KENTUCKY WIDOWS DESERVE THE PRIZE.

(Polk County Itemizer.)

Since Uncle Bill Brown gave his famous birthday dinner to widows he is receiving daily several letters from all parts of the United States, mostly written in a jovial vein, of which the following is a sample:

"258 East Broadway, Louisville, Ky., Dec. 3, 1908.

"Dear Mr. Brown: Trusting that none of the widows carried off the prize at your recent banquet, I write to you in behalf of the Amalgamated Association of Kentucky Widows and request permission to enter its members in the matrimonial handicap. You have lost the time of your life, the very everyday existence, by not knowing our home brand of widows, widows by death and by decrees, some having their loss by insurance, some by alimony. They were bred in old Kentucky and are more mellow and intoxicating than its whisky. They can set a swifter pace than its horses, and are sweeter than its mint beds, though not so green.

"The blue grass widow has inherited all the good and gracious gifts of nature, her satin skin excels the shining skin of the racer, you can light your cigar at her eyes and warm your hands at her heart, the roses pasture on her cheek, her lips are redder and sweeter than a slice of Georgia watermelon, while her hair is like light and dark Burley, her form displays more curves than a champion baseball pitcher. As our old friend Solomon would say, she is altogether lovely, not too good for the bad nor too bad for the good. Killing our citizens in the close season has thinned out our eligible bachelors and widowers, by deducting them from the census, and when the other widows and I read an account of your birthday feast in the paper and found that you were so rich you possibly just worked for spite, we determined to woo and win you. Don't tell us we will have to wait a year for the next spread; make it a quarterly affair, and I am certain that when our committee waits upon the railroad people and demands a special rate for our trip to Oregon, the officials will railroad us through at once. We will travel in a private car adorned with postcards advertising any Dalles stores that may have contracts with us, and you can depend upon it, your name, the simple name of Brown, will go stampeding down the halls of fame.

"You will find us a chop suey of beauty, brains and wit, widows who can cook, widows who can look, widows who never got the hook, widows who bring to book, little widows and big ones, dashing bold widows and those as shy as a ham sandwich in Jerusalem. The men of Dalles will be so frustrated by our arrival that they will chase around like an old hen with ducks. We are all bottled in bond and have our names in the herd book; we are skittish, but can be taught to stand without hitching and eat out of your hand. It is patent to us that you have a big heart and enough of the milk of human kindness in your nature to make several pounds of butter.

"We are willing to take our chances against the widows of Oregon and wish to be the honeysuckle to your oak. We expect to hold four aces in this game of hearts, and leave others to hold an inquest. Let us know at once if you will give another supper and invite. Remember, time is flying and leap year will soon be gone. Now is your chance to meet these simon-pure products of the dark and bloody ground and get some experience of the widow's mite. Boggling that you will not trifle with us, but let us hear from you soon, I remain, expectantly,

"ELVIRA MILLER,

Secretary of the Amalgamated Order of Kentucky Widows."
