KLAMATH FALLS, THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 6, 1908

MONEY FOR GOOD ROADS.

In addition to the benefits secured by fire protection and by regulations which control the use of timberland and range so as to insure permanent supplies for local wants, the states having national forests now receive, under the new Agricultural Appropriation Bill, 25 per cent of the gross proceeds derived from the sale of national forest resources. This amount according to law, goes to offset any losses of the states through withdrawal of forest areas from taxation, and is devoted to public roads and schools.

Several years ago complaints were made that the withdrawal of timberlands for forest purposes reduced the taxable areas of the states in which withdrawals were made. The forest service, quick to see the justice of these complaints, recommended at first that 10 per cent, and later that 25 per cent of the gross proceeds from the national forests should be paid to the states. As a result, the states are assured of school and road funds, doubtless more certainly than they otherwise could have been, since the permanence of the forest resources is now secured by conservative management. Had the forests never been established, their resources would undoubtedly have been exhausted by hasty and improvident methods of exploitation, leaving the land wasted and unproductive.

HISTORIC FLEET.

A naval squadron composed of the ships that have been of world-wide fame in three great naval wars of the United States and representing four distinct types of naval architecture, in their achievements epitomizing the entire naval history of the nation will be in Boston harbor during the whole of this week.

The ships are the historic frigate Constitution, "Old Ironsides," restored to her former appearance and permanently located at the Charlestown navy yard; Farragut's flagship, the Hartford, which led in establishing a new record for the American navy when she ran the batteries below New Orleans and at Mobile; the cruiser Chicago, the flagship of the first white squadron of the new navy; the cruiser Olympia, which was the flagship of Admiral Dewey in the battle of Manila Bay; the cruiser New York, the flagship of Admiral Sampson at Santiago, and the monitors Arkansas and Nevada, excellent types of the grim little fighters which conquered the dread Merrimac, and which are still considered capable of doing good service as coast defense ships.

BALLOONS REVOLUTIONIZE WAR

That the expenditure of millions of dollars for the reconstruction of coast defenses will be necessitated if balloon warfare is perfected, is the belief expressed by Lieut. Col. George P. Scriven, chief of the United States Signal Corps for the department of the east. While he does not believe that the flying machine has yet shown itself to be entitled to consideration, Col. Scriven said that he believes that experiments made in Europe with the dirigible balloon as well as with the lesser ones in this country show that these ships of the air will be valuable in collecting information about the enemy which heretofore has been impossible. In discussing these possibilities, Col. Scriven said he is of the opinion that balloon scouts may be enabled to get an almost complete photographic picture showing fortifications and the distribution of forces, by means of the telephoto, a new instrument with which, by the use of extra lens, it is possible to focus on objects at a distance of perhaps a mile, and secure such detail as will make the picture seem as if it had been taken at a few hundred feet.

NEW ASTRONOMICAL CLOCK.

All the movements of the earth are represented by a remarkable astronomical clock which has been placed in public view at the American Museum of Natural History. It not only shows the daily rotation of the earth upon its axis, but the motion about the sun, and also demonstrates through all the year the changes which cause the march of the seasons.

Contrary to the expectations, the speech of acceptance of W. J. Bryan will be a short one. He states that by actual count it contains 5200 words. While the issues of the campaign will be discussed, it is understood they will not be gone into at any length, his views being reserved for more elaborate treatment in the special speeches he intends to make.
