the people are sure to get something. And for what they get the people will have to thank not the Senators or Congressmen, who reluctantly yield to public sentiment, but to Gifford Pinchot and L. R. Glavis, the men who blocked the Alaska "grab."

Canadians Purpose Public Utilities Shall be Retained by the People

As an instance of conditions prevailing up there the government of Manitoba, in Canada, has formulated a plan for government ownership of grain elevators for storage and shipment and will appeal to the people upon the issue. The new province of Alberta, further west, is establishing pork-packing plants under the government control. In both cases action was taken at the request of farmers' associations claiming trust operations in the activities entered. Both provinces have new government telephone systems and government creameries.

But in this alleged "Home of the Free and Land of the Brave" we allow all such things to go into the hands of men who thereby rob us of our very means of sustenance!

Under existing conditions if Canada would annex us it would be a good thing, for then the people and the government would rule, and the trusts would go "where the woodbine twined!"

Oregon will be given another congressman, and possibly two, it is believed after the coming census is taken. According to the basis of representation expected to be fixed by the new census, one congressman will be allowed for every 221,000 of population. The basis at present is one representative for every 132,182 of population. It is expected the coming census will show a population for the state of close to 800,000. This would give three congressmen and if the hopes of some are realized and the state is found to have 1,000,000, then four congressmen will be allowed.

of the Americans in obtaining the contracts caused considerable surprise in Europe. But there are more surprises in store for the foreign experts. "There is no doubt about it. But, just the same, in securing these contracts the American people wonder how it is this nation can successfully compete with the world in building warships and yet there is a constant howl for a ship subsidy to build up a merchant marine! Mr. Tatt should explain this matter to the wondering tax-payers."

Senator Cummings well and truly says: "We who have followed the progressive banner are not a horde of wild-eyed, tumultuous anarchists who have precipitated ourselves into the calm and quiet of a staid old community but are simply fighting a battle which has been in progress since the world began. In the victories which our civilization recalls with gratitude and pride in the whole course of two thousand years are the victories of the progressives over the stand-patters."

Combination of Brick and Concrete With Sand to Distribute Pressure. With contract work about to begin on millions of dollars' worth of new roads in New York state there is naturally much curiosity as to whether or not any new ideas in construction will be tried. The state engineer's recent report indicates that the ordinary macadam does not last well under the impact and friction of automobile traffic, which is rapidly increasing and roads well suited for the demands of a decade ago fall to give satisfaction proportionate with their cost under modern conditions.

A Kansas City paper says: "G. P. Morgan now controls one-ninth of the total wealth of the U. S. A. Can you figure out what that means? We mean it means hellapoppin when the progressives get strong enough to take it all away from him and return it to the people or public treasury where it belongs!"

It is improbable that the ideal form of construction has been discovered, although the building methods are very numerous. A Brooklyn inventor claims to have embodied scientific ideas in a form of road for which he has been granted patents and for which he makes strong claims. It has a surface of pavements which is joined with cement and supported by large blocks of concrete. The road is run several feet above the ground, according to the inventor, in the vicinity of the idea.

They do things differently up in Canada, as to the trusts and public utilities and no wonder, on account of the trust rule in this country, that thousands of Americans are looking up there to that country of real freedom.

The holes are filled with "strong mud" and between the bricks on top and the supporting blocks is put an inch layer of sand. This road, it is said, cannot be broken down. The sand exerts pressure upon the surface against the sides of the holes instead of vertically. Drawing moisture from the ground, it will present a springy, elastic base, for which a life of many years is anticipated. The new road has many other advantages—in theory, at least. It is probable that an offer will be made to give an actual illustration of its value to those interested in the construction of new state highways.

There is an impression abroad that the American shipbuilders will not be able to successfully accomplish their contract for the building of two Dreadnoughts for Argentina.

Rear Admiral Francis T. Boyles, just found this impression very wide spread in Germany, he says. "But it will be demonstrated that the Yankee can do the work," continued Rear-Admiral Boyles. "The success of the Americans in obtaining the contracts caused considerable surprise in Europe. But there are more surprises in store for the foreign experts. "There is no doubt about it. But, just the same, in securing these contracts the American people wonder how it is this nation can successfully compete with the world in building warships and yet there is a constant howl for a ship subsidy to build up a merchant marine! Mr. Tatt should explain this matter to the wondering tax-payers."

"THE CLEW" A NEW GAME.

Fun For Boys and For Those of Older Growth.

When people are indoors and have little new to occupy themselves with great fun can often be obtained from an impromptu game such as "the clew." It is played with paper and pencil, but first the players must exercise their detective skill.

A burglary has been committed; certain traces and things have been discovered. In the drawing room in the soft pile of the carpet are certain scraps of gravel. On a polished marble slab a wax candle had been fastened by a hot wax; close to it a drop showed a distinct finger print. Two curtains, velvet curtains, had large squares cut from them. A low window showed four empty flowerpots inverted and placed on the sill—that window had not been opened. In the hall was a kid glove of small size. It is not necessary to go on putting together such things for the guidance of readers.

As soon as the clews are spread out on the table—good amateur photographers will supply, to increase the interest, a few photographs—the "detectives" are given so much time to make up a story. Results are read in turn. A prize goes to the best theory. This is a game that will give an endless amount of pleasure to a party of boys.

Another simple amusement is as follows: Paper and pencil only need be provided. Some one suggests that it will be amusing to consider and write down the names of two things which, could choice be made, the players would prefer to be in their possession when cast on a desert island.

