Settled.

An old woman, on being examined before a magistrate as to her place of settlement, was asked what reason she had for supposing her husband had a legal settlement in that town.

The old lady said: "He was born and married there and they buried him there, and if that isn't settling there what is?"—Pala Selphia Inquirer.

The Armenians.

Armenia is a country of strong contrasts, of opposite extremes of heat and cold, light and shade, drought and moisture, and contains many mysteries awaiting solution. The ethnologist is still in doubt as to what branch of the great European family the Armenian people belong to. The philologist has not yet classified their language. The antiquarian knows next to nothing of their early history.

Crabbed Carlyle.

There is a story of Carlyle in his old age having taken the following farewell in his broadest Scotch of a young friend who had had him in charge for weeks and who, while almost always adapting himself to Carlyle's mood, had on a single occasion ventured to disagree with him: "I would have you to know, young man, that you have the capacity of being the greatest bore in Christendom."

A Woman Executioner.

In prerogative days there was a woman public executioner in Virginia. At that time death sentences were executed on condition that a criminal should perform this office. Lady Duffly, as she was afterward called, was sentenced to death for murder. She offered instead to become public executioner and held this office for many years. It is said that on the scaffold she officiated without a mark.

Her Own Work.

"Your husband," said Gaddie, "appears to be a man of great self-control."

"Yes," replied Mrs. Peckham, "he is." "I suppose," Gaddie went on, "he inherited that quality from his father, the judge?"

"No," she replied significantly, "it's a virtue he has acquired since his marriage."

The Value of Politeness.

Hollow trees are always the stiffest, but the mightiest oak is found, can bend. The more exalted a man is by station the more powerful should he be by kindness. There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. Politeness is most useful to inspire confidence in the timid and incur the deserving. — London Strand Magazine.
