SHORT STORIES.

Four men out of six smoke.
R. P. Roblin, premier of Manitoba, has announced that the government will soon begin the construction of a thousand miles of telephone and telegraph lines.

The house at Litchfield, Conn., in which Judge Tappan Beeve started the first law school in this country in 1774 has been sold at auction to parties who will see that it is preserved for its historical value.

The prized possession of Postmaster E. W. Jones of Riverport, R. I., is Ted, a cat that tips the scales at nineteen and a half pounds and is able to reach a height of more than three feet when standing on his hind feet.
Joseph Doctorovits, a teacher of Hebrew and a student of old Jewish institutions, has put on exhibition in New York a complete reproduction of the temple at Jerusalem. It is fifteen feet square and includes the several courts and palaces of the priests.

Specialization.
Once upon a time not many years hence perhaps a man being seized with a sudden and violent pain hastens to a doctor for relief.
"Where is the pain?" asks the doctor.
"Right here," groans the man and lays his hand on the afflicted part.
The doctor opens his case of instruments and takes therefrom several delicate compasses and a number of finely graduated tapes. With these he proceeds to make precise and elaborate measurements, stopping at frequent intervals to set down a great many figures on a sheet of paper.
"What are you doing?" cries the man at last, for his pain is all the time increasing.
"Of course I shall make very sure, first of all, that the location of the difficulty brings it within my specialty. Do you take me for a quack? You deserve to have been here a thousand years ago!"—Fack.