A certain amount of time is allowed for the writing on the paper. At the end of the time the papers are turned over face downward on the table. In turn each player has to read what has been written. The rest of the company have instantly formed themselves into a jury, for the prize goes to the player who makes out the best case for his or her selection.

People anxious to make the game a success will open the proceedings by a dramatic little account of the wreck and the permission given to each passenger to take two things into the boats that can be easily carried and not weigh more than a specified amount.

DO YOU TELL THE TRUTH?

Face the Fact Squarely and See if You Always Do.

Many a girl who would scorn a direct lie would be shocked to know that she comes short of perfect integrity. Learn to give full measure in all you do and say if you would not have your integrity questioned.

The girl who wastes the time of her employer may not think herself dishonest, but isn't she? There are times to play and times to work.

Each time you say, "No one will ever know," and bank upon it to do things not to be considered in the open you are wanting in integrity of conscience. Be honest with yourself and ask, "Why would I hate them to know?" It will save many an ugly break.

The girl who means to, but doesn't, is wanting in integrity of purpose. Meaning to and doing are as comparable as the head tones of Tetraxiant and a village soprano. Unfulfilled good intentions make for dishonesty of will power and tend to shiftlessness of mind.

The girl who doesn't pay her bills promptly may not think herself wanting in integrity, but if she is not altogether cheating others of their rights she is living on interest that should go to the bank account of another.

Cramming for examinations is rarely thought want of integrity yet why not? It is dishonest to ourselves and to our parents. The good report is for surface brilliancy only.

What of the flatterer and the girl who tells a good story at any cost? Is her integrity what it should be? It may breed social success, but not a character to stand probing for truth.

RAINY DAY WISDOM.

The girl who chooses the rainy day to overhaul all her belongings at once may wish she had not been so energetic if the sun fools her by coming out unexpectedly.

The girl who selects the rainy day to go in sloppy attire is a depressing sight for her family and generally gets fooled in her belief that "no one will call such a day."

Don't choose the rainy day to be so gloomy that crape on a door seems cheerful in comparison. If you must get low in your mind, when the sun shines is more opportune.

If you ever keep sweet, do so in a downpour. To scowl or fight one's in-offensive family when shut in the house by bad weather is as mean as cornering a woman to learn her age.

Instead of growling at the "beastly day" try the soothing power of keeping busy. There is nothing like a rainy day to repair the ravages of one's wardrobe or to catch up in back letters.

The girl who cultivates catlike hatred of getting wet loses a big opportunity to improve her complexion. A walk in the rain is not only an antidote for blues, but is a wonderful tonic to the skin.

Don't look out the window every five minutes for sight of the sun nor bore your family with the useless whine, "I wish it would clear." The sun never shone for wishing and clouds are not lightened by thunderclaps within.

SPECIAL

Chance for Capital

We have a solid block of seven sections, consisting of 4800 acres in SUNNY ALBERTA, that we will sell for $16 per acre, which is a special buy, on the terms of $6 per acre down, and the balance in one, two three or four years at only 6 per cent interest.

A large part of the land immediately adjoining this tract of land is under cultivation, and more will be broken up in the spring, by the settlers to whom we have sold adjoining sections.

One crop of winter wheat will pay for this land and give you a big surplus in the bank besides.

The yield is from 30 to 60 bushels, and and at 80 cents, the usual price secured, you can figure the return, less $12 per acre, a big estimate for of production.

See us or write us soon, before this opportunity is lost, as these valuable lands are being rapidly taken by enterprising Americans.

CATARRH

Positively cured and not one drop of medicine taken internally

Immediate relief and cure for sufferers of head colds, chronic sore throat, congested bronchial tubes, bronchitis, laryngitis, catarrhal deafness, Asthma and Hay fever.

Not a medicine to upset your system, but simply a tablet which when dissolved in water makes a wonderful cleansing, soothing, and healing antiseptic, which is especially adapted to the delicate membrane linings of the Nose and Throat and when used with the glass nasal douche which we supply, or as a gargle, will immediately remove the mucus by thoroughly cleansing the breathing passages of the nose and throat, consequently relieving the discharge and giving nature an opportunity to get the respiratory organs into a healthful condition. This can never be accomplished while the breathing passages are filled with poisonous discharge of the mucus membrane, and unless the breathing passages are cleaned and treated with the proper healing antiseptic a slight cold will invariably result in Catarrh, La Grippe, sore throat, Cold in head or chest and frequently results seriously.

Ormsby's Nasal Douche treatments will positively relieve immediately and will cure all diseases of the nose and throat and will give wonderful relief to sufferers of Bronchial troubles and tuberculosis of the throat and lungs.

One of the thousands of unsolicited testimonials we received:

Gentlemen: Several months ago I was very much worried about a cold I had contracted and which had settled in my head, from which position it was apparently impossible to dislodge it; after suffering greatly for ten days or two weeks a friend prevailed upon me to try Ormsby's Nasal Douche Tablets, with almost instantaneous results; in fact the results were so extremely gratifying that I decided to continue the use of the Treatments in an endeavor to cure myself of catarrh, with which I had suffered for years, and after taking the medicine according to directions for about six weeks I was entirely cured and have not been able to detect the slightest trace of the disease since that time.

I also recommended the use of the Treatments to a friend who has suffered for years from Asthma, and he has just left the office after informing me that the Tablets had actually cured him; that he had not left a trace of the old trouble for more than two months, and that that had been the longest remission he had for about twenty years.

Now, gentlemen, this is the first time in my life that I have ever recommended in any way a so called "patent medicine" and I hope that you will take it as the evidence of one who appreciates the high merit of the article that you are placing on the market as a curative agent.

Very sincerely yours,
