A Seed Tragedy.
This is the short, sweet, sorrowful tale of Jessica Jenkins Jones. She planted a packet of seeds with pride while her dog looked on with his head on the side. And thought, "She's burying bones."
When Jessica left, he dug like mad in search of the luscious bones. So Jessica's garden it doesn't grow, and Jessica's dog is cross, and so is Jessica Jenkins Jones.
—Doris Webb in St. Nicholas.

Woes of the Packsons.
"The Packsons are happily married, aren't they?"
"Oh, no! Why, they hadn't lived together three weeks before she discovered that he played a wretched game of bridge."
—New York Life.

As You Please.
If a person asks you, "Why are clever people so homely?" you can take it as a compliment or not, as you please.
—Judge.

Cause For Rejoicing.
When the ice trust gets its work in and the price soars out of sight. Just sit down in some shady spot and start your wheels to going right. Try to console yourself by thinking that a chance will come at last. For the coal trust cannot sting you till the heated term is past.
—Detroit Tribune.

Men's Own Voice.
"Dar is sumpin about de sound of a man's own voice," said Uncle Eben, "dat he likes. De mon' fun mos' of us gits out'n a baseball game is de chance to show dat we kin beat somebody else hollerin'."
—Washington Star.

Indisputable.
"But I was under the impression that the song, 'Are you sure she doesn't?'"
"Quite sure; I've heard her."
—Kansas City Times.

The Martyr at the Steak.
O beefsteak, there up on my plate,
For love I sigh on thee I saw!
Why is't thy fibers will not part
That I may fill my empty maw?
This world a paradise would be
If friends would hold as firm as thee.
—Apprentice's Magazine.

In a Local Option Town.
"What are the lost arts?" inquired the student.
"I don't know all of them," answered Colonel Stillwell, "but making a mint jump is one."
—Washington Star.

Obvious.
Bettie—Hello, old chap! What d'you know?
Reginald—Nothing, by Jove—shot a thing 'pon m' word!—Puck.

Darwin Reversed.
He was a man among men,
But, alas,
'Tis sad, but none the less true,
He met a woman.
A young and beautiful woman—
And she made a monkey of him.
—Chicago News.

Painfully Shy.
"Mr. Rubinjay is a very timid young man."
"Timid! I should say so. He's afraid to begin a letter 'Dear Miss Smith' because it's leap year."
—Washington Star.

Didn't Stay Light.
Ella—Bella bleached her hair, but the original color is coming back again.
Stella—Yes, it seems to be a case of the light that failed.
—New York Press.

Different Now.
As a lightning bolt strikes me
Once thought that I was in it,
But my wife now has me faded—
She makes scenes in half a minute.
—Houston Post.

Marked Down.
Mr. Harddrive—It's my opinion that the influence of bargain sales is immoral, if not positively irreligious.
Mrs. Harddrive—Why, dear, even the Bible speaks approvingly of the ninety and nine!—Puck.

Wise Precaution.
"My dear professor, why have you a hole in the front of your umbrella?"
"Because I like to know whether it is raining or not."
—Shutts.

What's in a Name?
He's light as ray summer breeze,
Two hundred pounds she'll weigh,
His given name is Hercules,
Her given name is Pay.
—Philadelphia Press.

The Wise Woman's Way.
"Does your husband ever scold when you want a new hat?"
"No; he never knows anything about it until after I get it."
—London Opinion.

First Essential.
Nau—What is the first thing you have to learn in playing golf?
Fan—The accent.
—Chicago Tribune.

The Rural Observer.
Though marriage is a lottery
An' lotteries is wicket,
That's no ole mald so good but she
Would like to git a ticket.
—Denver News Times.

Race Fruit.
She—Did you see this story, George, about the Italian woman who had her speech restored after being dumb for forty-four years?
George—Married woman?
She—I don't know. It seems that when she was a child of seven an old woman who was called a witch gave her a quince to eat, and after eating it she became dumb and remained so until just the other day.
George (thoughtfully)—I wonder if anybody had the sense to save a few of those quince seeds?
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Same Old Show.
The old fashioned circus, the barnacted circus, that's billed as the "greatest of shows."
The dust and the din and the benches that jerk us
Each time that the peanut man stands on our toes,
The clowns and the freaks and the fakirs that work us,
The pink lemonade with the lemon skin ring,
The rained peanuts, but hurrah for the circus,
The old fashioned circus that greets us each spring!
—Chicago News.

A Financier.
Judge—How many times have you been arrested before?
Prisoner—Five, sir.
Judge—Then I shall feel it my duty to impose the maximum fine—
Prisoner—But, your honor, isn't it only fair to give a reduced rate to regular customers?
—Judge.

Keep the Laddy.
Climb the ladder round by round,
But hearken, brother—stop!
Don't kick it from you when you've found
That you have reached the top.
The height is slippery. In the end
Your luck may have a slump—
Be always ready to descend
Without a stinging bump.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Man of Means.
Mrs. Stuckup—Is this Mr. Stimpurse you have engaged yourself to a man of means?
Sensible Daughter—Yes, mother. He means all he says, and that's the sort of husband I want.
—New York Weekly.

Priscilla's Chance.
"Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"
Priscilla asked of her beau,
And Aiden blushed to either ear
And said so fair: Priscilla could hear
"I thought I'd wait for you, my dear,
It's leap year, don't you know."
—Chicago News.

There's the Trouble.
Diggs—The man who can't take a little good advice has nobody to blame for his trouble but himself.
Wise—Oh, I don't know. He's usually burdened with a lot of friends who can't give it.
—Philadelphia Press.

The Way For Two.
Though love, they say, "will find the way."
There's one thing may delay it—
The lover's mind is taxed to find
The wherewithal to pay it.
—St. Louis Republic.

Outlawry.
"An outlaw ball player," she repeated in a puzzled way, "Why, I didn't suppose they'd let an outlaw play. What did he do?"
"Him? Stole a base."
—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Not as a Horse.
As the auto bumped recklessly by
My friend said, "Of course we'd deny
It is feeling its oats,
But the speeding denotes
That the chauffeur is feeling his rye."
—Pittsburg Post.

Unpardonable!
"They are not smart people, are they?"
"Oh, dear, no," answered Miss Fivelton. "He wears last year's clothes, and she uses last season's slang."
—Washington Star.

More Certain.
All things come round to those who wait,
But it's a surer way
To get up steam and pull your freight
And meet good things halfway.
—Pick-Me-Up.

Revenge is Sweet.
Nau—You said Gilbert said he could never love any other girl but you?
Han—That's what I said.
"Well, he proposed to me last night."
"But you don't call yourself a girl, I hope."
—Yonkers Statesman.

Employer's Kick.
Our employees all struggle so
For higher pay to work us
They claim they only want a show,
But what they want's a circus.
—Houston Post.

Evidently a Title to the Family.
"Do you think Dustin Star's career has been a success?"
"Not if you judge a man by his son-in-law."
—Washington Star.

Odd, but True.
Here's a case where extremes
Very closely are yoked—
When a man's dry, it seems
He's most apt to get "soaked."
—Catholic Standard and Times.
